Consider the Future and the Past

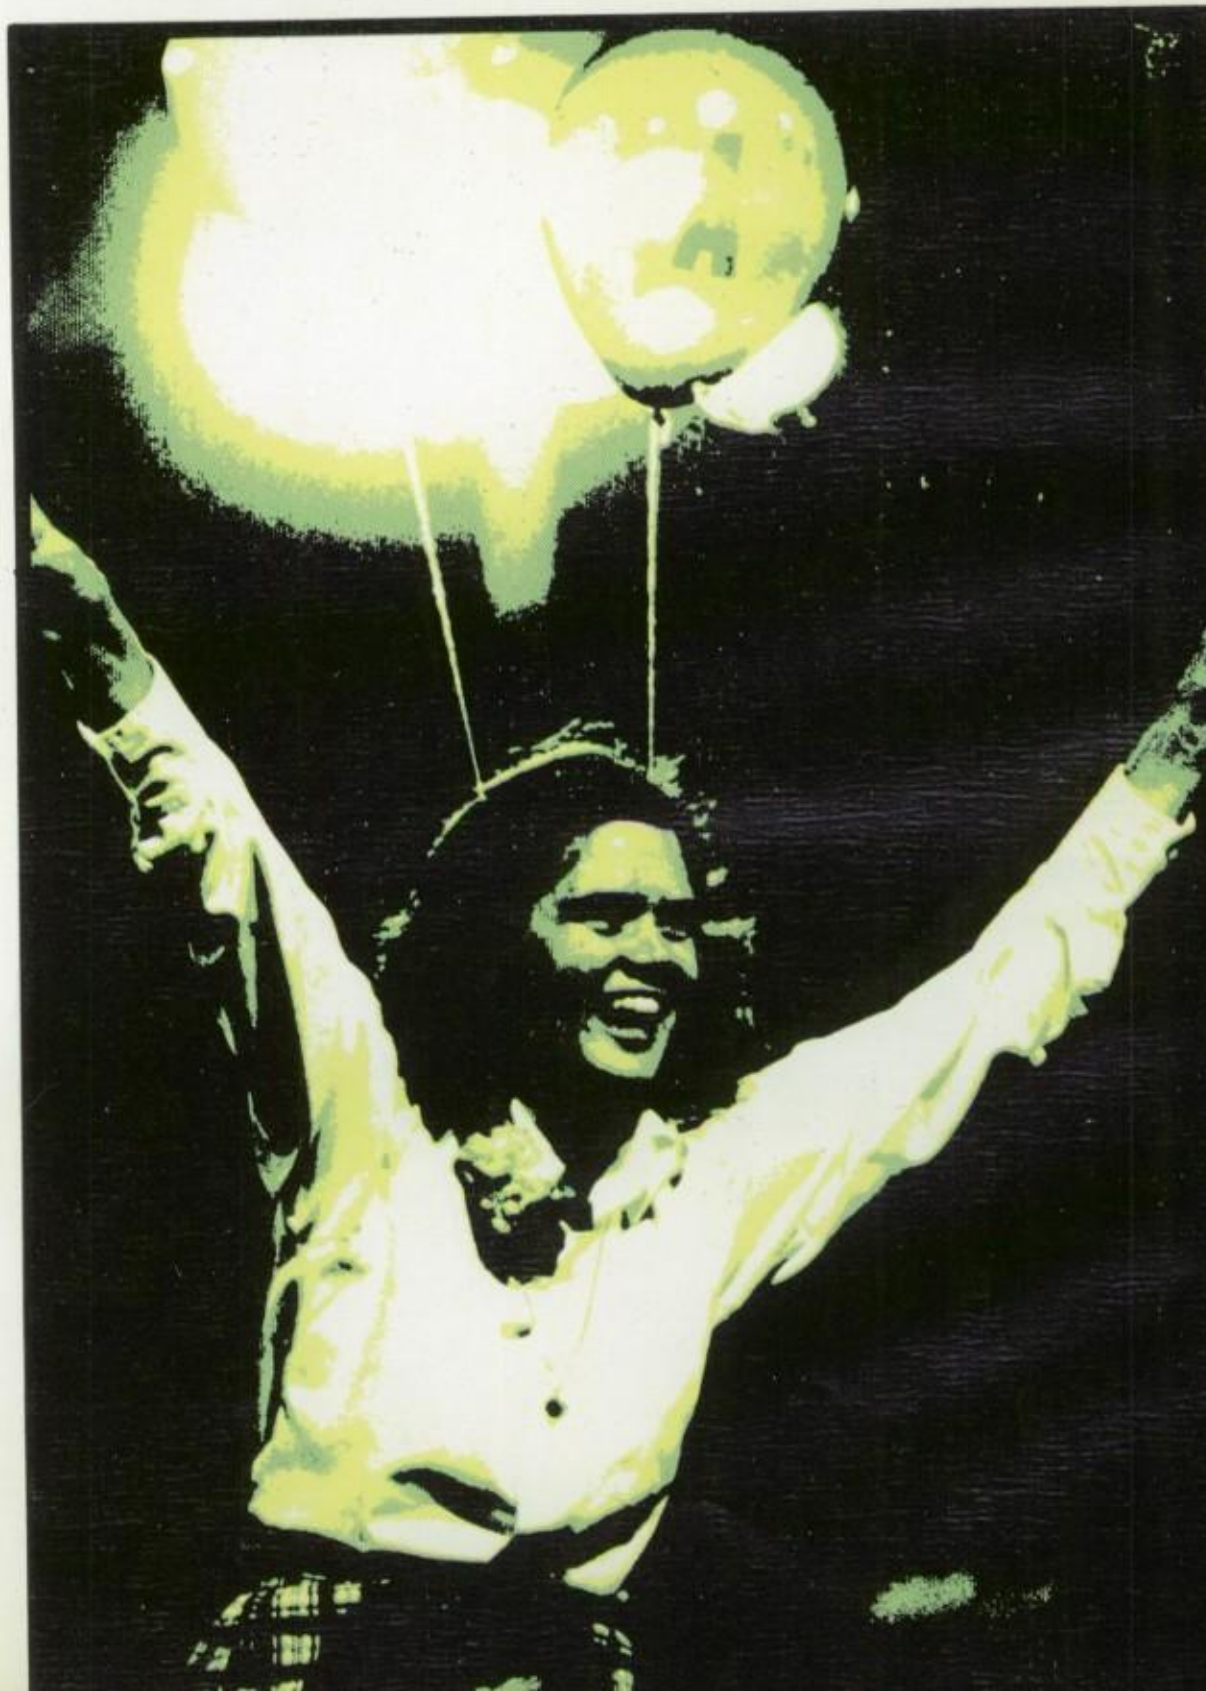

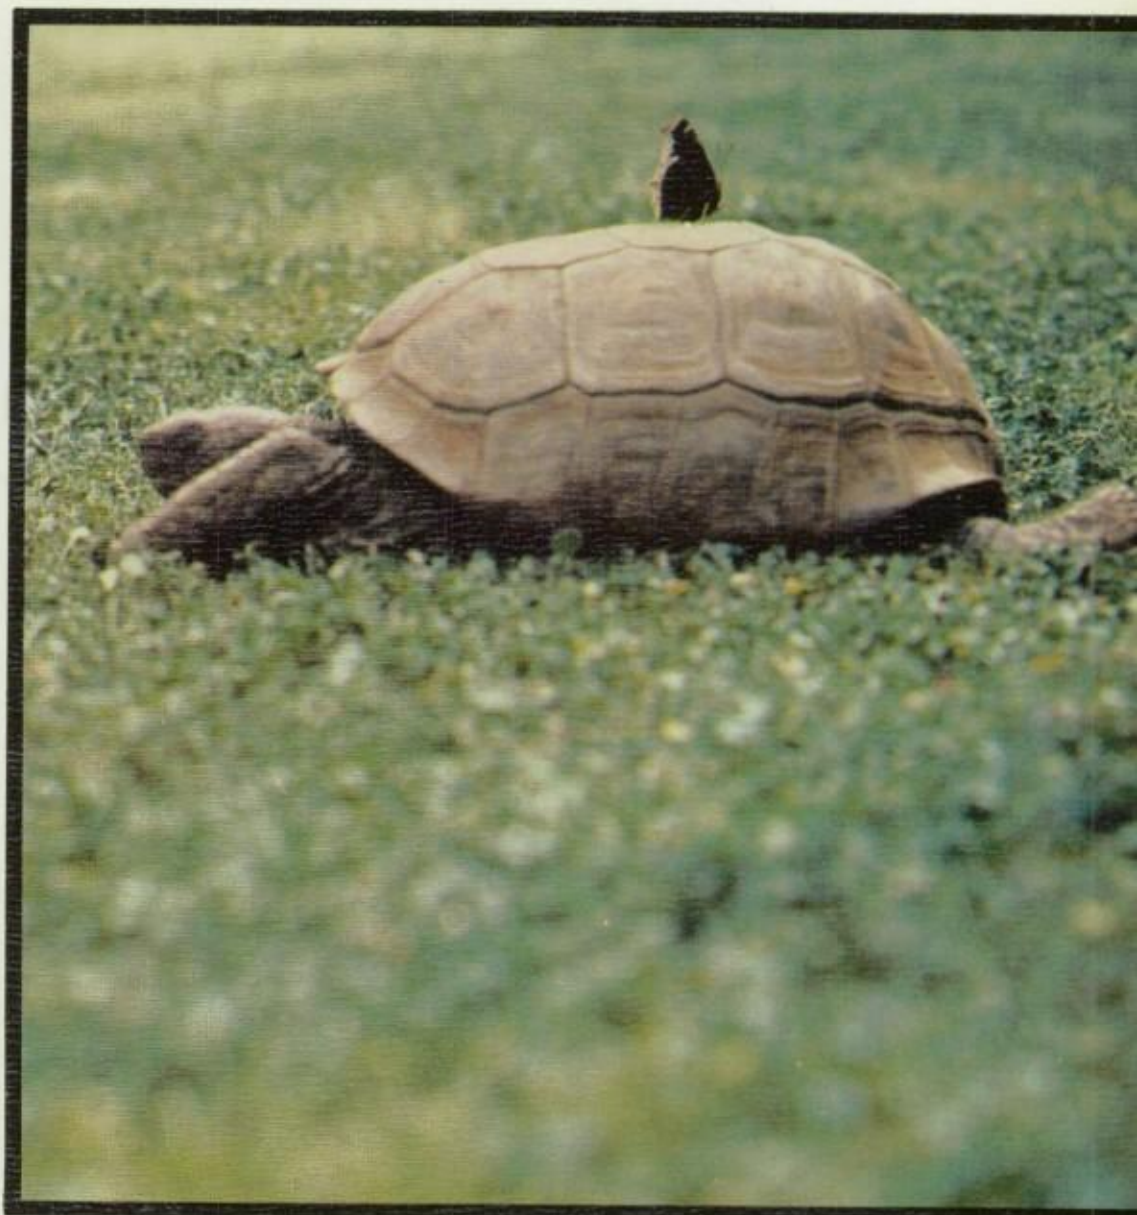

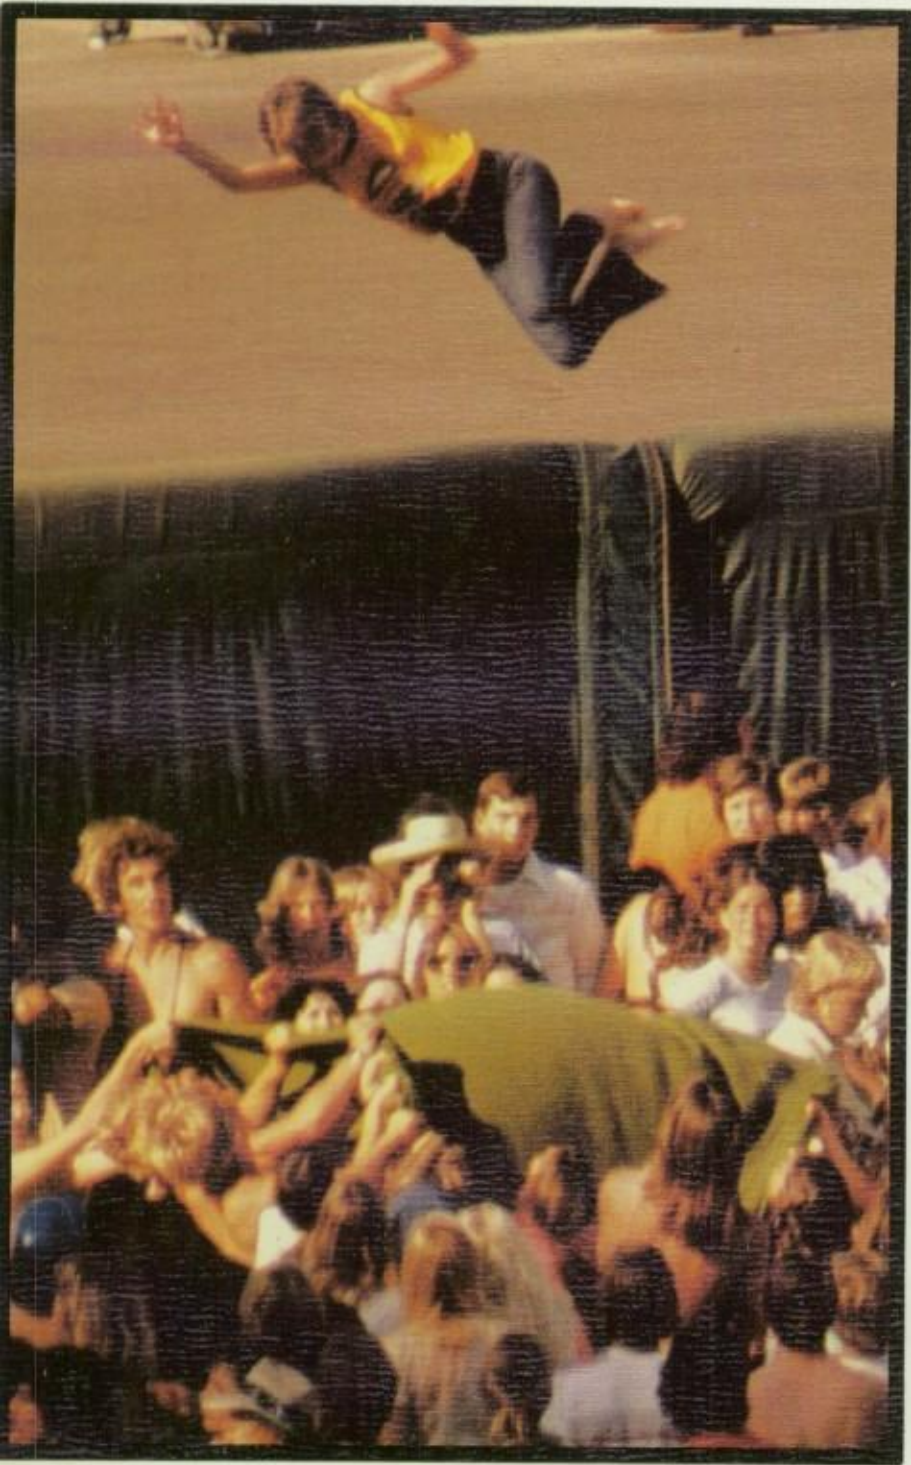

Compare the Future and the Past,
And see that the past, despite all it has given us, despite all the foundations laid down in it, is but a memory which we cannot live in, nor can we alter, we can only . . .

remember the past

The future, however, belongs to us and us alone. We need only climb out of our shells, and it will be ours, to do with what we wish . . .

celebrate the future

With its promise of friends to meet, places to see, different things to feel and be; the certainty that for all of us there are a wealth of experiences of which we have never dreamed.

Too, the future is an uncharted place,
veiled and incomprehensible, with much about it that we cannot even begin to guess at.

savor the mystery and complexity

for each choice,

there is a different future

INNERVISIONS

Who are we

We're just two people who want only to be free
Free of sorrow, free of hate
And most of all, able to communicate

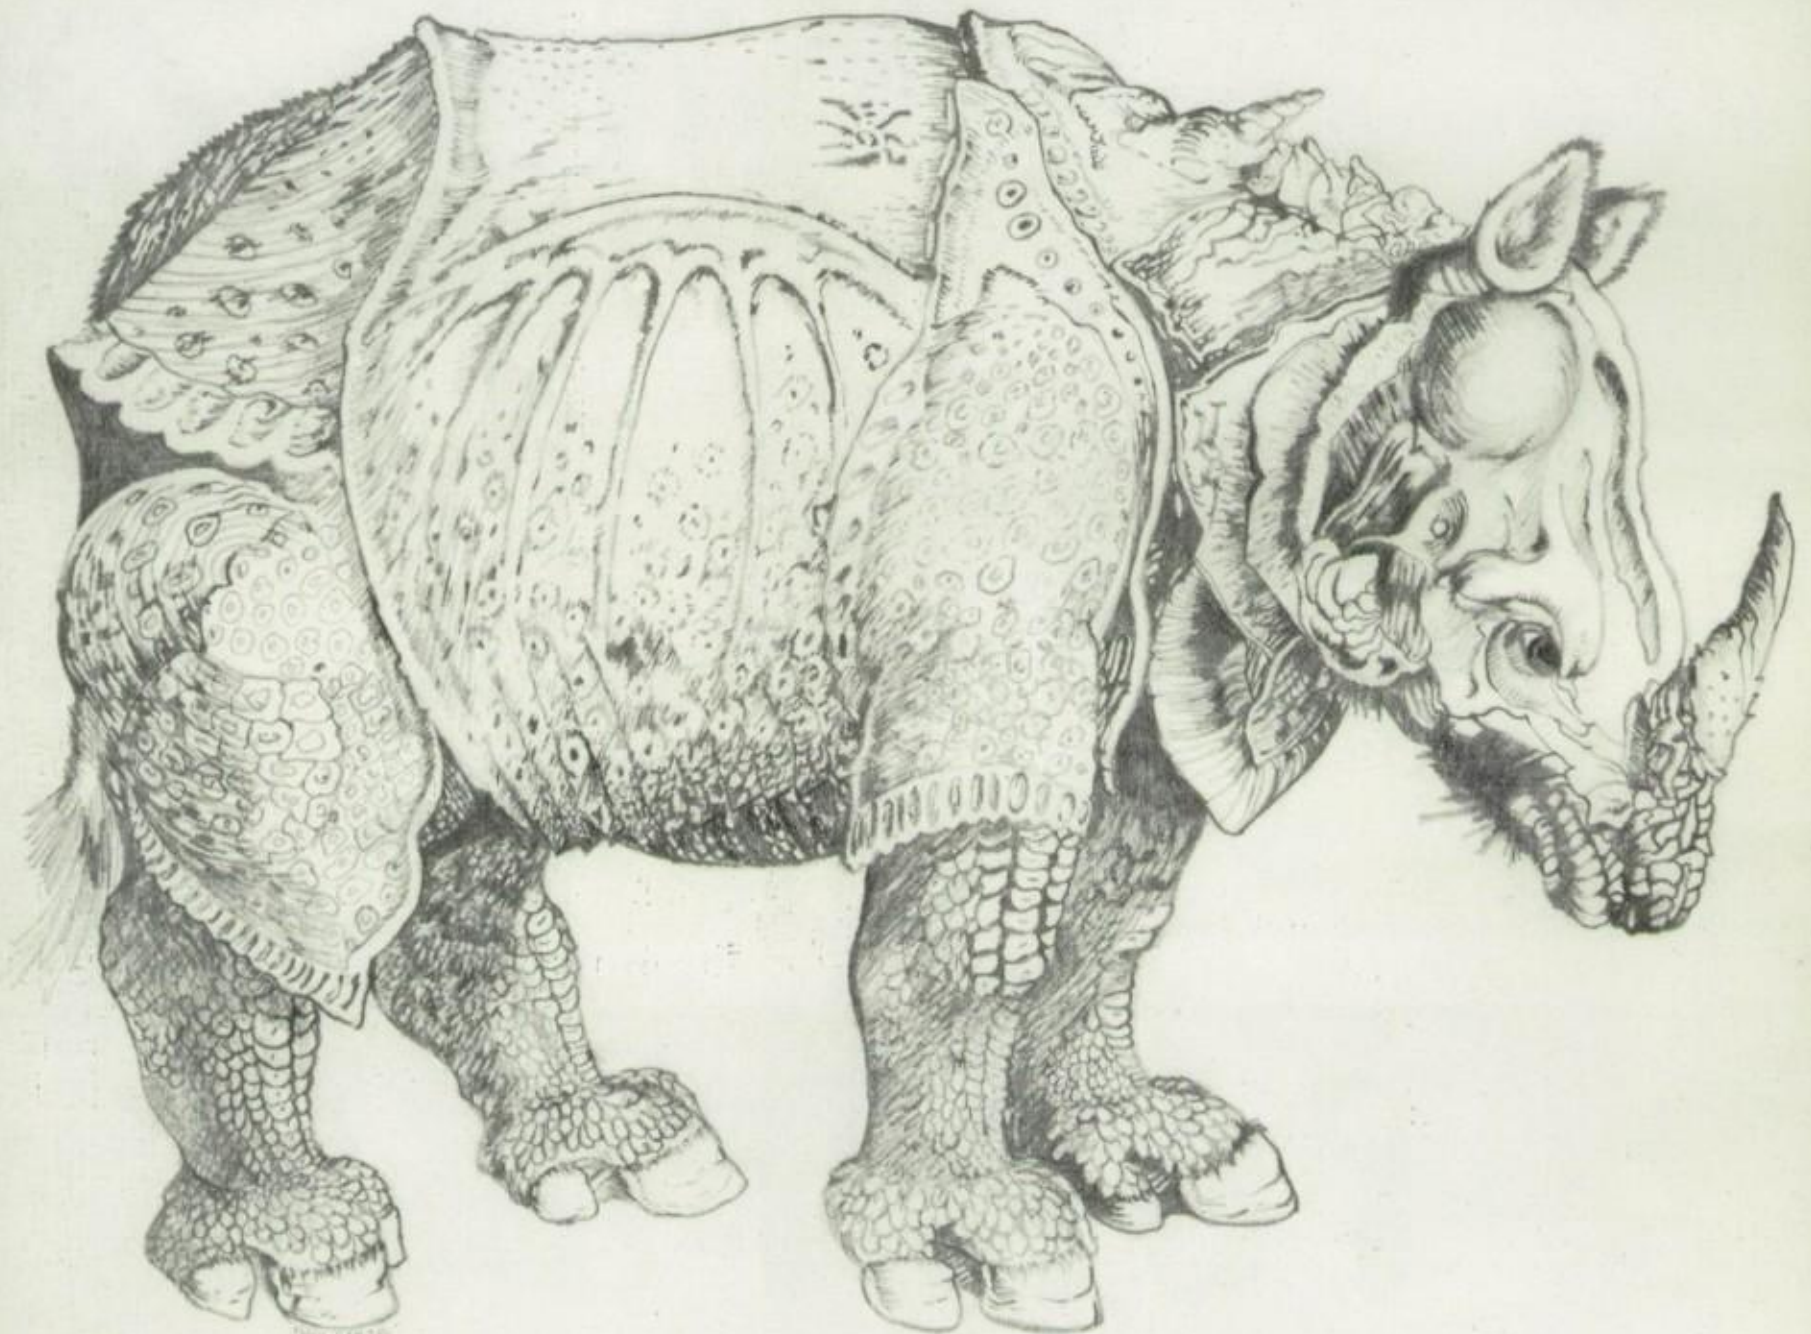

Where are we

We're in a world where you are you — and I am me
To be ourselves, naturally

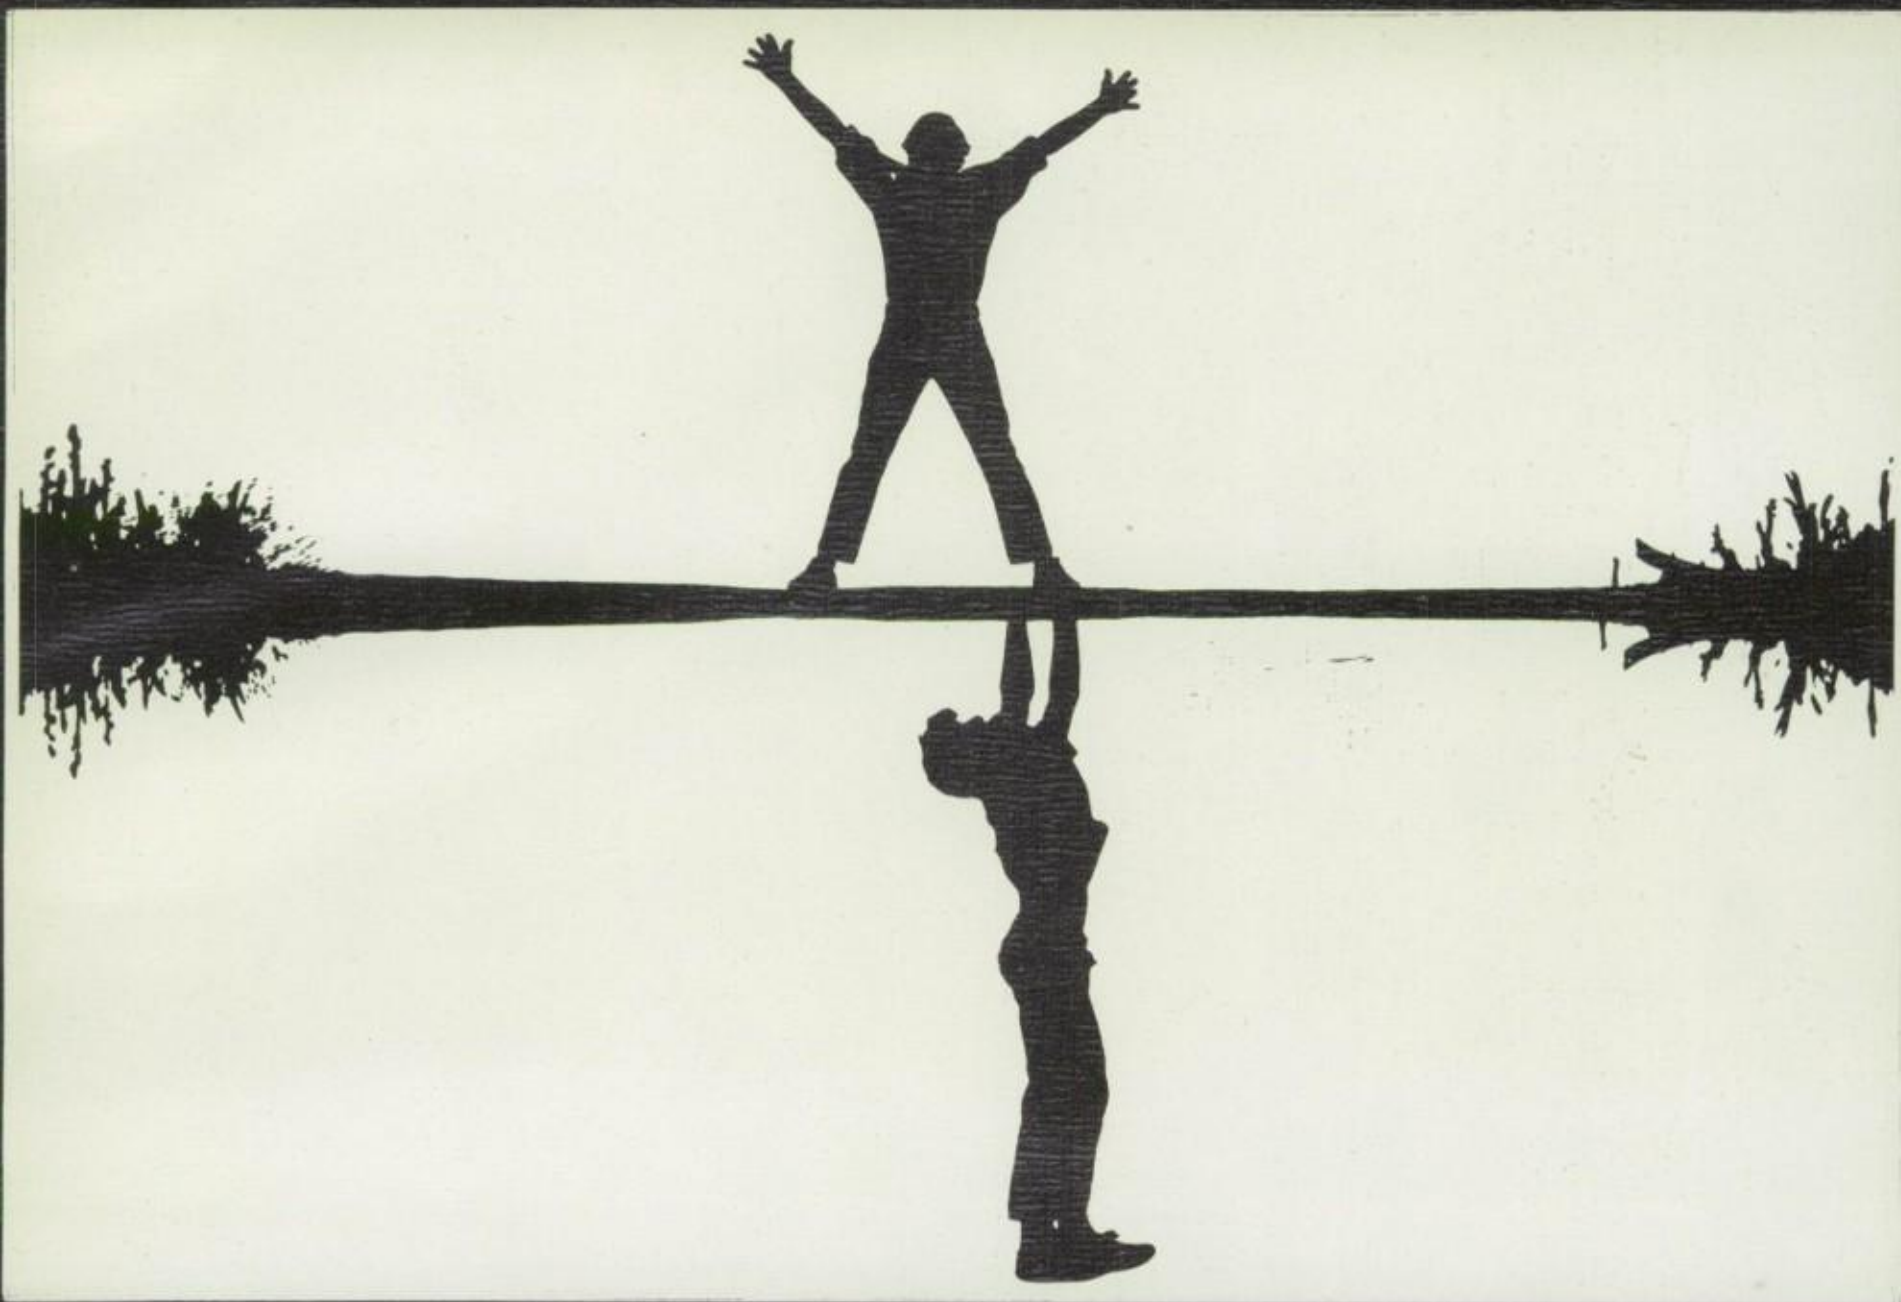

What do you want

We want only what we've got
Each other . . .

Her arms spread wide, her mind clear
 She gathers many friends.
 She kindly welcomes all
 As a daisy welcomes the sunshine.

She clears the hearts of all and
 To no one she turns away.
 Her personality flashes with color
 Brighter than a mid-spring's rainbow.

Three Years. For some, it has been too long. Others feel it has been a lot of fun, but everyone agrees it has been an experience. Our sophomore year differed in many ways from junior high, but it was a beginning, a chance to meet people and grow as individuals. Who can't remember looking at seniors and wishing to have their nonchalant attitude? How we chilled at the thought of sophomore day. We were "squirrels," the babies of the family. For some sophomores their class rings marked the first time they felt themselves a part of the school. We waited for the chance to get involved and to contribute to our school.

At the beginning of our junior year we watched in amazement as the President of the United States resigned. For most of us it was a year to study hard for the required classes we hadn't wanted to take earlier, but also a time of fun. By then a good part of the juniors had their licenses and some had their own cars. It was also the junior class' responsibility to put on the Junior-Senior Prom.

Our senior year. In time we began to find ourselves losing interest, direction, and ideals. We started to think of independence, new faces, and challenges which would shape our tomorrows. But all the time, we knew our fondest memories would be of Graduation Night '76. From that day, we were "out" in the world, beginning to live our lives. By then, we couldn't turn back — but we didn't want to, either.

Time

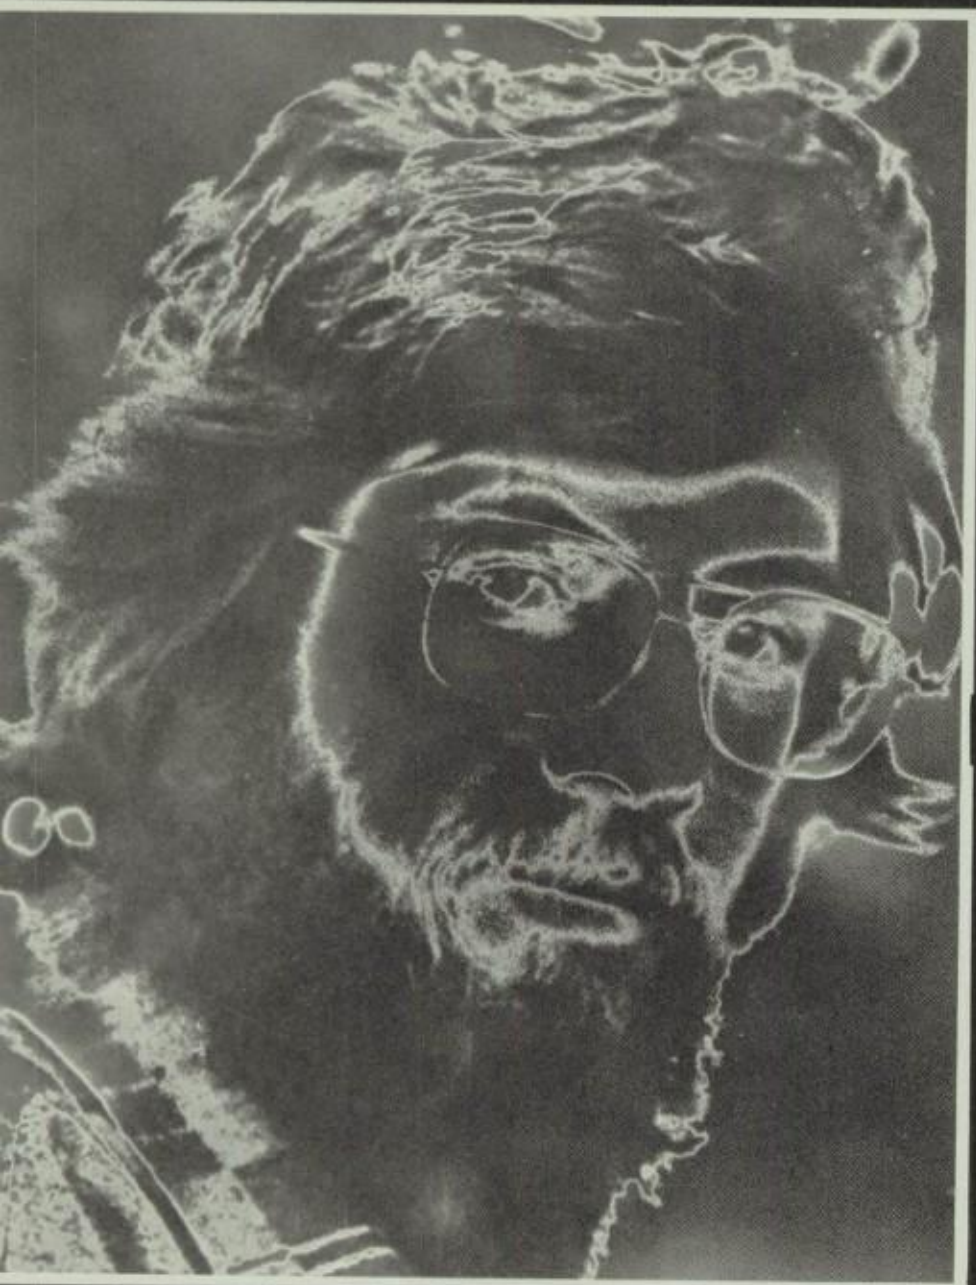

They go so slow
 As if they didn't know
 Their time is almost up
 Yet still they wander on
 Not a care under the sun
 Their time is almost gone
 They've all gone to war Against all,
 even their own folk lore
 Their time is going fast
 They have (everyone) either killed or been killed
 They've said it was all in good will
 They thought that time
 was theirs
 They knew not of love,
 Nor of the peace dove
 Not even that time is past
 When will they learn,
 What is it they yearn?

That they cannot know
 time is gone

I doubt if they care
 They kill and then stare
 Their time is going fast
 Love is very rare
 And do you think it's fair?

Time is saying goodbye
 They are all blind
 Those are gone, who were kind
 And time is going with them
 They laugh and drink wine
 With heart, soul and mind
 Oh how time goes by
 They watch the eagle soar
 They laugh, and laugh and roar
 Time is flying by
 They will soon be gone
 The harm has been done
 Time is running now
 They go, they are gone
 They've died, because of guns
 Time has laid its revenge
 They hope for above
 Time has had its chance.

Patterns

I once had a friend
who was quiet and thoughtful and above all helpful.

I once had a friend
who was vivacious,
outgoing, thought-
less and selfish.

I was once a friend
caring, sensitive to everyone, and above
all full of love.

I was once a friend
funloving, friendly,
effervescent, and . . .
too busy for others.

Lynda Brown

That Thing We Call Life

I looked across the vast blue sea
at the waves dipping and churning, just thinking how lucky I was to be free,
and of all that I was learning,
I thought of all the things I had and the luxuries I possessed.
I don't know the difference between good and bad,
'cause I have had nothing
but the best.

But now I'm older
and a little bit wiser,
and the world seems so much colder
because I'm on my own.

The world is really still the same,
It hasn't changed a bit.
It's the people who have really changed
they never seem to quit.
They just go on to play their game and never stop to think about the people close to them
They don't have the time to blink.

They try to keep a step ahead
but end up two behind.
It's really true what I've just said.
Look closer and you will find that all it takes is a little kindness, love and understanding to clear up everybody's blindness of what goes on today.

And once you've done this,
you will see how easy living is.
A little more kindness and
lot more love,
'cause that's what the good life
is really made of.

Underneath The Surface

Deep — very deep in the midst of throngs, and scores of friends, amidst the chatter and laughter of favorite friends, buried within — lies . . . a streak of loneliness

The Cool Wet Touch Of Nature

Rain comes and goes
And with each falling drop
There is an aura of beauty.

So still and so lovely
Earth is covered by a transparent wet blanket
Disappearing and returning over again.

For miles around the sky welcomes all as
It opens up and spills out its beautiful emotions
So clear and so cold yet so simple.

Reflection

Surrounded by the beauty of nature,
I sit on a rock over looking a lake,
The lake is as still as the silence of night,
Shining on the lake,
A setting of the mountain scence
reappears,
The jagged peaks of the mountains above,
Mossy green trees from the meadows close,
by,
Just part of the beauty of nature.

Sue Fordham

Autumn

Floating leaves of yellow and gold
Brightly glowing with the suns radiant warmth, Browns, yellows, greens and gold making the landscape warm and bold.
As the sun sets, color flow
from yellow to red and into the blues.
Then stars peek out into the night;
A new set of colors, with pastel hues
Come out to color the whole night through.

The Senior Class Council confirmed

The spirit of '76

as they worked to provide an exciting and rewarding year for their fellow classmen. As elected representatives, the officers planned and sponsored a nostalgic fifties day and fifth quarter. The Senior Assembly, Senior Luncheon, Class Gift, Graduation Ceremony, and the All-Night Grad Party were a main concern in the Council's various meetings. President Jeff Russell was very ambitious as he presided over a variety of committees and a variety of activities. He was¹ assisted by Mike Hull, Vice President; Tony Garzio,² Senator; Marilyn Greco, Treasurer; Patty Nash, Historian; Mary Ann Gunderson, Recording Secretary; Paula Kathman, Corresponding Secretary; Steve Bishop and Linda Hoffman, Youth Commissioners; and Mr. Fred Nahra, Advisor.

"Out to Lunch"

was a popular expression among those seniors who took advantage of the two-year-old Open Lunch Program. The process of leaving the campus somewhat resembled an obstacle course. The most difficult hurdle to overcome was that of scrounging for an off-campus permit, flashing this card to the proctor, and then rushing to the car before any questions could be asked. With little more than thirty-five minutes allowed for open lunch, it was not surprising that the fast food outlets such as Bob's Beef Burger, King Arthur's and McDonald's became favorites. Some seniors enjoyed the option of going home for lunch. The Open Lunch Program was jeopardized by the administration's belief that the problem of campus littering could be solved by eliminating the program. The Open Lunch Program survived due to a concerted effort by concerned students to clean-up the campus. Seniors considered open lunch not only a good way to break up the day, but a privilege and a responsibility as well.

Jira Brown and Jody Allen made eyes at the more mature Seniors.

Our Senior Year was a time to gather all the memories we could of our years spent at Arcadia High. Our friends were especially important to us as we realized that soon we would be going our separate ways. We took what time we had and used it however we wanted, while the chance was still there. We worried less about what others would think and concentrated instead on the things and people we enjoyed most. We knew that we would never again have the opportunity to do all sorts of these

crazy things

For seniors it was acceptable to do crazy, funny things, and we were called rowdies instead of squirrels. For we weren't being squirrels, we were just trying to experience all we could before we left here - because the memories of these experiences would be all we would have when our high school days were over.

Huber and friend Pam had a good time at the many Campus meetings.

1976 was an exciting and memorable year for seniors — especially for those who turned eighteen before they graduated. While the nation celebrated it's independence, these students celebrated their own freedom. Turning eighteen allowed them to take advantage of new privileges, as well as share in new responsibilities.

The right to vote — a freedom and responsibility in itself was the major addition to the students' rights. For most seniors the '76 presidential election marked the first time they had seriously evaluated the different candidates and the different platforms. Most satisfying of all, eighteen year olds could write their own absence slips and sign their own name. But overall becoming eighteen marked the beginning of adulthood.

ed out in goggles and an apron, Brent Daves is ready for st anything.

When it finally came, the long awaited senior year proved to be an especially busy time for College bound seniors. They were faced with the difficult task of deciding what colleges they wanted to attend, and the more difficult task of gaining admittance. Many students were unhappy to find that they spent more time studying than sleeping

Many seniors thought the three hours spent on their S.A.T., A.C.T., and other examinations were the worst hours of their lives. It was easy to go into the tests thinking one was fairly intelligent and on top of the subject. Unfortunately, it was even easier to leave with the firm belief that one was a complete imbecile. The worry and effort were well worth it, however, for the tests were essential in gaining acceptance to the colleges and universities.

Daniel and Eric Albertsen shared an occasional treat in their years at High.

The big moment has finally come — Graduation. It's hard to believe it's here already. I knew it would come soon, but am I ready for it? Where do I go from here? I'm so used to the high school routine, it's activities, and the security of the friends I know so well. Now we will be going in different directions. All through high school I have been saying "I can't wait to get out!" Now, I'm not sure I'm ready to be on my own. Before, I always followed the rest of the rowdies. I could always find someone at a game, a party, or Bob's. Things are going to be different now. I am going to have to make my own decisions — The time has come to grow up.

Senior Awards

In the fall many Seniors applied or were nominated for the various scholarships and awards that were offered by

sponsors. Some of these scholarships and awards were awarded on the basis of accomplishments, while others were given as the result of a special interview or test. Because of their outstanding test scores on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, Andre Burke, Roger Conover, Scott Mittman, Christopher Noble, and Penny Philips were named as finalists in the competition for scholarships. Scott Mittman deserved a special note of merit as he was named as a National Merit Finalist, a Bank of America Plaque winner for science and math, and a Gemco nominee. Scott also received special recognition for his outstanding accomplishments in the U.C.L.A. High School Special Program where he earned grades higher than those of most college student.

With the help of local organizations, a selected group of Seniors were given awards and scholarships for their scholastic achievements and involvement in school and community activities. Linda Mohr was named in early March as the recipient of the Arcadia Junior Women's Club Teaching Scholarship. The winner of the California Savings and Loan Association's Outstanding Student of the Year Scholarship was Lydia Kennedy. Many additional scholarships and awards were announced in the spring, however, the names of the winners were not available at the time of publication.

Bank of America Certificate Winners: Nancy Andrews, Music; Matt Mew, Art; Lydia Kennedy, Foreign guage.

Bank of America Plaque Winners: Penny Phillips, Liberal Arts; Scott Mittman, Science and Math; Margot Stumpf, Fine Arts.

Bank of America Plaque Winner: Pat Sharkey, Vocational Arts.

Soroptimist Youth Citizen Award: Cathy Lomasney.

Gold Seal Graduates

Once again the increased number of Gold Seal Graduates reflected the many academic accomplishments of the Senior class. These students worked conscientiously to maintain the high grade point averages that were required to attain this prestigious

honor. Due to their achievements each student was ranked in the top ten percent of the class and received the Gold Seal of the California Scholarship Federation attached to their diploma in June.

Junior Class

This year's class officers tried to become

money makers

by starting something new, a swap meet. The purpose of the endeavour was to raise money for the Junior-Senior Prom, and to refill the Junior Class coffers. Other activities were the annual Donkey Basketball Game, and a Western Day and Fifth Quarter where students dressed according to the theme.

Through crystal morning air a backdrop of blue and grey San Gabriel mountains — a setting beyond any set designer's talents — sits in panoramic view of the Arcadia campus. As these mountains crown the valley spread before them and overlook the life unfolding there, our high school was the setting against which three meaningful years of our lives were played.

The mountains were not just a setting, serenely aloof from our school years. They enriched leisure days for many A.H.S. students; we discovered hiking, fishing, backpacking, skiing, and an enjoyment of their unique and natural beauty which would always stay with us.

We hoped that the school would be the set where our narrow slice of knowledge would increase and where the limited boundaries of our potentials, our dreams, and ourselves would expand — ever to push outward, stretching our minds.

Was it just last September when you solved the AHS maze for the first time and found your locker? The gum on your shoe, the notebook jarring the floor in first period as it disgorged all your papers, the hamburger you found both indescribable and indestructible, and four straight classes without one familiar face — were all these the happy memories of an unsure sophomore only nine months ago?

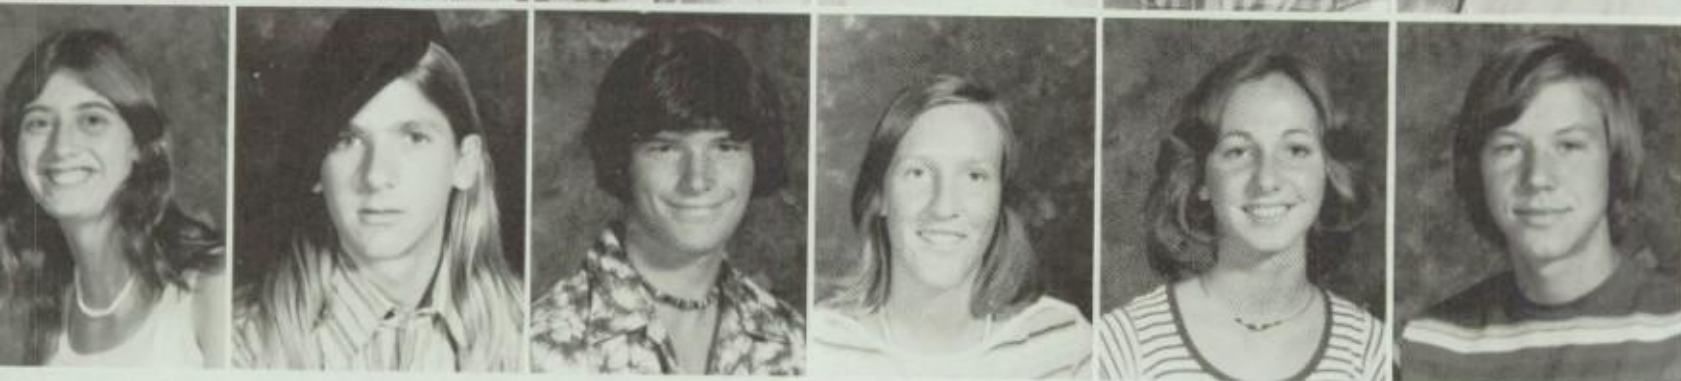

Somehow a kaleidoscope of days, alarm clocks, teachers, fifth quarters, pizza, school-work, cruising, meeting different people and football. Fridays color your life and makes it difficult to look backward clearly at that sophomore you once were.

Perhaps the greatest gain is in seeing a friend now where you first saw only a stranger's face and in a knowing that if you have come this far, you will cope with tomorrow when it comes.

1. Julie Tyler held up her end of a heated discussion.
2. Kim Brannon was a master at doing the bump.

At times the halls were filled with bobby sox and grease and bats, goblins, movie stars and "locals"! The dress-up days left a more relaxed atmosphere to the campus and helped to reduce some of the pressures of the day. The purpose of the days were to also add some variety to the structured schedule of the school. Those who became involved were grateful for the break in routine. There was a stupendous turnout for Local Day, with people wearing mirror shades, cocoanut oil and very beachy attire. Levis and hobby horses filled the rally court during the Western Day rally. Lunchtime rallies promoted each theme. The song girls went batty over Halloween Ghouls Day, and dressed up in bat costumes. For Hollywood Day the cheerleaders arrived in a chauffeured limosine. The dress up days added a lot to the school year — giving a rare chance to exercise their imaginations and creativity.

Sophomore Class

The Sophomore Class' reputation of being squirrely

was enhanced when the class officers boogied in the hall showcases, for their initiation into the offices they were elected to.

In an effort to change that reputation the leaders put together their ideas and a lot of hard work to produce a stronger and active Sophomore Class.

1. Some of the Sophomore officers did what they always did during snack.

2. Sophomore Class Officers - Jill Williams, Debbie McKenna, Sandy Delahooke, Tracy Pfau, Jim Nevin, Annette Miller, Matt O'Donnell, Young Jin Yoon, Becky Armstrong.

In Junior High, registration was so easy, we didn't have to worry about periods, phase levels, rooms, or teachers. We just listed our first and second choices for electives — remember electives? And that was it.

It wasn't quite so easy last September. First came the packet with bales of paper forms and worksheets. There was a useful little handbook too. It was a very pretty yellow — but it was for the year before. The fact that there wasn't an index didn't make it easy, either. One way or another, most of us figured out what we would be taking. The selection was bewildering — the only thing we had to take was English. Even then, the period and teacher was up to us. It looked like we could take whatever we wanted to, and we pretty well could — in theory.

After a few minutes in the gym, we didn't quite get first pick — in fact, the best we could hope for was 1800th pick. After the Juniors and Seniors had finished registering, there were more than a few closed classes. A few poor souls were privileged to find that not one, but all six of their choices were closed. Only slightly less fortunate were those who got five of their first choices — and for the sixth, they were faced with a choice between Composition 3 and Intermediate Flagpole Sitting.

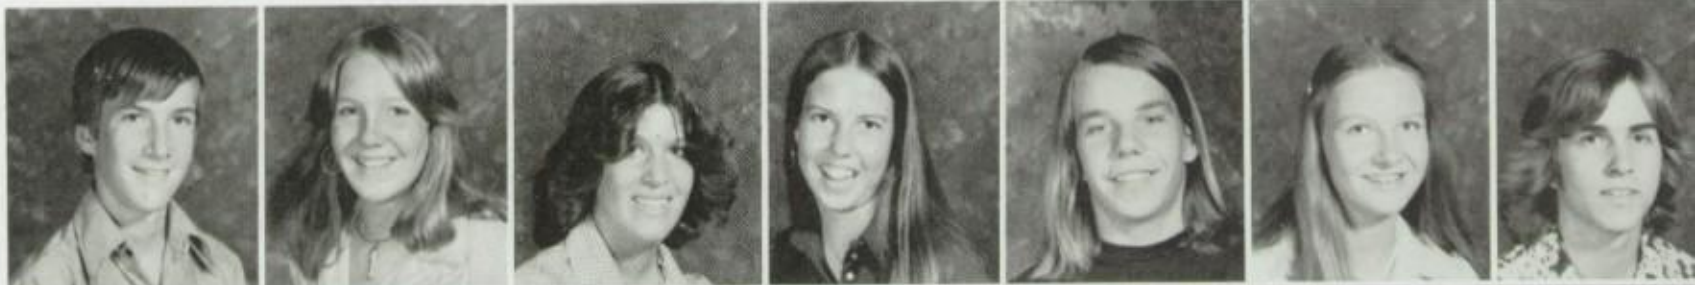

Many of us gave up and went to ask our counselor what to do. In fact, so many of us gave up that we had yet another choice. We could stand in line while the few remaining classes closed, or we could find someone who was less confused than we were and ask them for help. Or . . .

Somehow we made it through registration and left the gym feeling we at least knew where we'd be until June. It wasn't a bad feeling.

That first week wasn't so bad, either. We even got a current handbook — with an index.

Many of us started our sophomore year with feelings of apprehension. Back in junior high, most of us weren't too interested in what happened at the high school — it seemed light years away. However, by June, 1975, we had begun to pay more and more attention to the rumors about A.H.S. — especially the stories about "Sophomore Day." In fact, it was hard not to miss these tales — whether we wanted to or not. No matter what we asked high school students about, we were treated to a recital of our source's favorite horror story about the time 40 husky seniors beat him into jelly under the flagpole, or about his friend Johnny, who was stuffed into his own locker for a weekend.

It was not too surprising that sophomores tended to be nervous during the first few weeks. Not only did we have to adjust to a new school, but we also had to be on the watch for "Them," because we never knew when "they" would strike. After a while, though, we exchanged our pensive frowns for embarrassed smiles. It was hard not to smile when we found out that yesterday, or the day before, had been "Sophomore Day" — and we never knew it.

activities

First weeks

School opened and the outrageous

heat dragged on making school almost unbearable. Crowded halls were particularly noticeable this year as a result of the largest sophomore class ever. Enrollment went up alarmingly. The custodians cruised down the halls in their new orange cart which became a part of the campus atmosphere. There was great interest and participation in club day as clubs fought to attract potential members.

- 4
 1. John VanDebrooke finally made it to the front of the lunch line after waiting ages during those first few weeks.
 2. Pat McLellan wondered what club to join next.
 3. Club day was quite a shock for Pat McLellan.
 4. Wendy Killeen and Cindy Dole wouldn't dare let tourists on campus during "Local Day."
 5. Lisa Martinez and Mary Jane Oder volunteered a helping hand at the White Cane Drive.

1. Several rowdy seniors applauded the assembly on Homecoming Day.
2. The 1975-76 Pep Commission provided signs that were both entertaining and accurate.
3. Sheri Dorner predicted the score of an up coming game as she parodied Apache Joe.
4. Flaggirl Kathi Smith portrayed cheerleader Patty Tiffany at a Pep Rally.
5. Chris Linnin, Mike McLellan, Dennis Alfieri, Steve Nuss, and Dave Anderson danced up a storm at the Locals Day assembly.
6. Seniors were by far the most enthusiastic participants in assembly cheering.

Pep Assemblies / Rallies

Pep assemblies and rallies attempted to shake the doldrums

from the routine school day and also to give support to various school activities. Unfortunately these attempts were rarely successful. The rallies had little variety and failed to get any response from the majority of students. The resignations of a varsity cheerleader and Apache Joe definitely had a negative effect on the student body as students began to re-evaluate the importance of the Pep Squad.

Their most worthwhile contributions were the assemblies which were relatively effective in leading the students to back the athletic teams. Assembly themes included Local Day and Fifties Day. On these days students dressed accordingly and spirit rose along with interest.

1. The Key Club put Jim Ingels to work flocking a tree.
2. Peggy Coyle helped Girls' League deliver carnations.
3. Dennis Alfieri "Ain't Gettin' Nuttin for Christmas."
4. "Drill team mascot" Dodie Davis was exhausted after her performance in the Spaghetti Dinner.
5. Bob Morley delighted an assembly audience with his musical talents.
6. Steve Reinhardt and past graduate spent many hours raising money for the Key Club.
7. Dave Anderson made a perfect Santa.

Assemblies / fund raisers

Numerous clubs improved their financial status by holding fund raising events. The Baseball Bunnies and Baseball team members payed for the construction of a dugout; through the sale of McMoney, which could be exchanged for food at the local McDonald's. The Kiowas and senior men put on a car wash and donated the proceeds to the El Monte Hope House. The monies went to pay for a 'Walker', a device which was used to teach the handicapped to walk. The Girls' League Carnation sale gave secret admirers

the chance to come out of the closet by having a carnation delivered to their home room in time for Valentine's Day.

Students were entertained this year by many humorous and exciting assemblies. Assembly Commissioner, Malisa Masanovich said of her efforts, "I wanted to please the students." She was highly successful, treating her audiences to events which varied from a Multi Media Presentation (Desperados) to a Road Show given by Cal Poly. The Christmas Talent / Show, and Ski Assemblies were also well received.

Senior jesters

The Senior Jester's first production of the season was the comedy 'Harvey'. The play dealt with the problems of Elwood P. Dowd who believed he had a six foot tall invisible rabbit

named Harvey for a friend. The play proved to be a financial success, as was 'Another Part of the Forest,' the jester's second production of the year. The drama was about a southern family after the Civil War, and how the children of a wealthy tyrant struggled for their father's money.

1. Nick Uricchio gave a talented performance in "Another Part of the Forest."
2. Mary Johnson appeared as Heidi Lee's companion.
3. Karen Mangana attempted to persuade Paul Ryan to marry her as Tim Martinez looked on.
4. Talented jesters Gayle Peterson and Sara Killins discussed Elwood's friend Harvey.
5. Paul Ryan and Cindy Whitaker performed flawlessly in "Harvey."
6. The doctors who supervised Elwood conferred with each other regularly.

4

1. Sherri Riggins and Tammy Salamone argued about a lost dime.
2. Tammy Dalley, Stephanie Harris, and Kim Herron displayed varying degrees of interest in one man's fall from a hill.
3. Tom Rochetto provided accompaniment for skits and singers in the Road Show.
4. Jim Spencer, Larry Riggins, Mike Mayer, Nick Urrichio, Hugh Callahan, Stephanie Gladhart, Tim Martinez, and Sara Killens performed a syncopated justice about the identity of a lost girl.
5. Heidi Post received a surprise shower from Kim Evans as Mitch Proctor looked on.
6. Bridgette Kempt was sickened by Sheri Lober's description of a car accident.
7. Debbie Nicholson danced to the tune "Bicycle Built for Joy."

Junior jesters / road show

The Junior Jesters performed with polish

in their one-acts during December and March. The plays ranged from a tragic to a melodramatic form and were most entertaining. Jean Sarkisian deserved a commendation for her direction of the road show. The road show, which was a traveling talent troupe, performed for all types of audiences and was comprised of musicians, magicians, dramatic sketches, and dancers.

Prom

The Junior-Senior Prom for 1976 was held at the Los Angeles Hilton Hotel; a night that will be remembered. The Junior class worked hard to put together such a special night. A 5th quarter and The Donkey Basketball game were primary fund raisers for the Prom. Dinner, the music of Ray Awtan and his orchestra, along with the band were enjoyed by all the guests. Excitement was expressed by Charlene Milich as she was announced Prom Queen!

mariachi

1. Charlene Milich was elected Queen of the 1976 Prom Court.

2. The lovely Prom Royalty were Queen Charlene Milich, Mindy Armstrong, Kathy Duffy, Malisa Masanovich, and Gretchen Linger.

3. Prom Royalty took a slide when they found out they won the election.

4. All his ballet lessons proved worthwhile for Kirk Murphy when he participated in the hypnotist show.

5. George Sharp practiced his mind reading on Don Huber.

6. Junior class officers Suzanne Potter, Robin Nease, and Jane Penne made prom plans with Mr. Anderson.

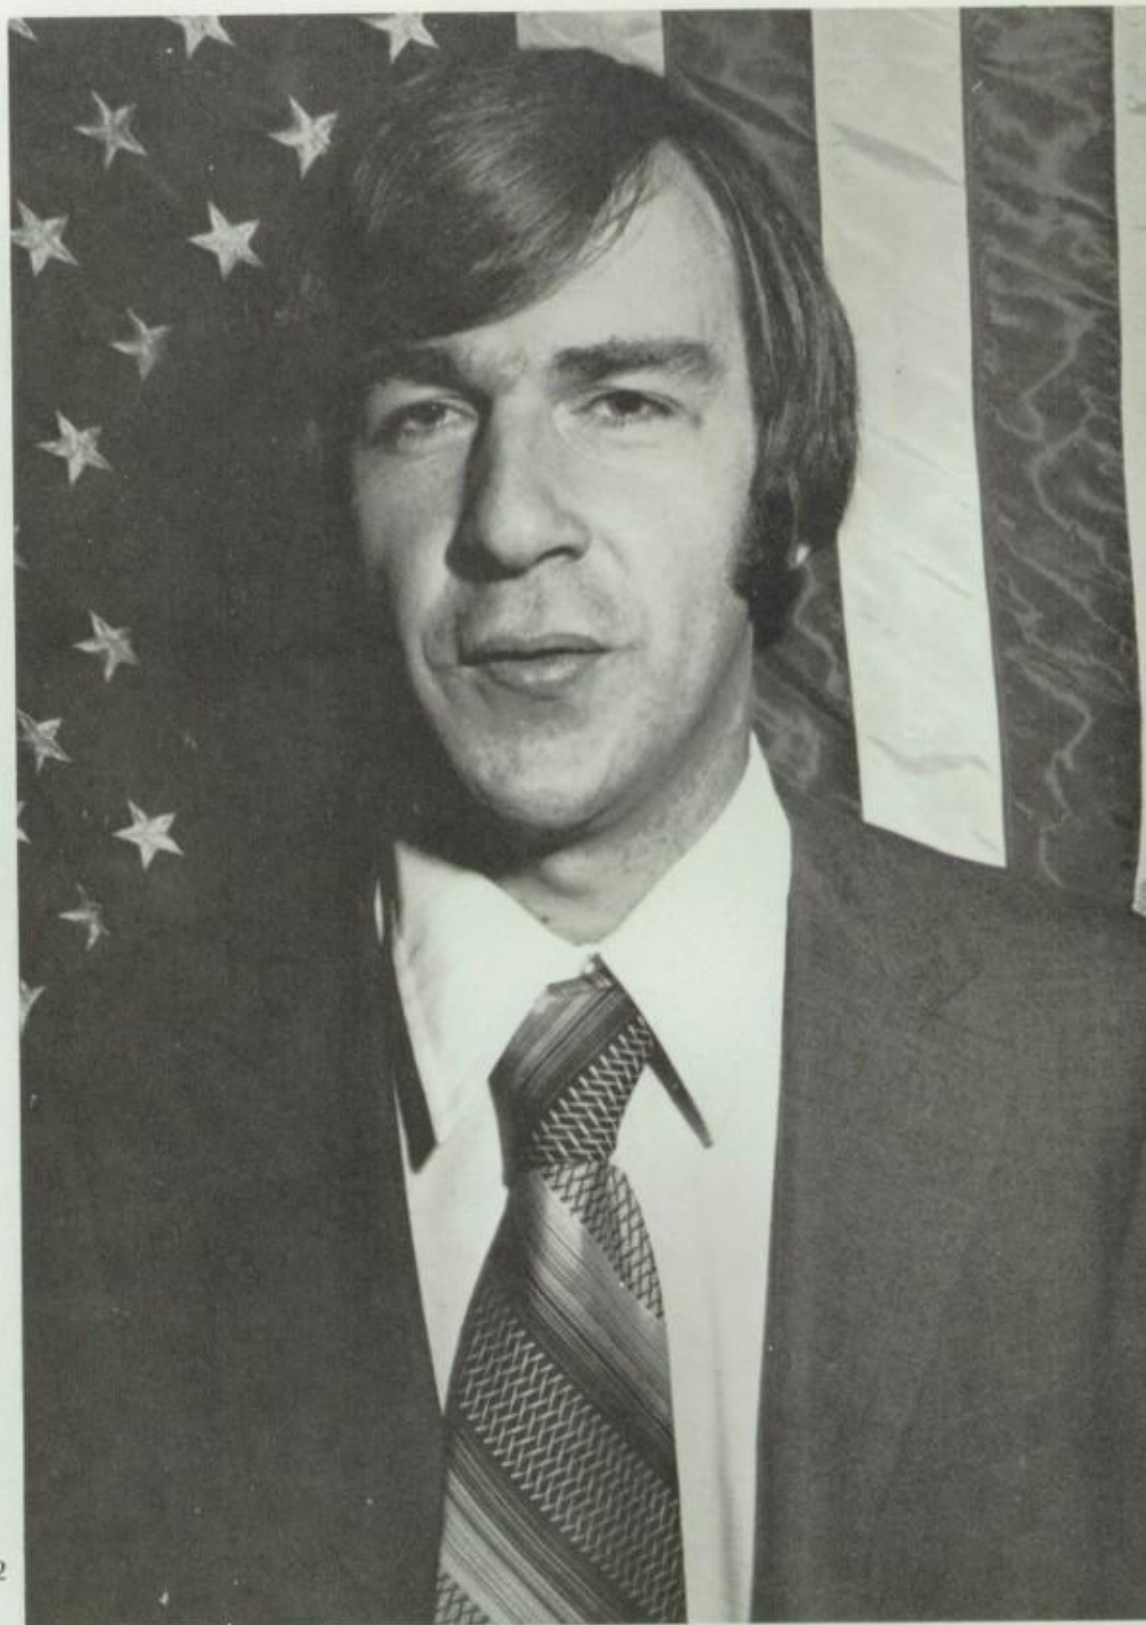

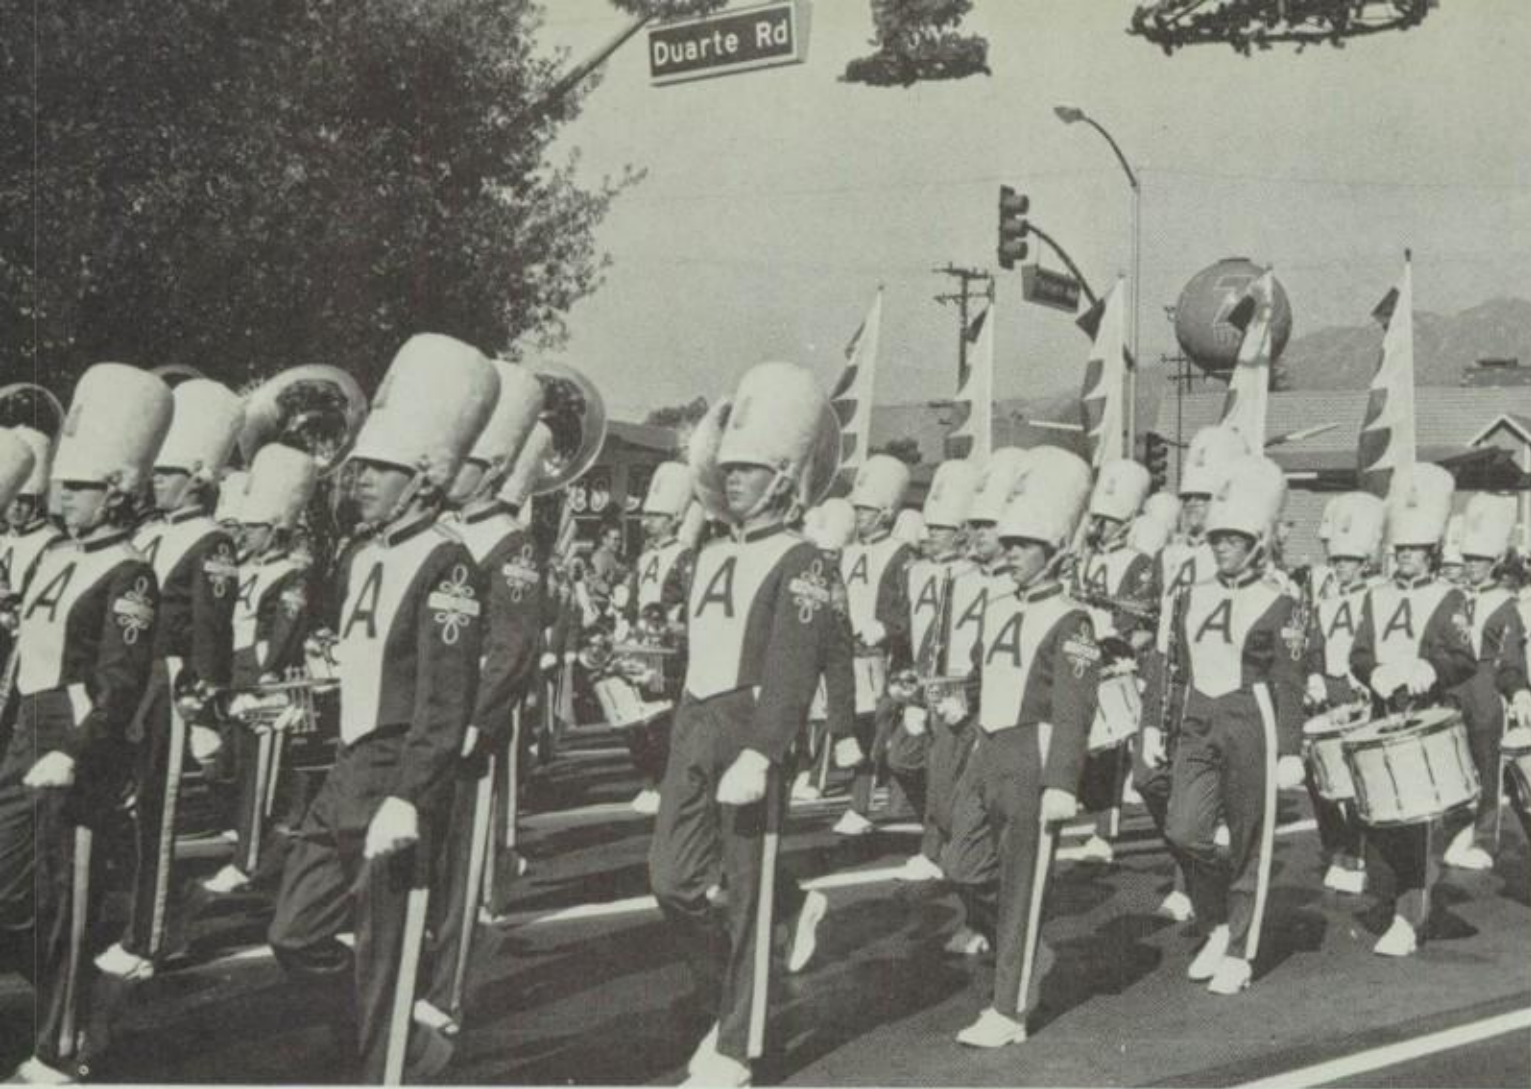

Community happenings

Throughout the year Arcadia backed various fund raisers for the Jerry Broadwell Memorial Fund; donated time and money for the Guatemala earthquake victims. The city had an entry in the Rose Parade, as well as sponsoring a parade of our own. Students and citizens alike were fired-up for this election year and community groups were interested in getting the high school involved. Arcadia High teachers, Mr. Woods, Mr. Harris, Mr. Peritore, and Mr. Onderdonk all gave lectures for a Bicentennial bonus. Students had a chance to earn extra credits by attending these lectures.

1. Mr. Onderdonk was a willing participant in the Bicentennial lecture series held at Holly Avenue.
2. The lovely Arcadia float was honored with the Isabelle Coleman award in the Rose Parade.
3. Arcadia girls anxiously awaited the start of the Miss Arcadia pageant.
4. The West Arcadia parade began with the step off of the award winning Apache marching band.
5. Mr. Woods was caught in an emotional moment of his speech entitled, "A Nation of Nations."
6. The League of Women Voters visited the campus several times to register students and discuss various elections.

Community happenings

Our students, like most other Arcadians, were gung-ho

as they celebrated the nation's Bicentennial. A citywide picnic was held on Columbus Day to kick off Arcadia's participation in the Bicentennial. Nineteen seventy-six was a most memorable year and the high school had an added dimension of ties with the community.

1. A few Arcadia young'uns joined in on fun and games at the citywide picnic.
2. Summer Theatre presented "1776" as an entertainment attraction.
3. An oration was presented by two veterans of the Revolution.
4. Foreign Study League sponsored a US East Coast Bicentennial trip exclusively for the pleasure of Arcadia's students.

Major Musical

Despite all the hard work and late night

rehearsals, the cast, directors, make-up and stage crew were quite proud when the musical production "George M." was finally presented in the San Gabriel Civic Auditorium. The music was composed of old songs such as "You're a Grand Old Flag" and "Give my Regards to Broadway" written by George M. Cohan. The musical dealt with the life and the escapades of the Four Cohans; George, his father Jerry, his mother Nellie, and his younger sister Josie. The group began its career in vaudeville, and moved on to big time Broadway. The production fit in well with the Bicentennial theme.

1. Barbara Carlton and Cindy Dole skillfully performed a song and dance routine.
2. After a week of audition, Mike Mayer, Joy Blackburn, Nancy Andrews, Wendy Woolverton, Mark Van Oss, Janette Mau, Cindy Dole, Greg Dobrin, Lisa Bode, Marguerite Mackowiak, and Barbara Carlton earned the lead parts in George M.
3. Mark Van Oss, Barbara Carlton, Lisa Bode and Marguerite Mackowiak, sang the song, "So Long Mary."
4. George M. Cohan, portrayed by Mike Mayer, was the protagonist in the play.
5. Wendy Woolverton was talented enough to perform a solo.
6. Good choreography was an important factor in the success of George M.
7. Tim Martinez, Lisa Andrews, Mike Mayer, and Joy Blackburn portrayed the Four Cohans, the people around whom the play was centered.

Homecoming

Homecoming '75 sparkled with the return of floats and alumni, along with a semi-formal dance following the game. "Reflections of the Past" was the theme chosen and carried out through use of antique cars during halftime and the old fashioned decoration of the gym. "Half Moon" was the featured band and a floor show was presented consisting of two guitarists. The excellent entertainment, along with the ice cream sundaes and dressy atmosphere, created a new and exciting type of evening.

1. Homecoming Queen, Lauren Hageman, was an involved student on campus participating in Pep Squad and other activities.
2. The homecoming court goofed around in the rally court before preparation for the big night ahead.
3. The 1975 members of our homecoming court were, Jane Penne junior princess, Lauren Hageman Queen, Magda Bouwer honorary A.F.S. princess, Becky Armstrong sophomore princess, and Mindy Armstrong senior princess.
4. Junior Exchange club won the most humorous award for their entry in the homecoming parade.
5. Orchesis' creation of "Happy Birthday America" caught the eyes of many delighted spectators.
6. 1974-75 Song girls got into their routine at the homecoming assembly.
7. Dennis Alfieri and Craig Cadwallader performed a special comedy act, "goin' on a lion hunt."

1. Two enthusiastic joggers, Karen Linnes and Malisa Masanovich, had fun while keeping in shape.
2. One of Arcadia's lucky students, Roger Tonry, had the opportunity to fly solo.
3. The serene and peaceful sport of kite flying was enjoyed by a nature lover.
4. Kristi Mueschler tried to be "reeeeally local" at the Eagles concert.
5. Skateboarding became the thing to do and Roger Tonry had fun doing it.

5

Recreations

The interest in skateboarding skyrocketed as it became a popular sport among fashion-minded students. Others had a more

lackadaisical

approach to their recreations as they amused themselves at concerts with such celebrities as Elton John, Eagles, and David Bowie.

4

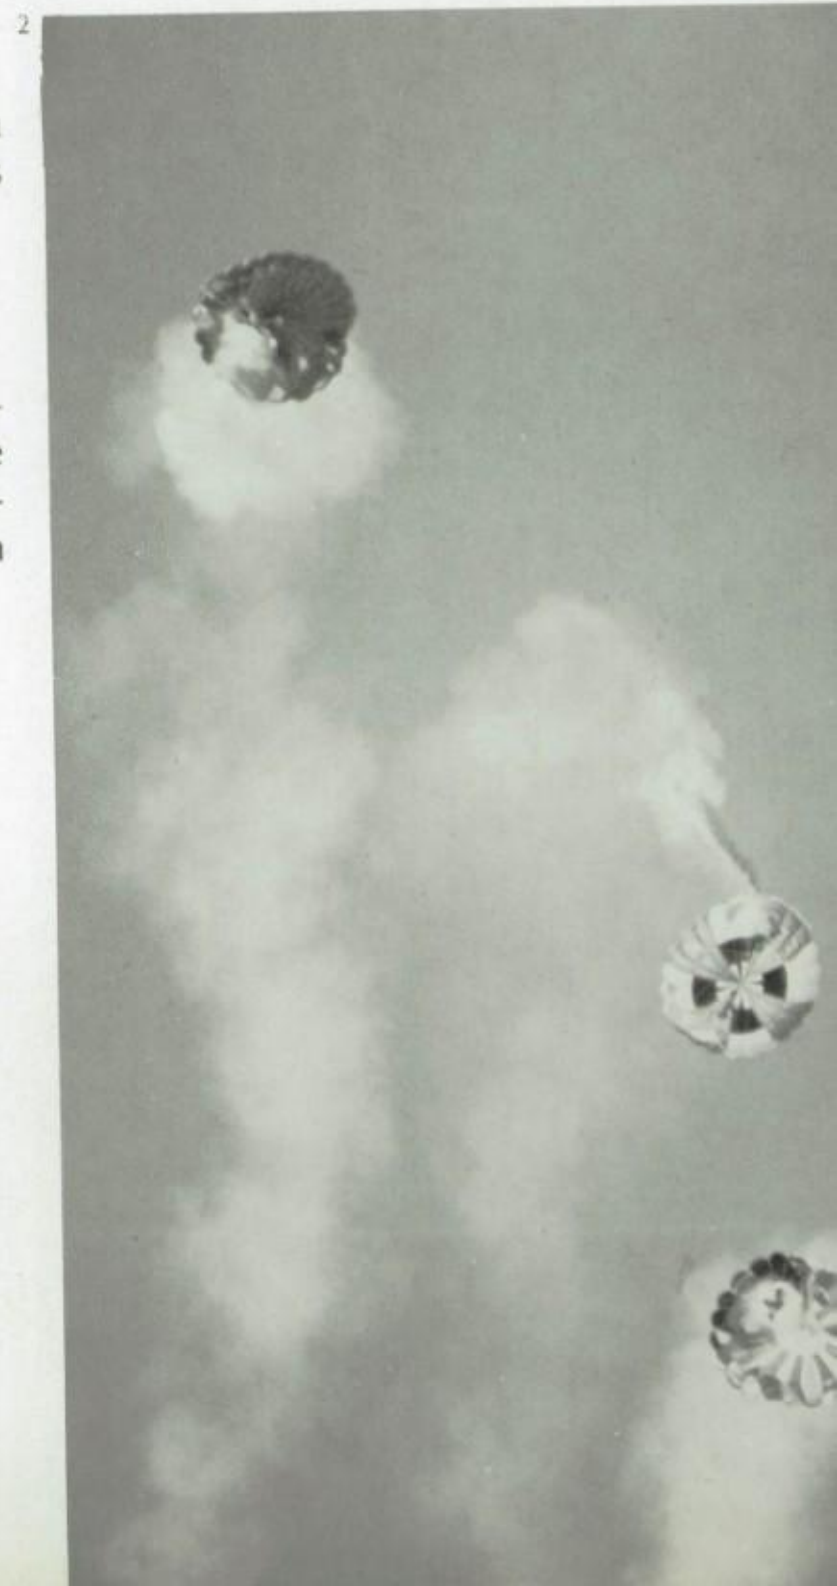

Recreations

This year more than ever we participated in a wide range of off-campus activities. Students were able to get down

with cross-country skiing, sky diving, water skiing, cliff diving, and dune bugging. We explored new places and new pastimes throughout California with much love and appreciation expressed for the great outdoors.

1. Father and son zoomed across the sand at Dumont Dunes.

2. They're off and diving at the Mojave Desert.

3. An Arcadian enjoyed lessons from a professional Norwegian cross-country skier at Twin Lakes, Mammoth.

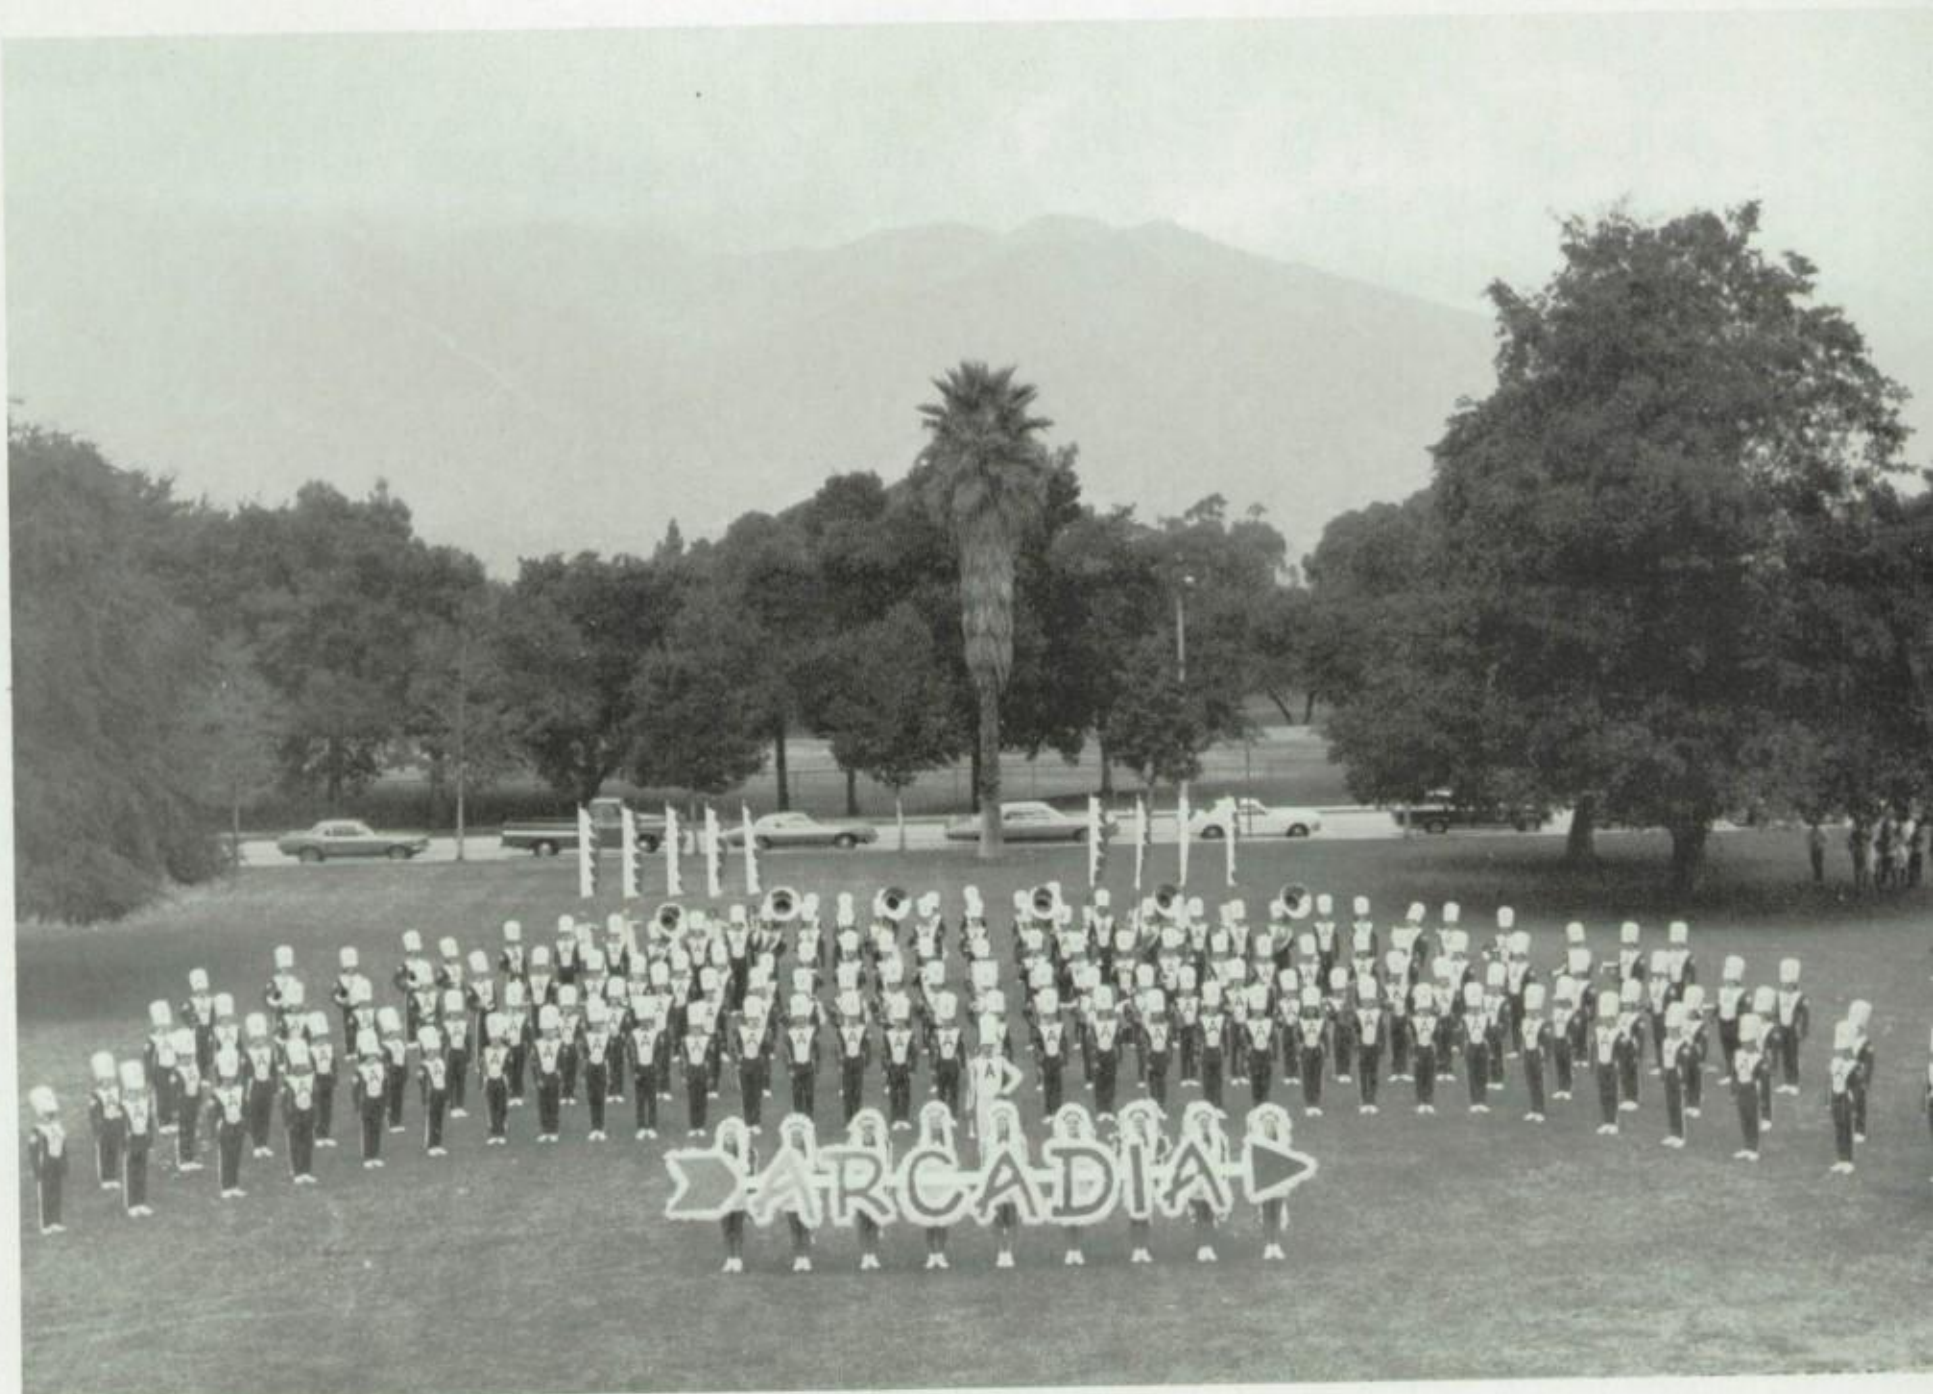

4. Matt May, a skilled water skier, made a successful turn along the Colorado River.

Drill Team/Band/Princesses

as they won second place at the Chino parade. Andrea Scatena, Head Tom-Tom girl, showed her excellence by winning five superiority ribbons at summer camp. The girls performed a ribbon routine at one half-time and found it not to be very successful as their ribbons became tangled.

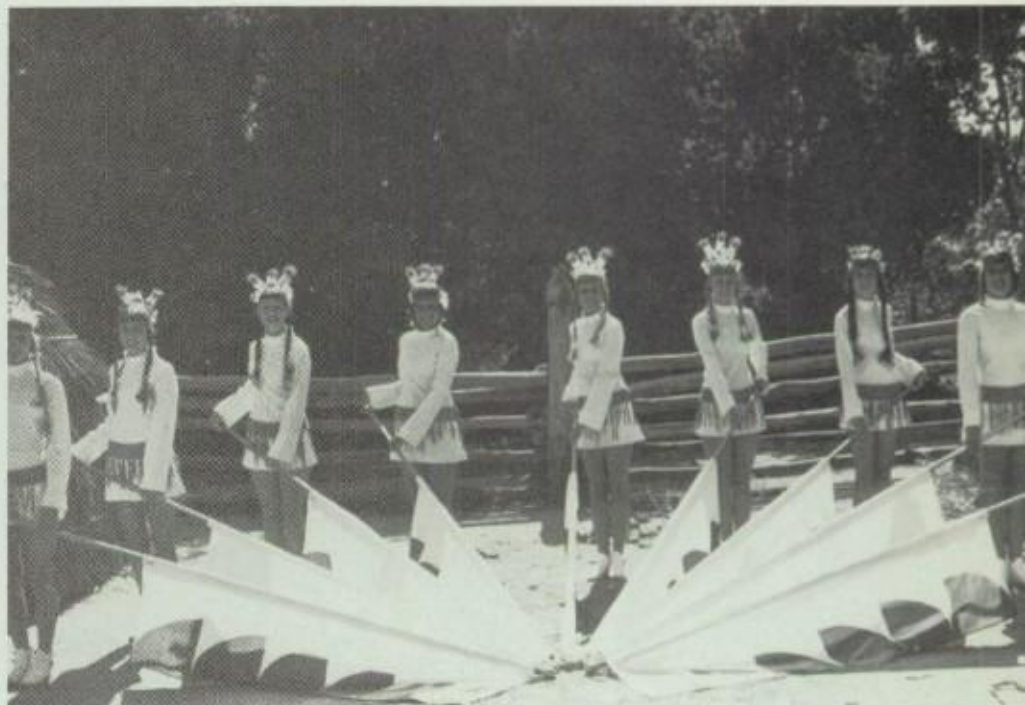

Stan Schinke, drum major showed much skill at the Chino Parade as he won the first place trophy and the marching band took first in their division. Stan experienced much embarrassment on the last day of camp when, as he was giving orders, his voice cracked. The band was able to perform at many half-time competitions including the Chaffey Tournament.

The nine Apache Princesses had both a dazzling appearance, and the ability to deal with adversity. This capability proved useful during a half-time in which they performed an umbrella routine, and one girl's umbrella turned inside out!

- 6 1. The marching band won sweepstakes at the Santa Monica Parade.
2. Princesses: Julie Roskopf, Sue Crowley, Lori Humble, Laurie Thornton, Patsy O'Brien, Wendy Grimshaw, Cathy Lomasney, Denise Johnson. Not pictured: Teri Bibb.
3. Mr. Work, Band Director, was very successful in his first year of teaching at Arcadia High.
4. The drill team marched with great precision at the Chino Parade.
5. Tall Flag Girls: Sandi Thistlewaite, Cathy Matern, Cindy Tindall, Becky Welsh, Wendy Killeen, Carolyn Hawk, Sherri Butler, Nancy Aronold, Tammy Kocherhans.
6. Drum major Stan Schinke led the band in their march to victory.

Song Girls — Flag Girls

The song girls faced confusion

as they had three different uniforms in mind before they finally all agreed on one. The girls tried to incorporate more dance style routines. Although their pom-poms were an important effect, they didn't use them as much.

The flag girls got away from the military style of twirling and coordinated peppier dance steps into their routines. The girls were invited to perform at a Ram's football game and rotated around the field during the course of the game. They tried to support all teams equally.

1. Song girls: Kathy Duffy, Lori Richardson, Cathy Cox, Karen Clifford, Siobhan O'Callaghan, Mindy Armstrong.

2. Flag girls: Lauren Hageman, Erin Hunt, Martha Bauman, Laurie Archer, Rhonda Rasmussen, Kathi Smith.

3. J.V. Cheer: Alan Hubbard, Corrine Crothers, Audrey Schuster, Sherri Dorner, Patty Parker, Kathy Browning, Kelly McCardle, Patty Henley.

3 4. Dennis Alferi provoked some spirit in the bleachers at a home football game.

1. The pep squad followed the theme "Enthusiasm makes the difference."
2. The pep band performed in the locals day pep assembly.
3. Without previous twirling experience, the flag girls mastered the act well.
4. The Song girls worked after school and during 3rd period to perfect their routines.
5. Jim Feitchman watched over the Pep band, especially the new girl members.

Junior Varsity/Pep Band

Where there is a lot of work, rewards

are sure to follow. So was the case for the Junior Varsity Cheerleaders, as they spent many long hours, practicing and preparing cheers for the Soph-Frosh, Sophomore, and J.V. teams. But hard work paid off when the group was awarded the superior trophy at Cheerleader Camp in Santa Barbara. The addition of Alan Hubbard, first boy on the J.V. squad, made the group a little more fun for members and spectators alike.

The Pep Band tried to break away from playing all Chicago music and moved into more sophisticated jazz. Aside from pep rallies, assemblies and games, they performed at P.T.A. meetings and at the Bicentennial Parade.

Pep Band members were: Curt Bechtel, Kurt Curtis, Jim Feichtmann, Chris Kellogg, Robin Luby, Nancy Mathews, Jane Myers, Andy Papp, Dirk Richter, Jim Schoelz, Dave

Sears, Matt Smith, Randy Stead, Scott Sullivan, Randy Traweek, Andy Wilson.

Varsity Cheer/Pep Commissioner/ Apache Joe

The Varsity Cheerleaders had a very busy summer, part of which they spent painting the lunch pavilion the traditional cardinal and gold. In addition, they found time enough to practice their chants and boogie

type cheers, and found their time was well spent when they carried the "Most Excellent" award home from summer Cheerleader Camp.

Pep Commissioner, Gretchen Liniger, made a magnificent contribution to the spirit of the Pep Squad as they won the Sparkplug Award for the most outstanding group at Cheerleader Camp. For the first time students had to apply to get into the Pep Commission, and for a bit of variety, they sold buttons and ribbons to give the Commission more attention.

Apache Joe, Ed Flores, incorporated more skits into his pep assembly appearances. He felt he made Apache Joe more "interesting" by breaking away from the traditional prophecies.

1. Varsity Cheer: Bob Murphy, Nancy Peterson, Craig Cadwallader, Patty Tiffany, Dennis Alferi, Kathy Cooper.

2. Gretchen Liniger, Pep Commissioner, works hard at preparing pep assemblies.

3. Apache Joe, Ed Flores, was beside himself.

4. Ed Flores stirred up true Apache Spirit.

5. J.V. Cheer was up in the air with spirit.

6. "Go ya mighty Apaches" was how the Pep Squad expressed their spirit.

Orchestra

The orchestra appreciated the Music Club's generosity in buying them a very expensive harpsichord

which added to the beautiful music of the orchestra. The very talented students had the honor of playing at the Graduation, Pops Concert, and accompanying the Orchesis at their annual show. The pit orchestra, a group of excellent musicians, were able to play at the major drama production, "George M."

1. Hard work and musical talent combined to make the orchestra's professional sounding performances.
2. Members of the orchestra practiced diligently for one of their performances.
3. Under the direction of Mr. Reinecke, the orchestra was able to perform at many events.
4. The brass section of the orchestra combined with the music of the string section to create the famous Apache sound.

Chanteurs / a Cappella

The Chanteurs spent many hours exercising their vocal chords

in preparation for their performances at the Bicentennial Banquet and at L.A. International Airport. They caroled from one terminal to the other at the airport. The president of Chanteurs, George Davis, stated, "We have a really talented group."

The vocal music department has undergone dramatic changes. A Capella president Mike Republicano stated, "Under the new direction of Mr. Alstadt, A Capella will be gaining increasing recognition throughout the years." The choir participated in the Columbus Day celebration, a Spring Concert, and the annual Christmas show, Vivaldi's Gloria.

A Capella: Bonnie Allen, Debbie Anderson, Jan Anderson, Kathy Anderson, Nancy Andrews, Laura Arthur, Craig Bateman, Teri Bibb, Meggan Bicksler, Lisa Bode, June Bowling, Jana Boyer, Gary Buckles, Kathy Burke, Rosemarie Buteen, Sherri Butler, Cliff Colby, Bruce Cushman, Cyrene Dancart, Jan Davis, Leslie Davenport, John Denison, Dianne Douglass, Tim Eiland, John Eldredge, Tammy Falbo, Stuart Forden, Kathy Fromhere, Diedre Fulmer, Steve Garrett, Jon Goates, Kathy Grohs, Linda Haine, Jeff Henderson, Russ Herman, Jean Hirvela, Janice Hodgins, Tammy Hopf, Barry Horton, Tim Horton, Terri Huffman,

4 Executive Council

After a relaxing summer retreat to the beach, soaking in the sun and riding the waves

the Executive Council got down to work planning activities and making sure they weren't cancelled. A major event for them was the planning and preparation that went into Homecoming. It was quite apparent that they were able to accomplish their main objective, variety and uniqueness. The Executive Council, which was made up of the Senate and Activities Council, also spent a great deal of time planning the Spring Concert, a major event for Arcadia High.

1. Todd Micharo and Wendy Killeen won high honors at the Bicentennial Youth Debates.

2. Sheri Anderson and Karen Casswell seemed confused by all the various proposals presented at one time at the House of Representatives meeting.

3. Brad Palfrey, Junior Class President, and Tony Garzio, Senior Class Senator, listened to all the questions posed at the House of Representatives meeting.

4. Valerie Moore and Tim McCue were just two of the many students representing their homerooms throughout the year.

House of representatives / Forensics

Cooperation and aid from the faculty helped to make the House of Representatives meetings more informative. Representatives from each homeroom attended the meetings held in the cafeteria and contributed many constructive opinions

concerning the school's affairs. Main issues, such as the smoking area, election procedures and open lunch were discussed.

The main goal of the Forensics students, throughout their season of tournament speeches, was to be able to go to state qualifiers tournament in San Francisco. In addition to displaying their speech talent at competitive tournaments, they also were able to give speeches at the bicentennial commission meetings, a Hugo Reid Elementary P.T.A. meeting, and Arcadia Lions Club.

1. Rhonda Rasmussen, Penny Phillips, and Lydia Kennedy did much for the welfare of the Kiowas.

2. Rodger Conover and Karen Gathers were present at the luncheon with Temple City High's honor club, to exchange ideas and suggestions.

3. Anita Cassis took time to put the last sparkling touches on the cars at the car wash.

4. Susie Delahooke was able to meet many people at the Arcadia High / Temple City High luncheon.

5. Various members of Sr. Men enjoyed test driving each car at the Kiowa / Sr. Men car wash.

Kiowa / Senior Men

The annual Kiowa / Senior Men car wash proved to be full of fun as several students got involved in a water fight and ended up looking like

drowned rats

Generally very successful in their money raising events the two groups earned 130 dollars by selling programs at one football game, but were disappointed to find that at the next game they came out minus 75 dollars. Both clubs, always eager to spread good cheer, also held a Christmas party at the Hope House.

American Field Service

The A.F.S. club succeeded in fulfilling their goal of fostering communication between different countries. They were able to introduce Arcadia students to lifestyles

and customs which differed from their own. One way in which they achieved this was through their participation in the A.F.S. days. On these days, local schools exchanged foreign students among themselves, giving both hosts and visitors the opportunity to learn more about each other. Not only did they speak to students, but to the public as well. Lectures held at the public library and at various clubs throughout Arcadia were very informative.

1. After spending an enjoyable summer in Italy, Marilyn Greco welcomed Tony Bellavitas, from Italy, to America, along with Mrs. Evans, the Home-finding Chairperson.

2. A.F.S. students and Americans abroad: Debbie Hansen, Tony Bellavitas, Magda Bower, Chris Jacobson, Marilyn Greco, Tom Götz, Robin Luby.

3. Tom Götz, from Austria, Tony Bellavitas from Italy, and Magda Bower from the Netherlands enjoyed a year full of fun and excitement as they learned all about the Americans' way of life.

4. A.F.S. Club officers: Marilyn Greco, Historian; Bill Kramb, President; Rhonda Rasmussen, Secretary; Mrs. Dumbacher, Teacher Advisor; Miss Gaydes, Club Advisor; Kathy Anderson, Treasurer; Kathy Burke, Vice President.

5. Vice President, Kathy Burke; A.F.S. students, Tom Götz, and Americans abroad president, Frances Meehan; had an enjoyable time at the first A.F.S. party given at the end of the summer.

Pow Wow

Fifteen fairly inexperienced journalism students worked hard at writing stories, editorials, and many student interest articles throughout the year. Although their new classroom, L-7, lacked the character

of the publications house, it had a more office-like atmosphere for the students to work in. In addition to writing all the articles, they also spent every other Saturday at San Marino printers, pasting up and preparing top quality newspapers.

1. JoAnn Cooper, editor-in-chief, along with the rest of the Pow Wow staff, enjoyed celebrating Jeff Lile's birthday.
2. Although his job was very difficult Dan Post did extremely well with the Sports page.
3. Mr. O'Brien relaxed after a hard day of work with the Pow Wow staff.
4. Beth Rantz, Managing editor, and Rori Benka, News editor, worked on a layout for the news page.
5. As a cartoonist, Dan Sweet used his wild imagination in creating humorous cartoons.
6. Beth Rantz, Managing editor, spent time talking with Mr. Dodd, Kyle Wright, and Greg Eaton, about the pictures used in the Pow Wow.

Orchesis / Future Teachers / Synchronized Swim

The Orchesis club members in addition to being a group talented modern dancers, showed much creativity in choreographing their own dances in preparation for the major Orchesis production, "Hurrah America." They did dances to the themes of slavery

the Declaration of Independence, Valley Forge, and Betsy Ross.

The Future Teachers club started off the year with their traditional candy cane sale and made almost 150 dollars. They put on a party for Montessori School. All members of the club enjoyed playing relay games with the children.

With only two experienced girls, the Synchronized swim team spent much time learning new underwater stunts as they developed their routines. The girls were able to spend time experimenting with basic fundamentals of water ballet.

Under the supervision of expert photographer, Mr. Dodd, the photo production class developed in more ways than one. Aspiring photographers learned to become

in order to capture night time events for the annual. Pow Wow, and Apache News. In addition, the photographers performed a difficult task when they further improved the quality of their photos which they provided to the school publications.

The German Club participated in a German Festival / Workshop at U.C. Irvine where they learned about native customs and were taught Scandinavian dances. Another highlight of their active year came in February when the club dressed up in native German costumes and held a Faschings Ball Mardi Gras Party, a take off of the real thing.

Students interested in the hobby of building boats met once a week to build scale model boats. The finely crafted models were exact replicas of various large ships. At the end of the year, the boats were raced in the Arcadia High swimming pool.

Drama 3, 4 / Stagecrafts / Make-Up

Drama 3, 4 started off the year with the presentation of "Harvey" and "Another Part of the Forest." Many people thought "Another Part of the Forest" would prove to be too demanding for the students, but were proved wrong when the group pulled it off with flying colors. Jim Spencer played the lead as a very sophisticated southern gentleman who was black mailed

by his son for all his land and money.

None of the shows would have left the ground without the help of the Stagecrafts class and Make-up club. The Make-up club had many colorful jobs as it was required to produce blue people for The Wooden Box and black people for Another Part of the Forest.

With great skill and determination the Stagecrafts class built Indian tepees and a Western Town for a Bicentennial Tribute to Columbus Day, only to see their handiwork knocked down by rain and wind.

Make-up: First Row: Sheli Cox, Cheri Riggins, Jean Sarkisian. Second Row: Paul Ryan, Kathy Tustin, Robin Noble, Luanna Van Holten, Debbie Bach, Vicki Jones, Lisa Rumbles, Debbie Nicholson, Madelene

1. With a steady hand, Cathy Cox carefully applied her skills to Stacy Morris of the Drama 2 cast.

2. "I want to suck your blood," said Kathy Tustin to John Iovine.

3. "Didn't your mother ever teach you how to wash your face," teased Tim Martinez to Joy Blackburn.

4. Jim Spencer offered Nick Urricchio a spot of coffee during the performance of "Another Part of the Forrest."

Ski club / hiking club / junto club

The Ski club got off to an inauspicious start. On the club's first excursion to Mammoth, chaperone Charlie Peters was stabbed

by a ski pole. He recovered to ski again. Due to a severe lack of snow, the Christmas vacation trip to Tahoe was rescheduled for the spring vacation. The club kept busy by co-sponsoring a fifth quarter along with the Girls' League.

The Hiking club worked to repair washed out trails in the Angeles mountains. Over spring vacation, the club went to Utah for a week of backpacking. The members made plans to continue into the summer with two week long Sierra backpacking trips.

The Junto club, formed as a forum for the discussion of political issues, initiated the Guatemalan airlift project. They worked with several other clubs to raise money for a charter plane to transport food and clothing to the victims of the Guatemala earthquake.

4 Lettermen / FCA / Bowling / Motocross

The Lettermen club, a status

club for athletes, gave services to the school. Getting things organized at the beginning of the year was difficult, but they later had things underway. The club sold food and programs at various sporting events to raise funds.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes shared the concepts of Christian growth through athletics to the community. FCA members listened to athletes on the Ohio State and UCLA teams share the experiences of their Christian lives at the Rose Bowl breakfast.

Bowling Club members worked at keeping their bowling balls out of the gutter. Experienced bowlers had better chances of winning trophies which were awarded to those who scored the highest games and series.

The Motocross team prepared for their races at Indian Dunes and Saddleback motorcycle parks. The team held exciting races against La Canada, South Pasadena, and San Marino.

Assemblies Commission: Front Row: Maise Liu, Magie Maderas, Karen Caswell, Laura Martindale, Cindy Kern, Val McComas, Marilyn Eustachy. Back Row: Malisa

Masanovich, Karen Brodie, Bruce Patterson, Jim Ingles, Shirley Reid and Sandy O'Toole.

1. Malisa Masanovich, Assemblies commissioner, and Gretchen Lininger, Pep Commissioner, got together for awhile during lunch.
2. Linda Hoffman, Shirl Heller and Lisa Haderlain cleaned some pans after one of the Hostesses' serving engagements.

derson, Patty Nash, Lisa Haderlein, Susan Potter, Wendy K. Annette Miller, Tracy Pfau, Sandy Delahooke and De McKenna.

Assemblies Comm. / Pep Comm. / Hostesses

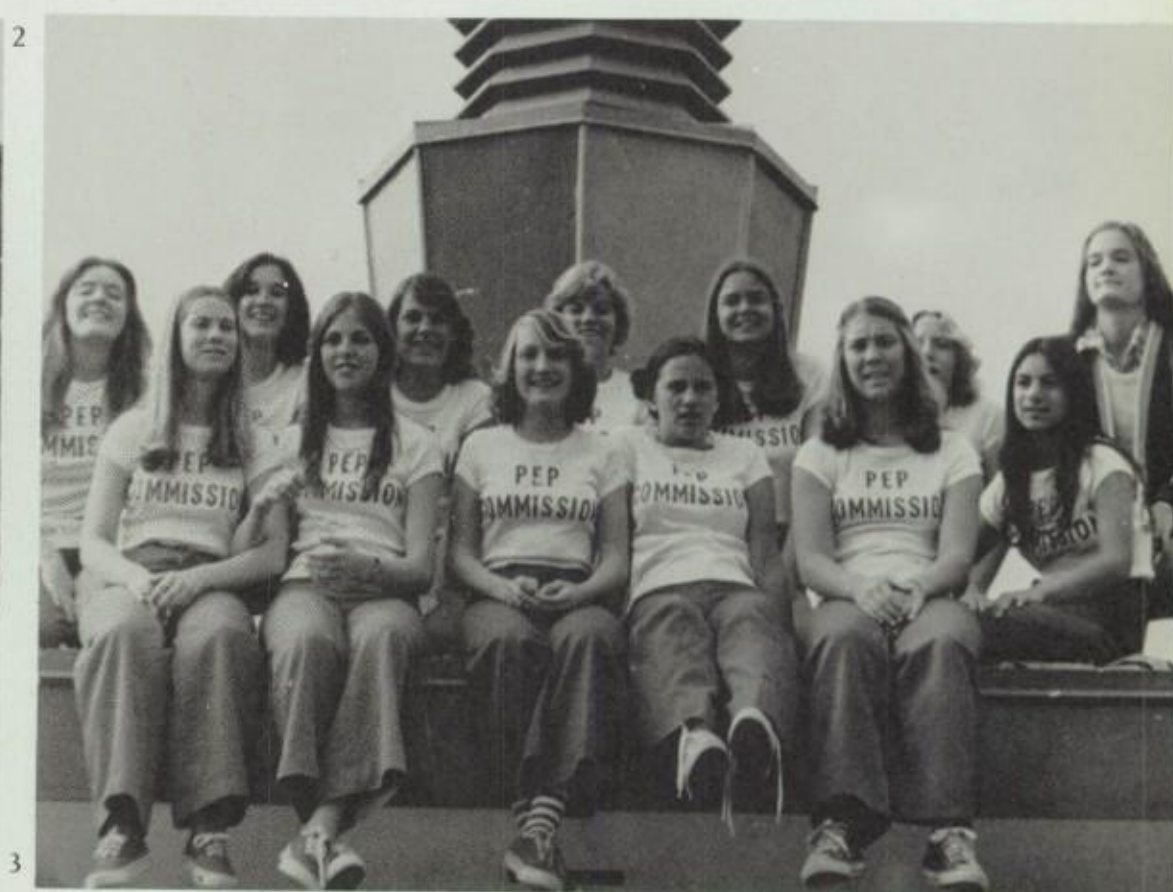

In it's first year of existence, the Assemblies Commission helped to plan general interest assemblies. They also publicized the assemblies with posters, bulletins and by wearing their T-shirts. The club was open to all grade levels although each applicant was screened before acceptance.

The Pep Commission, another new club, supported the teams with painted signs and posters. The club co-sponsored a fifth quarter with the Pep Squad and had a booth at the Art festival.

The Hostesses club served food and drinks at administrative luncheons, the Kiowa / Sr. Men luncheon and at clubs throughout Arcadia. The duties of the club became a focus of controversy

because the girls felt that as elected representatives, they had more significant things to do than wait on tables. The club's purpose was under evaluation by the Executive Council.

Pep Commission: Front Row: Laura Hartstone, Kathy O'Rourke, Bev Bauman, Lisa Vanni, Linda Corey. Back Row: Diane

4 Key / Jr. Exchange / Mat Maidens

The Key Club began the year making extensive preparations for their annual Christmas tree sale. Another fund raiser was the Zeppelin zoom. Each contestant bought a balloon, attached a note to it, and sent it off into the wild

blue yonder. The lucky finder of the balloon would then send a note back to the contestant. Owners of the balloons which traveled farthest received exciting prizes.

The Jr. Exchange club sold mistletoe at Christmas time and candy hearts on Valentine's Day to raise funds for their many service projects. For the first time the club sponsored a scholarship open to all club members. The person who gave the most service in the club was awarded the scholarship.

The Mat Maidens spent time giving support to the wrestling team. The girls showed a general interest by attending all wrestling events, and kept score at all meets. They also worked hard raising money to buy new mats for the team.

Campus life / creative writing / interact

Campus Life kicked off the year by inviting all the students of A.H.S. to come to a

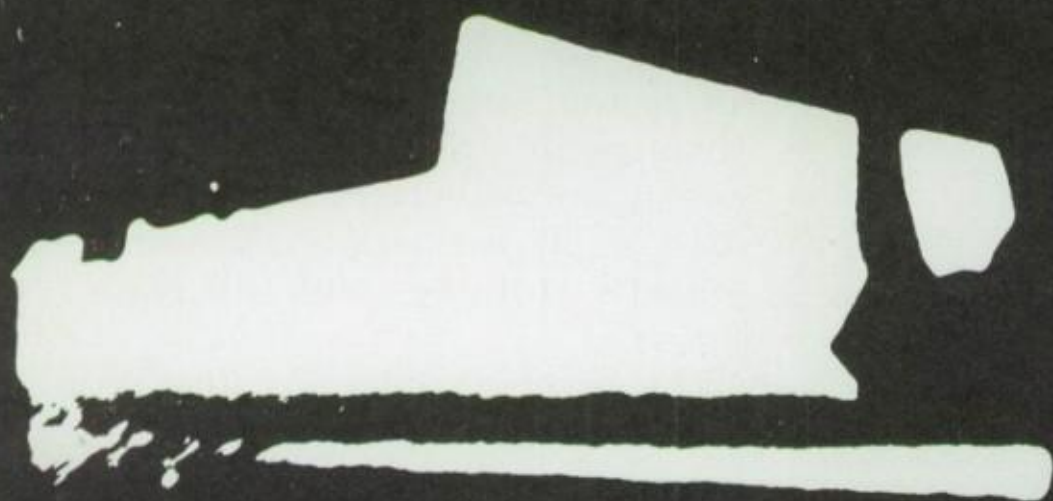

burger bash

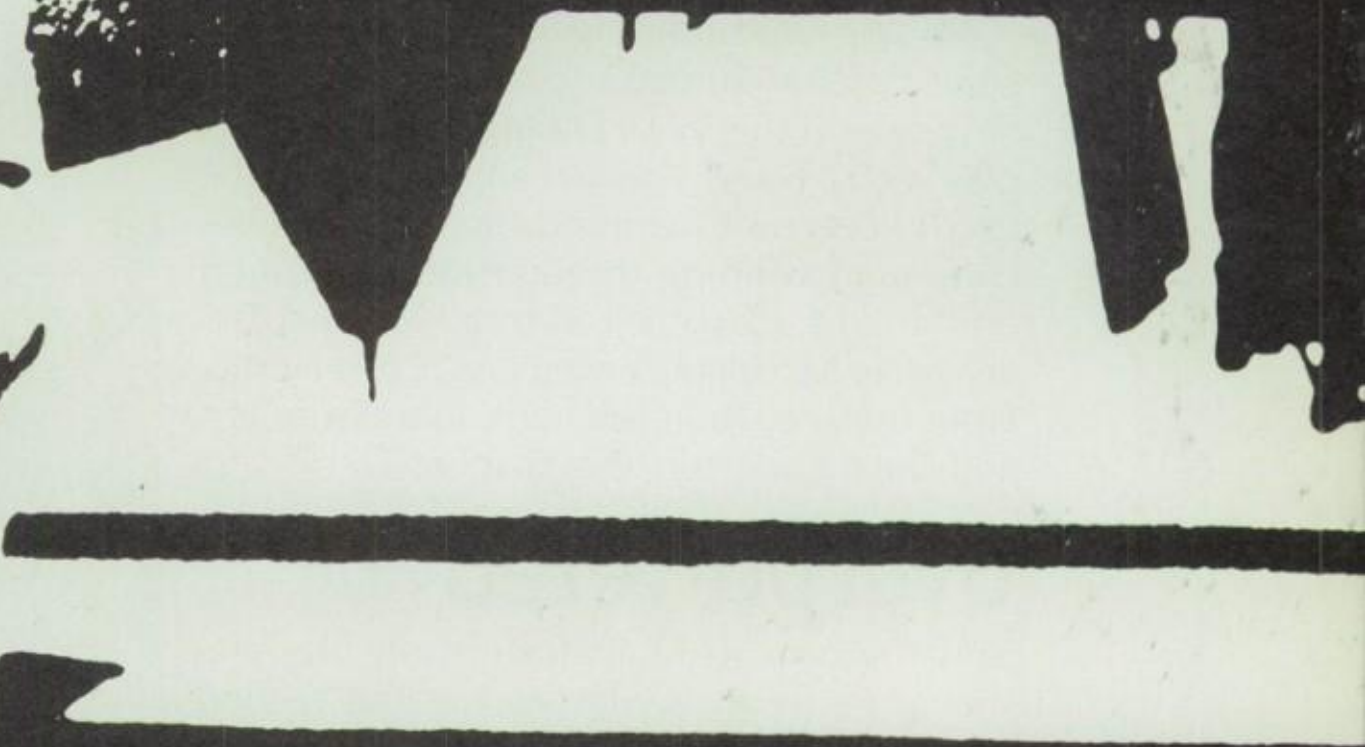

for all the hamburgers they could eat. Throughout the year the club met weekly and had many other activities, such as Powder-puff Football, Fat Albert's Holiday, and the Haunted House.

The members of the Creative Writing Club met Tuesdays to read over poems submitted to them. They made comments on them, and then voted on which ones would be put into the Creative Writing Book.

Interact Club was a service group which tried to improve the city. The club members raised funds to pay for the labor needed to build a new Longley Way Elementary School Youth Hut. For the first time, the club operated on an international scale. The club members sent canned goods to aid the victims of the Guatemala earthquake.

Varsity Football

An awesome running attack and a tenacious defense guided the Apaches to a winning season this year. Ending regular season play with a 6 and 3 record and a share of the Pacific League Championship, the Apaches continued winning through the first round on the C.I.F. playoffs. Led by all-league players, Mike McLellan, Steve Nuss, Chris Linnin, Ernie Isensee, Todd Michero, John Sweeney, and Dave Anderson, the Apaches

overpowered

Santa Barbara 30-12. Unfortunately, the season came to an abrupt end in the second round as bad breaks and a good Fountain Valley team upset the favored Apaches, 33-6.

4 1. Quarterback Dick Brenner scrambled for daylight as a Bishop Amat defender raced in pursuit.

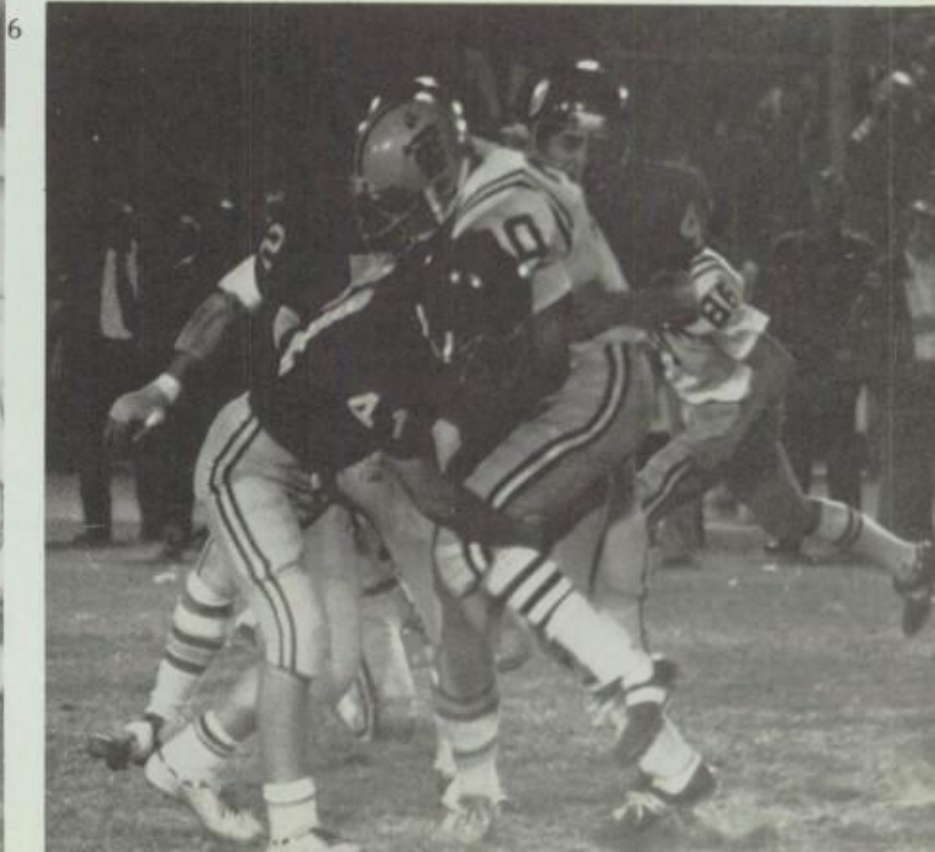

5 2. Tailback Bill Carlson led the way as fullback Mike McLellan received a handoff from quarterback Dick Brenner.

3. Good pursuit by Apache linebackers held a Temple City runner to short yardage.

4. The Apaches' Spirit was high throughout the season.

5. Consistent running by Mike McLellan helped the Apache team to a victorious season.

6. Crushing tackles by Mike Elder and Dick Enright were trademarks of the Apache defense.

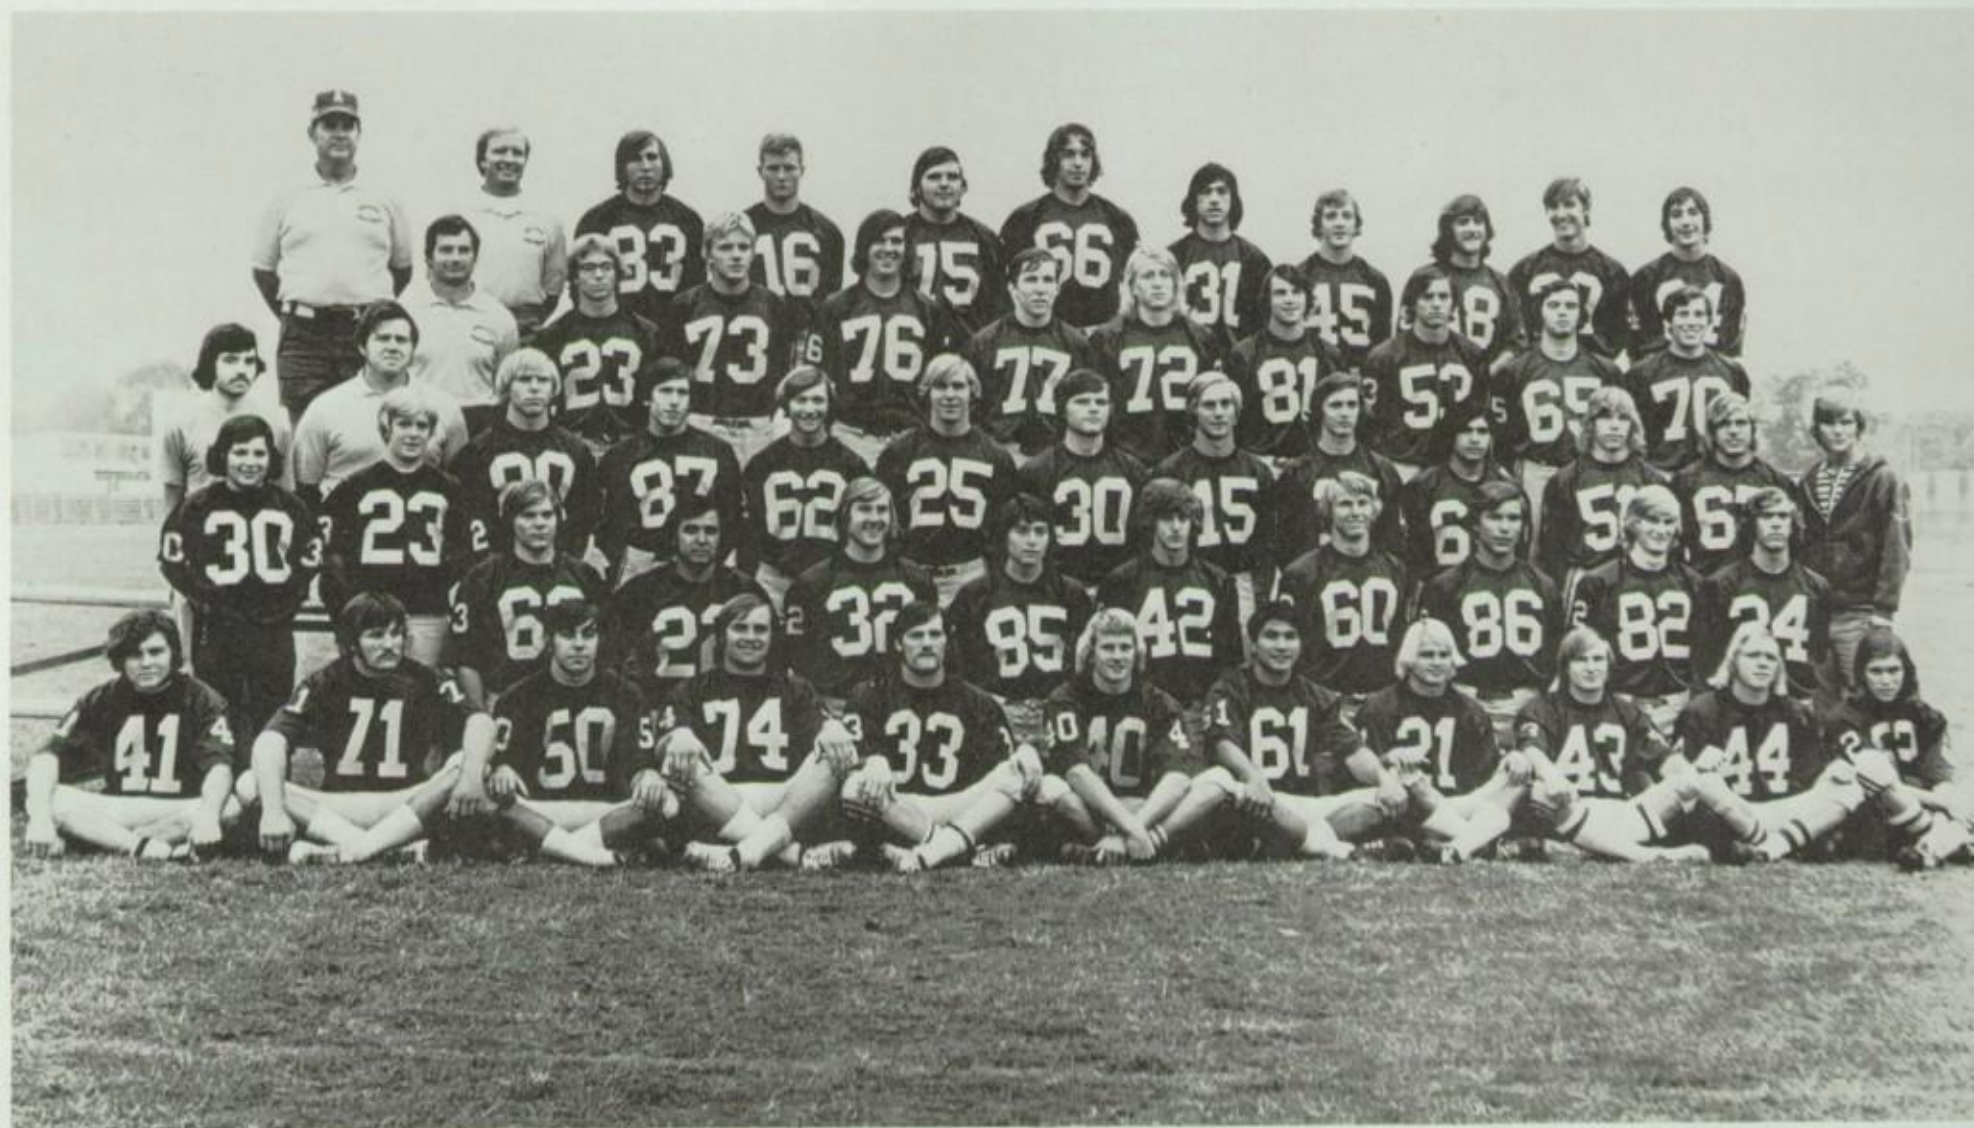

Varsity Football

Team unity and very few injuries enabled the Apaches to remain a strong team throughout the entire season. Highlight of the year was the Apaches close 13-12 victory over neighboring rival Temple City. Contributions from Bill Carlson, Eric Nelson, Mike Elder, Mark Miller, Mike Long, Jay Schellin, and kicker Mike Lansford were all essential parts of the team's success. Prospects are good for another championship next year with returning

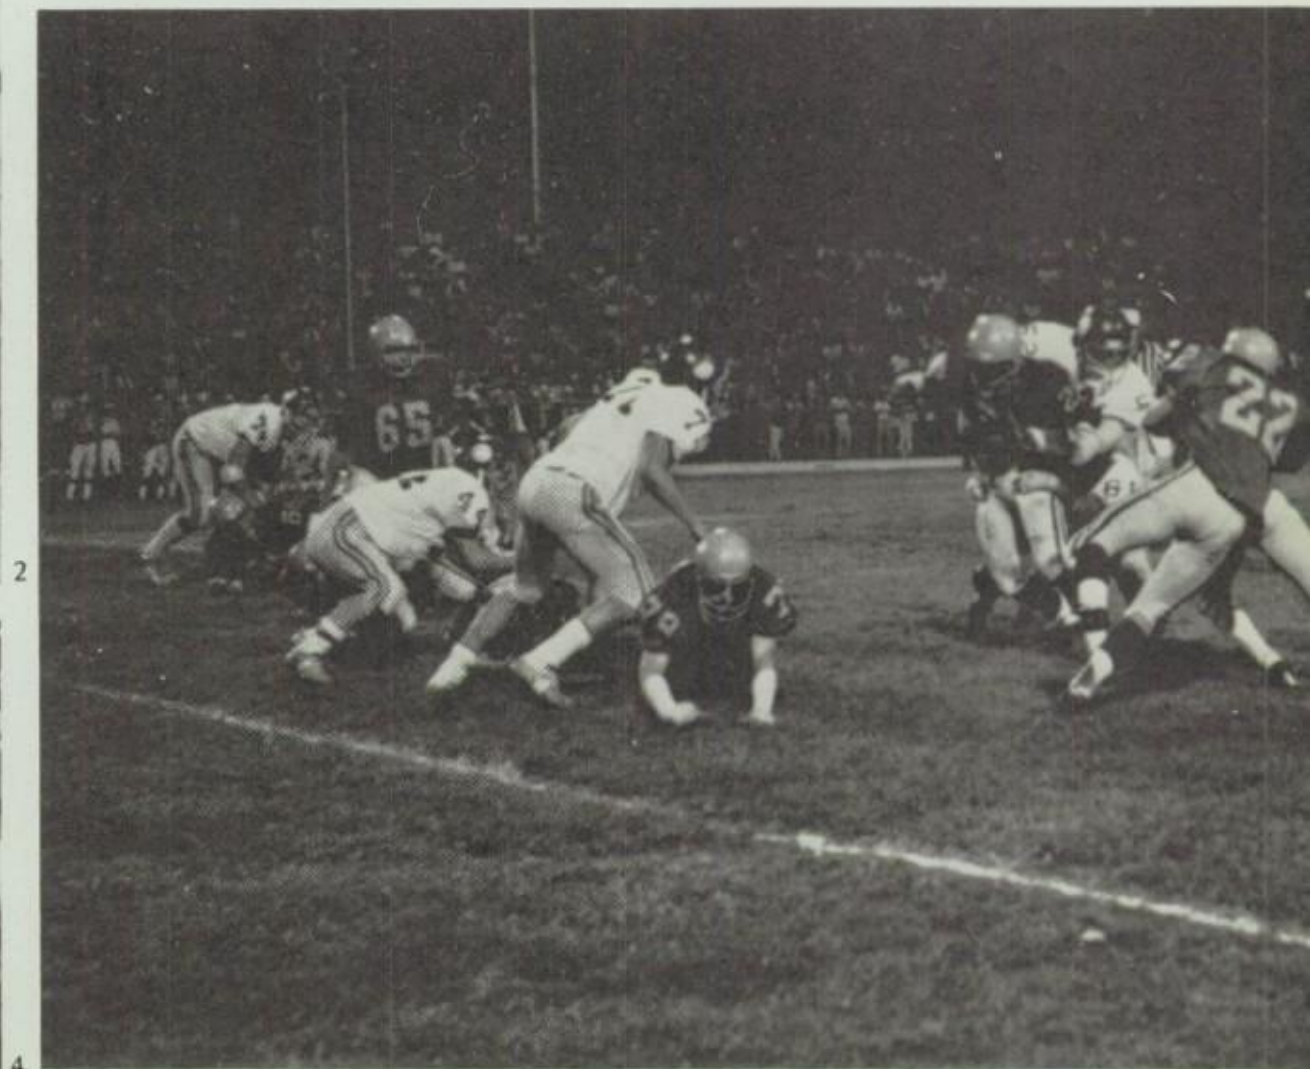

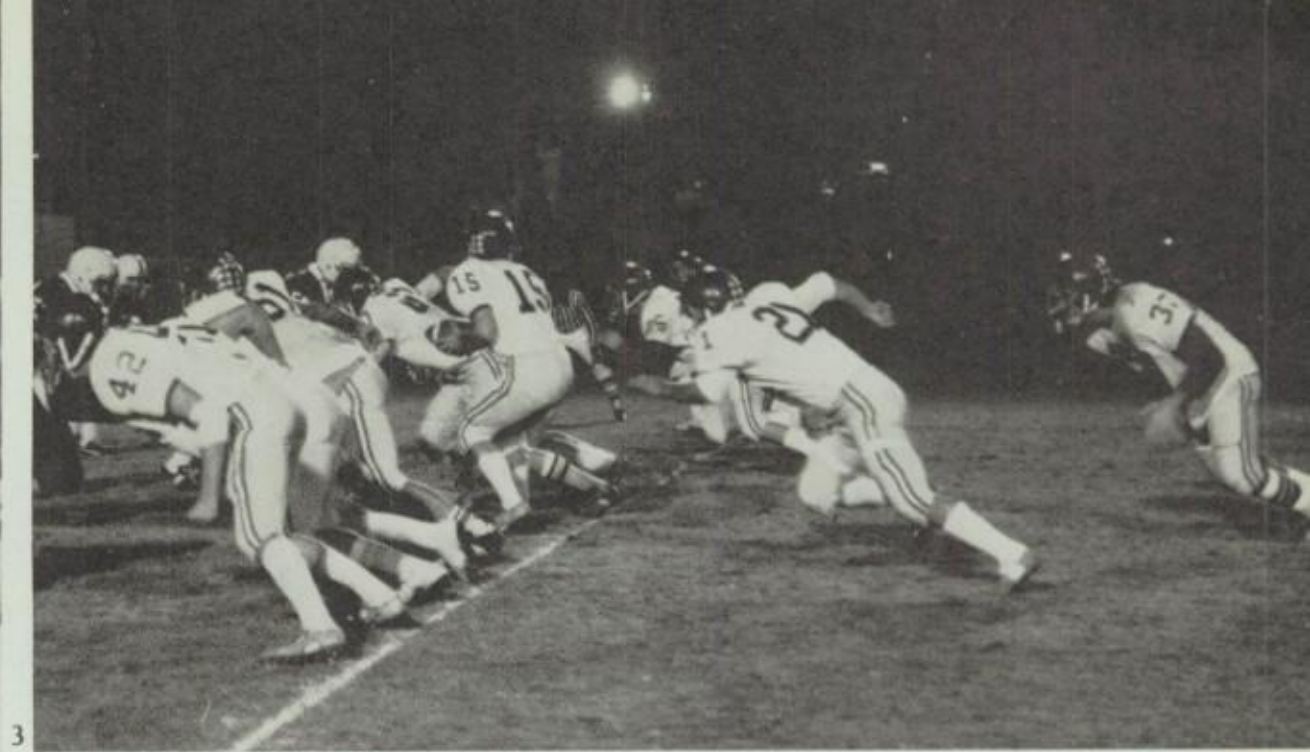

juniors

Dick Brenner, Craig Copping, Perry Smith, Dan Ertel, Barry Kelly, Bill Anderson, and Ray Pevey forming a nucleus for next years team.

Row 5: Coach Dick Salter, Coach Doug Smith, John Igoe, Craig Copping, Richard Petty, Jerry Schilz, Mike F. Kevin Housman, Mitch Stone, Dan Ertel, Gary Forillo.

1. Eric Nelson leapt in excitement when center Todd Michero caught the winning touchdown pass against Temple City.

2. Long kickoffs, field goals, and punts made kicking specialist Mike Lansford a valuable asset to the Apache team.

3. The Apache offense charged forward as quarterback Dick Brenner turned to hand off to fullback Mike McLellan.

4. Dave Anderson (74), Mike Elder (44), and Chris Linnin (71), prepared to help Dan Quinlan (52) and Ernie Isensee (61), tackle a Bishop Amat runningback.

5. Mike Elder lowered his shoulder and prepared to flatten Temple City's quarterback.

J.V. Football

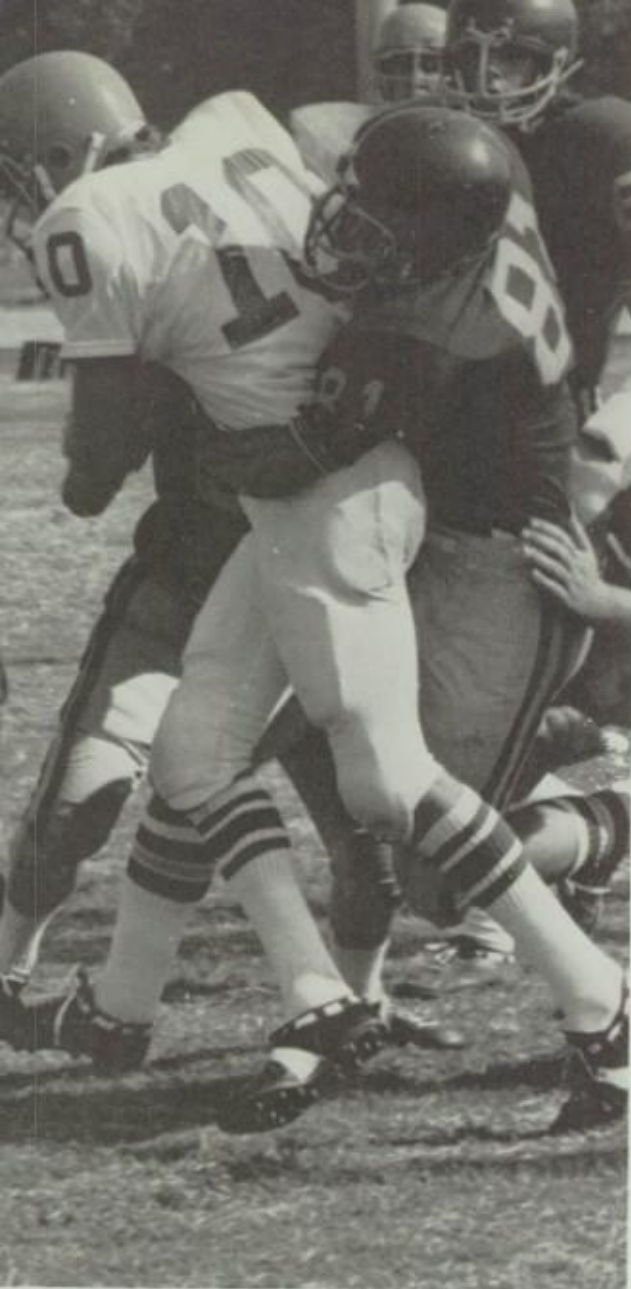

The Junior Varsity Football Team had a tremendous season, coming in second place in the Pacific League. Quarterback Phil Mellado was a great asset to the squad. He and offensive end, John Frassrand, are bright prospects for the varsity team of next year. Despite early prophecies by both the coaches and players of a losing season, the team went on to win five games out of nine, and four out of six league games. The coaches felt this unexpected

success was due to the good morale and high spirit displayed by the team. Kevin Housman, Mike Stone, John Willis and Mark Mollman who played on both offensive and defensive squads were also outstanding members of the team.

1. Halfback Bob Ross held a San Marino defender at bay while Phil Mellado set up to pass.
2. A courageous attempt to block a West Covina extra point was made by the J.V. defensive line.
3. The Apache speciality team, lead by kicker Mike Stone, was an essential part of the J.V. squad.
4. Brett Fanning struggled for extra yardage as a West Covina defender tried to hold him back.
5. Mike Stone put a crushing tackle on West Covina's quarterback and stopped him dead in his tracks.
6. Quarterback Phil Mellado dashed for an opening as the powerful Apache offensive line blocked.
7. John Frassrand eluded a West Covina tackler as he headed for the goal.

Dozier, Alan Melkesian, Chris Antonio, Bob Ross, Coach Stafford. Row 3: Steve Altmayer, John Frassrand, Ken Russell, Tom Stokley, Glen Lauman, Ben Cazares, Keith Clark.

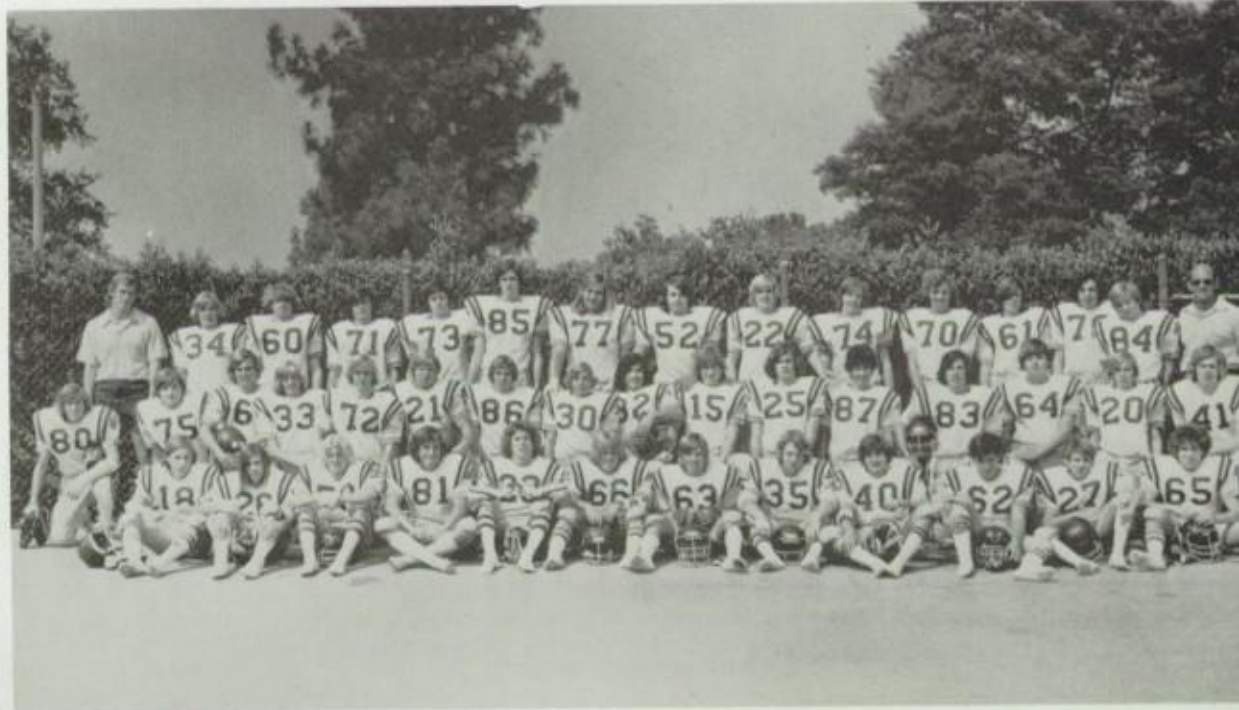

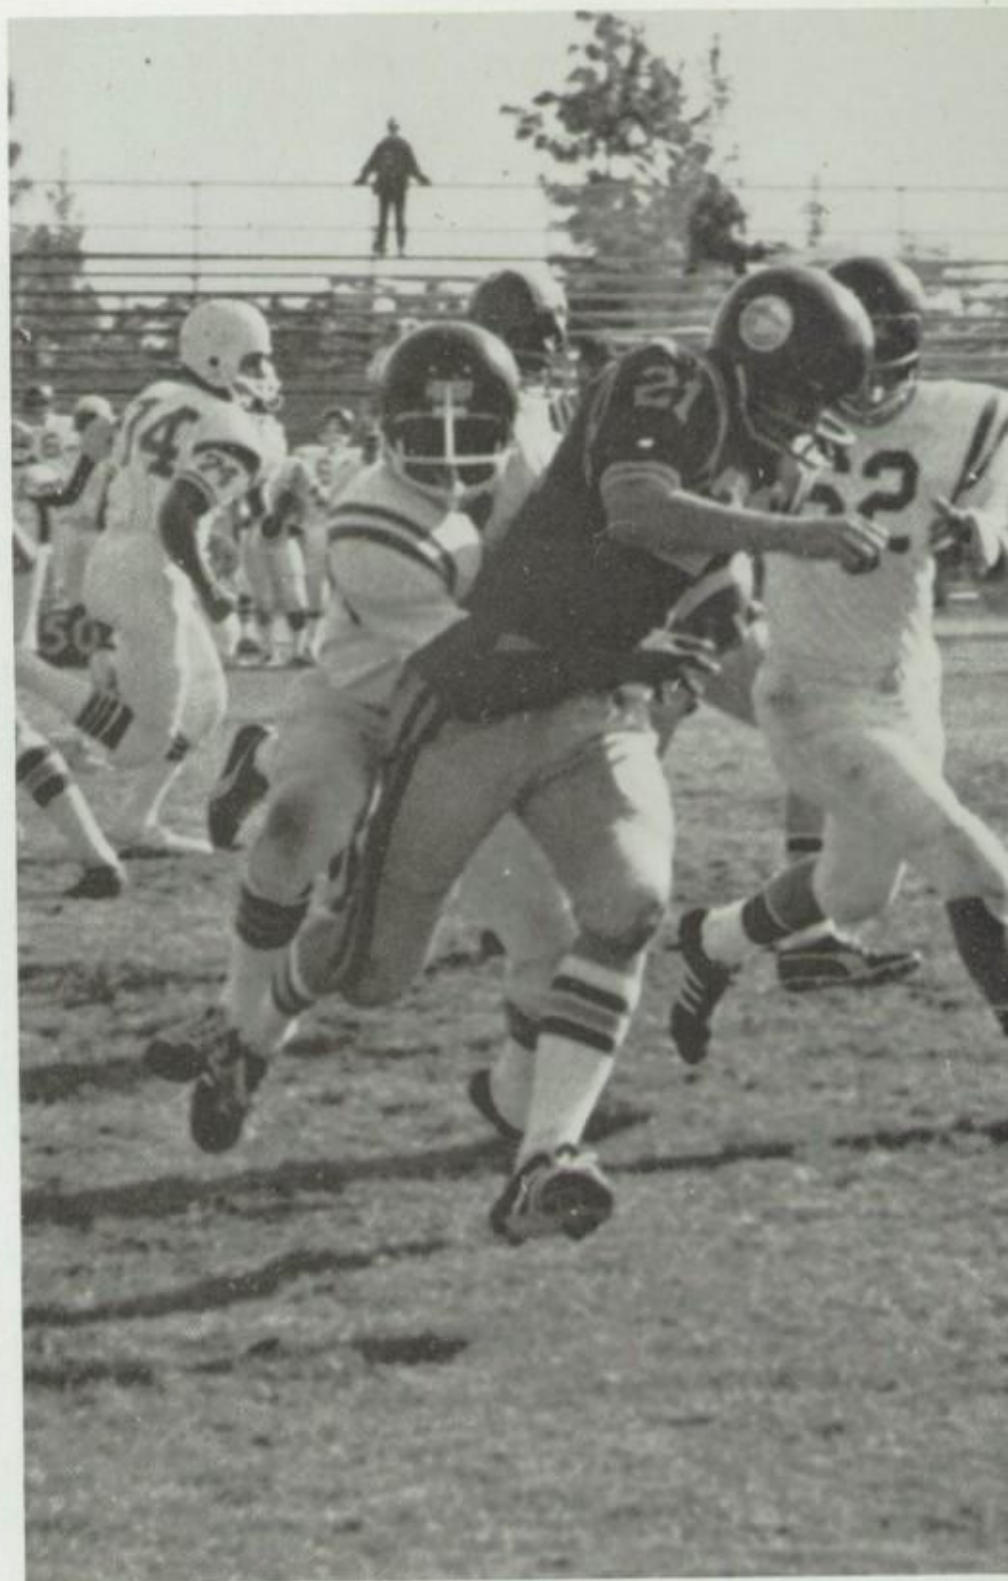

Sophomore, Frosh-Soph Football

The Sophomore football team finished second by one point in the Pacific League. The highpoint of the season was a brilliant performance, in which they defeated El Rancho for the first time in six years. They finished the season with a 5-3 record. Led by quarterback Mark Kallen and runningback Jim Ursua the Sophomores had an excellent team with the help of their coaches. The Frosh-Soph team started the football season with "a lot of inexperienced

guys," in the words of Coach Ackerman. They finished with a fantastic surprise; a 6-2-1 record. They barely defeated El Rancho for the first time in six years, which was also an unexpected bonus. One of the key factors in the victories were the guys team work and perseverance.

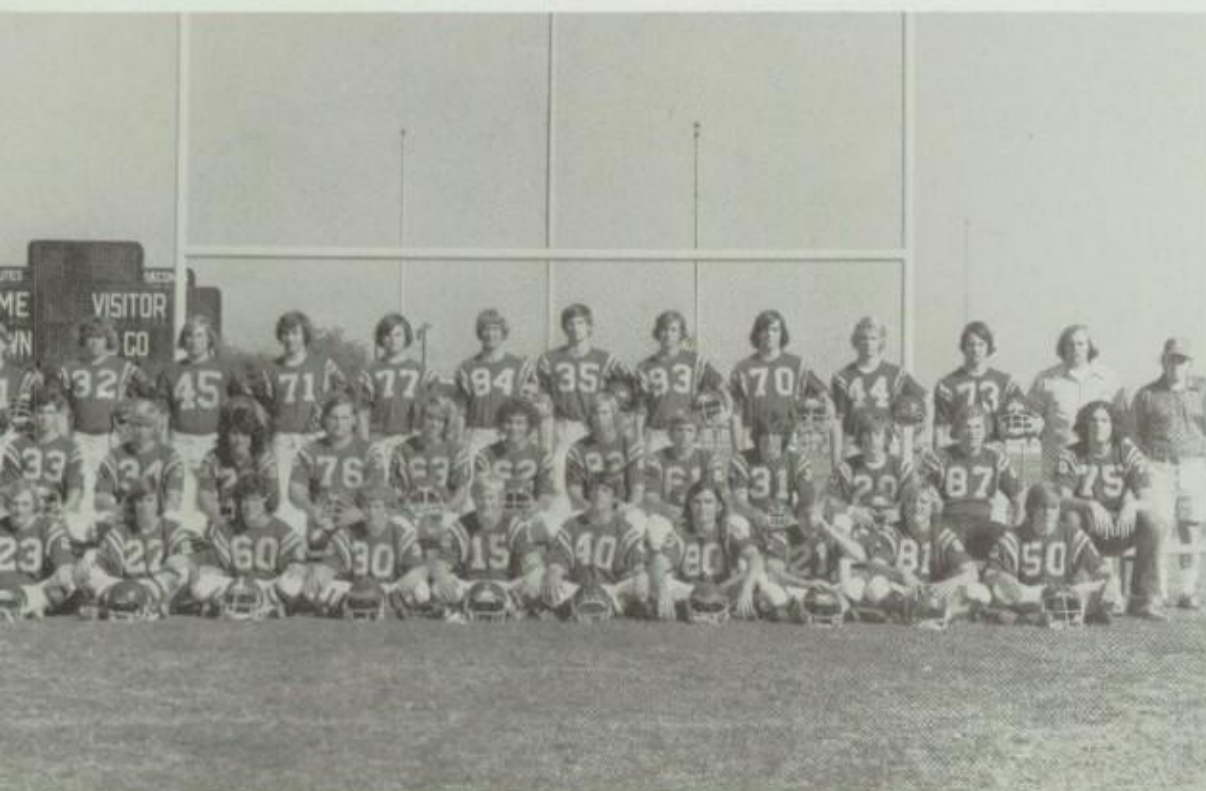

Frosh-Soph Football Team: Front Row: Nelson Young, Tim McGinnis, Don Allen, Cass Bevan, Jim Fleming, Troy Mendenhall, Greg Carroll, Charles Evans, Jack Fry, Chris Salerno, Carl Kracher, Greg Eaton. 1. Halfback Jeff Henderson (21), attempted to break away for a first down.
2. Quarterback Mike Murray (15), tossed off a pass in an attempt to score.
3. The Apache offense was very effective under the leadership of quarterback Mark Kallen.
4. The defensive line rushes in for the tackle, headed by Richard Scribner.
5. Mark Kallen pitched out to one of his running-backs as the offensive line cleared the way.
6. Linemen Gabe Ferramola, Steve Snyder cleared the way for a sizeable gain by an Apache running-back.

Cross Country

The Cross Country team had a matchless season, dominating

the Pacific League in all four divisions. Four out of five varsity runners; Chris Boyer, Kelly Crider, Bob Derby, and Jim Schoelz made the top all-league team. The Varsity team, with eight wins and only one loss, was lead by co-captains Bob Derby and Kelly Crider, who ran exceptionally well all year. Another strong varsity runner, Glen Roeters, won the annual Mt. Sac Invitational award with a fine race. The Junior Varsity team, with a nine and zero win record, placed their top seven men ahead of all opponents in the league meets. Lee Bruner ran strong all year and won the Junior Varsity league title. Max Ryan led the Sophomore team to a nine-zero season record, including two major invitational wins at Long Beach and Mt. Sac. This season returned the Harriers to the C.I.F. top ranking after a fourth place finish last year.

Ritchie Porch, Pat McLellan, Andy Walbert, Chris Friesen, Steve Yelich.

1. Top runners in their sophomore and junior years, Gary Lund and Glen Roeters showed the quality as seniors.

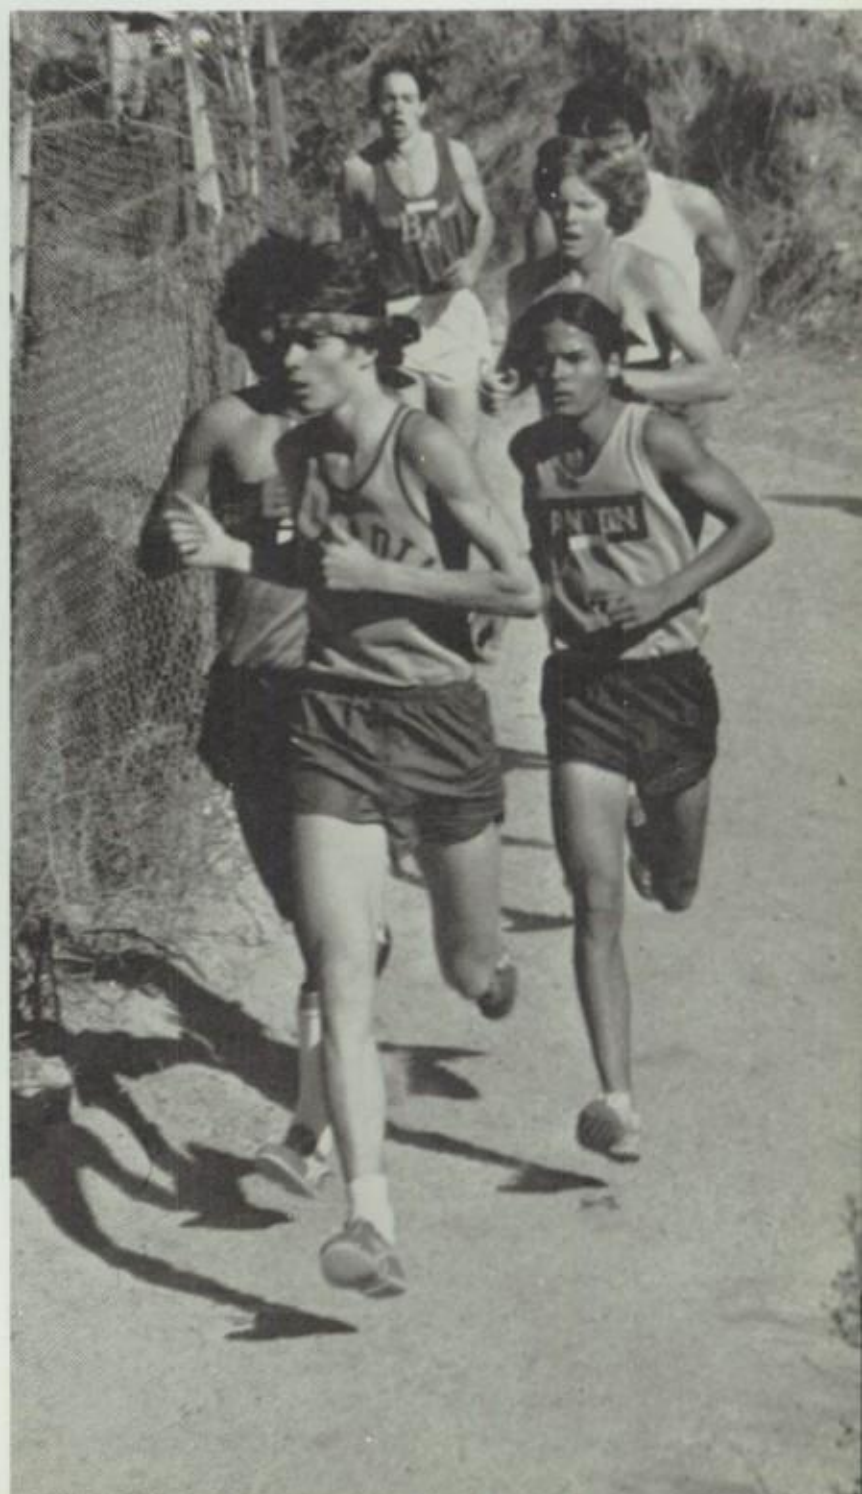

2. A key to the Harrier's success was good groupings such as this one, lead by Al Garcia.

3. Sophomore team leader, Max Ryan, proved his flair for running at the finish of the Mt. Sac Invitational Race.

Junior Cross Country Team: Front Row: Jeff Stoke, Dave Wat-Randy Jonassen, Dan Cutler, Greg Fitzsimons. Row 2: Lewis s, Kent Crider, Bob Lazzarini, Jan Bercik, Mark Hansen, Mark

Sparling. Row 3: Doyle Brewer, John Schultz, John Lewis, Ted Lubeshkoff, Rick Lehmann, Max Ryan, Chris Bellasis, John McAllister.

Water Polo

Water Polo made a big splash

as they gave their opponents a real dunking. Soph's record was 11 wins and 7 losses while J.V.'s came out with 6 wins and 4 losses. Our Varsity had 8 wins and 10 losses but all in all it was a good season. Many more people came out for Water Polo and they were coached by Coach Pettersen. John Harris made first team, All Pacific League and others, Rick Joy and Steve Bishop played well.

1. Mike Sells, 38, looked for an opening.
2. Pat Padilla, 36, battled an opponent to gain possession of the ball.
3. With splashes galore, the Soph's had a rousing game.

Varsity / J.V. / soph. swimming

'Fantastic' was the only way to describe the swimming teams. The varsity team had many outstanding players, including: Rick Joy, Steve Bishop, John Harris, Bob Oedekirk, and Vic Mason. The team ended season with a 10-2 record, which earned them an impressive second place in the Pacific League. The J.V.'s were undefeated, with a 12-0 score.

Among the many talented players on the J.V. squad were: John Verhage, Scott Petersen, Pat Sharky, and Jeff Paradis. The Sophomores took first place in the League with a 12-0 record. Bob Eberwine, Pat Padilla, Jeff Glaser, Chris Hudlund, Stig Hudlund and Rick Severn all gave excellent performances.

Good diving was also important in the swimmers' strategy. Divers Lydia Kennedy and Tammy Stevens were especially good throughout the season.

Petersen, David Horton, Victor Manon, Pat Sharkey, Oedekirk, Jeff Paradis, Rick Joy.

Sophomore Swimming: Front Row: Jeff Glaser, Dave Cutler, Bob Eberwine, Rich Deal, Rick Severn. Row Two: Coach

Tom Milich, Pat Padillo, Jeff Bruner, Chris Hudlund, Hudlund, Brent McElwee, Rodger Bogue.

Varsity Swimming: David Low, Rick Closson, Greg George Henderson, John Verhage, Keith Williams, Larry Rudd, Brent Deatherage, Matthew Giedt, Coach Ray Petersen.

Varsity Diving: Alyson Osborn, Farryl Stolleben, Tami Stevens, Susan Coon, Lydia Kennedy.

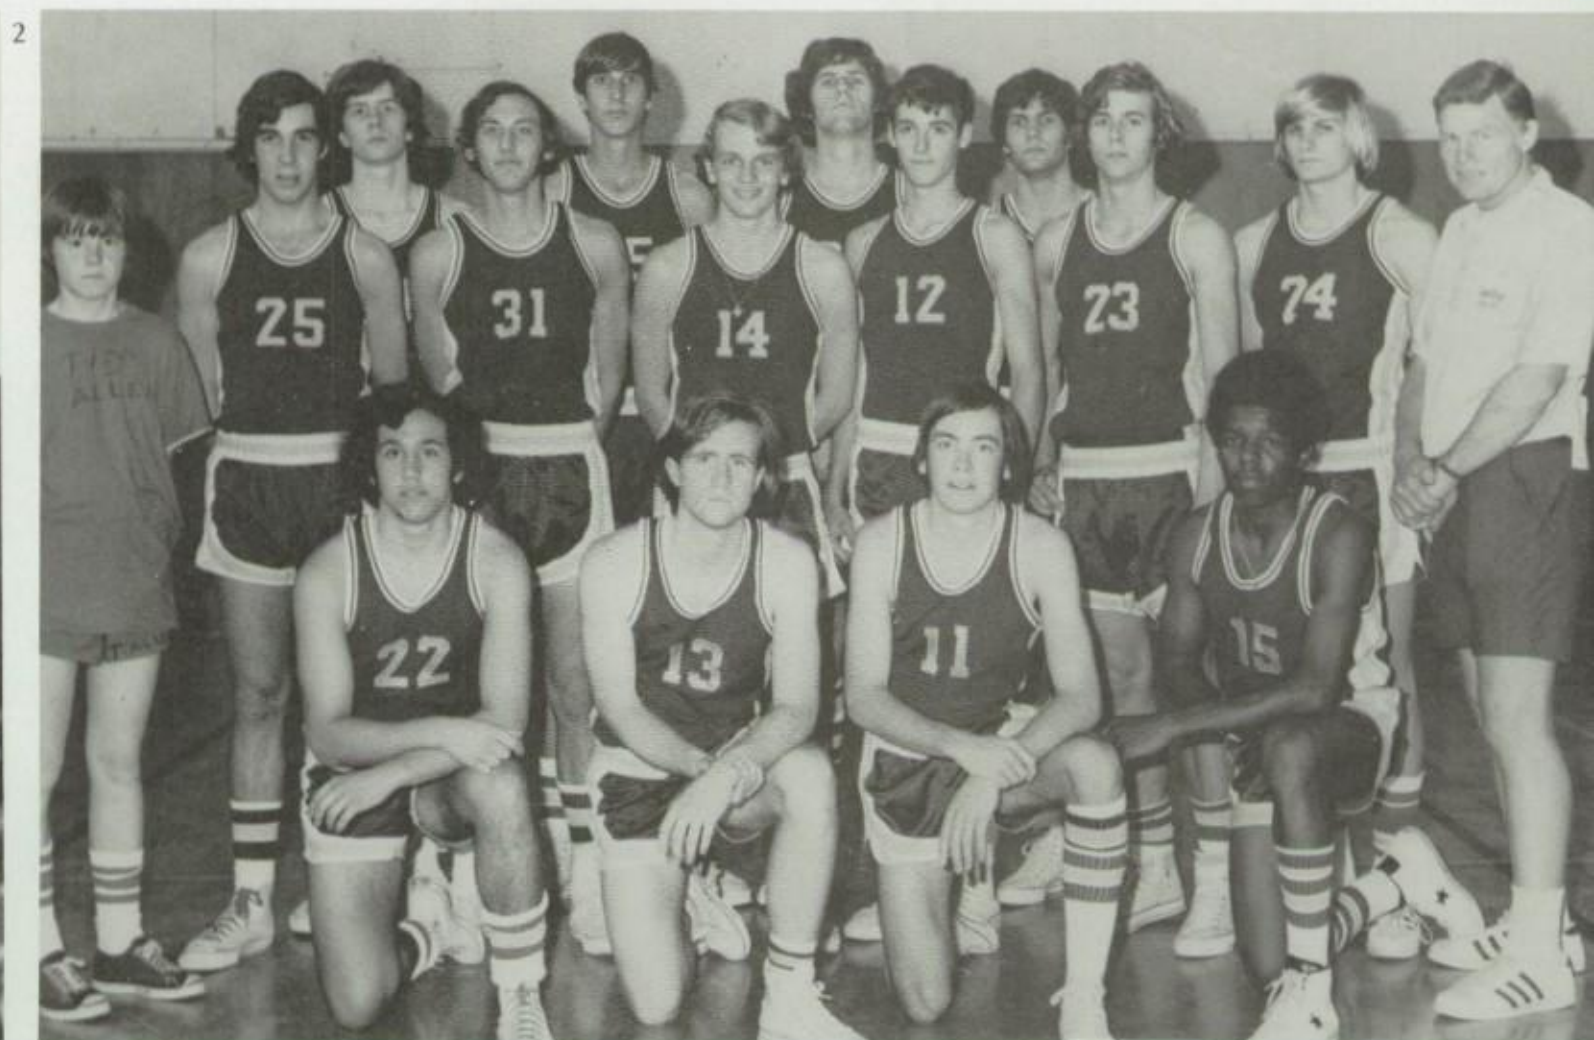

1. Organizing and directing home swim meets kept Coach Petersen busy.
2. Rick Joy, co-captain, went all out on his powerful butterfly stroke.
3. John Harris, the recipient of the California Swimmers Award, and Bob Eberwine, Most Valuable Swimmer for the sophomores, competed in an exciting meet against Monrovia.
4. Keith Williams played on the water polo team, in addition to playing on the swim team.

Varsity Basketball

The Varsity Basketball Team, although they finished a disappointing fifth, gained the respect of their opponents in the Pacific league. Hard work, team unity and a never say die attitude involved the Apaches in many exciting contests, which were decided only in the final minutes of play. The team's heart-breaking one point loss to league champion Pasadena was symbolic of the bad luck which plagued their efforts. Led by All-League center Dave Williams and Second team All-League guard Jeff Werderman, the Apaches compiled a fine pre-season record of 10 wins and 5 losses only to falter against more powerful teams in the Pacific League. Steady performance from the starters along with a strong bench bolstered the Apaches attack and helped the team in both winning and losing efforts.

tenacious

1. Junior forward Brian Grow outreached a St. Francis defender for one of his many rebounds.
2. Consistent play by All-League center Dave Williams made him a valuable asset to the Apache squad.
3. Randy Traweek, Dave Williams, John Kincheloe and Jeff Werderman battled for position to rebound a missed shot.
4. Straining to reach the ball, Jeff Werderman battled for a rebound during a contest against Blair.
5. Guard John Kincheloe eyed the basket as he prepared to pump in a 15 foot jump shot.
6. Anton Holefield's outside shooting was a tremendous help to the Apache offense.

J.V. Basketball

The Junior Varsity Basketball Team finished the season in third place in their league, with 6 wins and 4 losses. Their over all record was 16 and 6. The Apaches average score of 66 points a game was due greatly to the contributions of Brad Palfrey, Rick Van Kirk, Jorge Fernandez, Allan Barnett and Pat Flaherty who each averaged over 10 points a game. Defensively, strong rebounding and good.

hustle

enabled the Apaches to hold their opponents to a 55 point a game average. A talented bench, which was a decisive factor in the teams success this year, indicates that next years varsity squad should have a winning season.

1. Deadeye Pat Flaherty drilled in a sure 2 pointer.
2. Many fast breaks enabled the Apaches to stay in contention against some of their tougher opponents.
3. Rick Van Kirk charged between 2 Pasadena defenders to rack up 2 points.
4. Jorge Fernandez battled a Pasadena defender for a rebound as Allan Barnett looked on.
5. Forward Brad Palfrey drove toward the basket as he prepared to crash the boards.

Sophomore / soph-frosh basketball

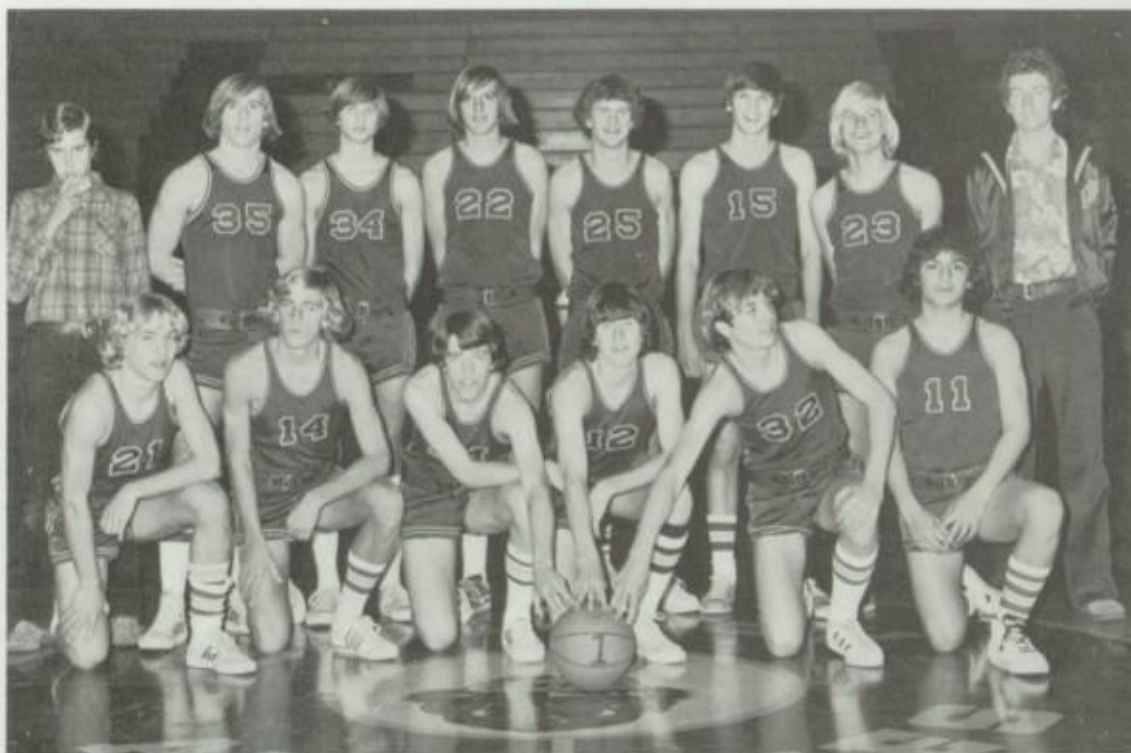

Led by Mike Querrey, Steve Moore and Pat Larkin, the Sophomore Basketball Team compiled a season record of 12 and 9. An outstanding 8 wins and 3 losses in preseason competition was over-shadowed by a dismal 4 and 6 league mark. The disappointment was compounded

by the loss of coach Broadhead and 3 Apache players. The Soph-Frosh fought many tough battles while turning in an 11 win, 10 loss season record. Good team effort with equal contributions from all players helped the Apaches gain a 5 and 5 record in league competition.

Sophomore Basketball Team: Front Row: Scott Welton, Pete Symes, Pat Larkin, Mike Murray, Bob Peterson, Mike Rambeau. Row 2: Dave Killian, Manager, Steve Moore, Dave

Bergeson, Mike Querrey, Dexter Blindberry, Steve Fleischer, Dave Garry, Curt Beasley.

5. 1. Coach Broadhead instructed his team on the finer points of the game during a preseason contest.
2. Mike Rambeau lofted a high fall away shot over a Glendale Hoover defender.
3. Mike Querrey displayed classic form as he completed one of his many free throws.
4. Good outside shooting by the sophomore team produced many high scoring games.
5. Coach Ackerman and Coach Thoma used a time out to plot strategy with their team.

Frosh Basketball Team: Front Row: Steve Crane, Dave Dan Niven, Mark Miller, Jay Langsdale, Eddie Fallon, Taylor, Curt Copping. Row 2: Coach Dave Thoma, Todd Sensenbach, Eric Esterand, Nick Petralia, Pat Padilla, Don Hageman, Scott Slater, George Gilbert, Coach Dave Ackerman.

Golf / tennis

For the first time the sophomores dominated the Apache golf team. The team was made up of seven sophomores, three juniors, and one senior. Although the duffers had two valuable returning lettermen, Kevin Gibson and Dave Lipton, their season wasn't as successful as it might have been. However, Coach Paul Duhart was by no means disappointed by the team's showing.

The tennis team had a great year, not least because of their highly successful record. This record reflected the hard work the team to prepare for their matches. Coach Bill Stafford was very proud of the team, and he felt it was the school's strongest team since 1970.

put out

Var. / j.v. soccer

The varsity soccer team had an outstanding

year, winning Pacific League. Mike Lansford, Paul Stowitts, Dave Denney, and Jeff Carroll, all made all CIF. Eric Nelson was commended for the most improved soccer player, and an honorable mention was given to Bryan Oatman. The team developed a lot of skill and were talented and coordinated. Next year's team looked very promising with returning players. Special thanks went to Coach George Taylor who volunteered his services. The J.V.'s did very well also winning their league. Outlooks are bright for next year's soccer teams.

1. Bryan Oatman's skillful ball handling made him a definite scoring threat to the opposition.
2. Powerful offense and good defense made goalie Jeff Carroll a lonely player throughout the season.
3. Defensive star Jeff Carroll always kiked the ball away from the goal whenever his opponents came close to scoring.
4. Precision passes between Apache players kept them on the offense most of the time.
5. Eric Nelson's perseverance and hustle earned him the most improved player award.

Varsity / j.v. wrestling

Grappling and grunting, the Varsity and the Jr. Varsity wrestling teams got a hold

on things. The J.V.'s, with a season record of 5-3 and a league record of 3-2, took third in the Pacific League. The Varsity finished with a 5-7 record and took second place in the Pacific League with a 4-1 record. Captains, Dennis Gallagher and Jeff Wallick, weighing in at 178 and 106 lbs. respectively, were league champs and made the CIF competition. Ron Eaton, at 156 lbs., was league champ, also. Coach Burke, with assistant Coach VanStralen, led the teams to many victories and both teams finished the season with fine records.

3. Jeff Wallick made his move in the Beverly Hills Tourney.
4. John Molden and Dennis Guida perfected a few techniques while practicing.
5. Arcadia wrestled successfully against Dominguez.

Varsity Track

The Varsity Track team was very dedicated

the team members worked out daily to stay in peak physical condition for their meets. The team was able to count on good performances from several returning members. Dave Anderson, Rick Salkeld and Larry Mocknik were excellent athletes, setting records which would present a formidable challenge to future runners. The 46 team members competed in more than 25 track and field events.

1. As an all-league football player, Dave Anderson again showed his capacity for breaking records as he put the shot put.
2. Larry Mocknik, another record breaker, consistently placed first in all his sprinting events.
3. Hurdler, George Davis, was also involved in many other school activities such as; the musical and Chanteurs.
4. Ex-Pasadenan, Lee Bruner ran long distances which were a carry over from his excellent record on the Cross Country team.

J. varsity / Soph. track

The J.V. and Sophomore Track teams held out the promise of a very successful season in 1977. The teams produced such promising players as Jim Ursua, Bucky Margett, Max Ryan, Tony Gianni, and Gabe Lopez on Sophomores. Whereas Bill Carlson, Rick Webber, and Milton Rapp performed for the Junior Varsity. Arcadia track fans had good reason to look forward to 1977.

1. Max Ryan found that the long hours of workouts really paid off when running the mile.
2. Bill Carlson, ex-Apache football player, was the star of many a 100-yd. dash for the Junior Varsity.
3. Bart Payne not only sang his way to fame as a Chanteur, but also ran along with relay member, Jim Stroud.
4. Don Phillips who frequently ran for both Varsity and J.V. displayed a unique style that gave the teams a top-ranked member.
5. Sophomores, Dan Wilson, Mike O'Brien, and Mike Williams, always gave the other team a tough race when striving for first, second, and third places.
6. Dan Wilson, as first leg for the Sophomore relay team, took a first place for the Apaches in competition against other highly ranked schools.

1. Perry Smith sneaked away to second base when the pitcher was off guard.
2. Brad Palfrey displayed a talent for stealing bases.
3. The team had 3 very strong and reliable senior pitchers, among them Mark Benson.
4. Steve Wright was able to reach to the base before the baseman caught the ball.
5. Eric Albertson was also very good defensively.
6. The Apache baseball players' ability to run fast and slide quickly allowed them to score many runs.

Varsity Baseball

"Work to improve" was the motto of the varsity baseball team, as they had no returning lettermen, and Coach John Meiers was coaching the team for the first time. The team practiced for two and a half hours a day, six days a week. Due to good coaching and the players'

dedication

the team was in great condition by the time the league games started. Their strong pitches, solid defense, and team depth led them to many impressive victories. Although their inexperience did cause them several errors, this halted as the season progressed, and the players became more talented.

Varsity baseball / junior varsity baseball

While the varsity baseball players were proving that they were very much the team from Arcadia, the junior varsity baseball team worked hard to take the championship title. They began their season by capturing first place in the El Segundo Tournament, an impressive

victory. During the tournament, Ron Cummings made the best defensive play when he threw out a potential tying run at the plate in center field. Jeff Carroll was named the most valuable player of the tournament.

Junior Varsity Baseball Team: Front Row: Tony Arguelles, Tom Rochetto. Row 2: Craig Copping, Gary Forillo, Alan Melkesian, Ron Summers, John Ballard, Phil Santana. Row 3: Paul Sahm, Scott Long,

1. Varsity player Brad Palfrey never let the ball beat him to the base.
2. Catcher Tom Rochetto provided the junior varsity team with a powerful bat at the plate.
3. Varsity first baseman Luke Lynch and pitcher Mark Benson kept the runner at first base.
4. Ron Cummings pleased his teammates with his homerun.
5. Gary Forillo proved to be a great asset to the team.
6. Paul Sahm was the most talented pitcher on the junior varsity team.

1. Dave Lokietz often managed to hit the ball for a homerun.
2. The sophomore baseball pitchers kept their opponents from scoring runs.
3. A fine group of batters scored many runs for the team.
4. Not many opponents were able to block the powerful smashes of our net players.
5. The key to the volleyball team's success was team unity.

Sophomore baseball / volleyball

Under their new coach, Mr. David Boulware, the sophomore baseball team tried to win the league title. The team also intended to finish their season undefeated. Their chances were very good with their exceptionally strong pitching a fine group of hitters, and an excellent defense.

The volleyball team had a successful season under Coach Paul Weinberger. The team's prospects at the beginning of the season looked excellent, and this soon proved to be the case.

Girls' Track Cross Country

The Varsity and J.V. track teams again produced excellent talent in the long distances. After the success of the track teams, Donna Machado and Barbara Sprague again led them to a first place in the mile. Many of the girls on the track teams worked out all year. They began running on the Cross Country team, bringing home with them the CIF titles of third place for Varsity and first place for the Junior Varsity.

Girls' Tennis

6 The girls tennis team defended their league title with a smashing

score of 10-0. However, they did not manage to beat the Beverly Hills girls tennis team in the C.I.F. competitions. The doubles teams failed to win any points, but the singles came through with five points, making the final score 28-5. Nevertheless, coach Diane Soldwedel was proud of the girls for working hard and winning the league competitions.

Girls' var. / j.v. basketball

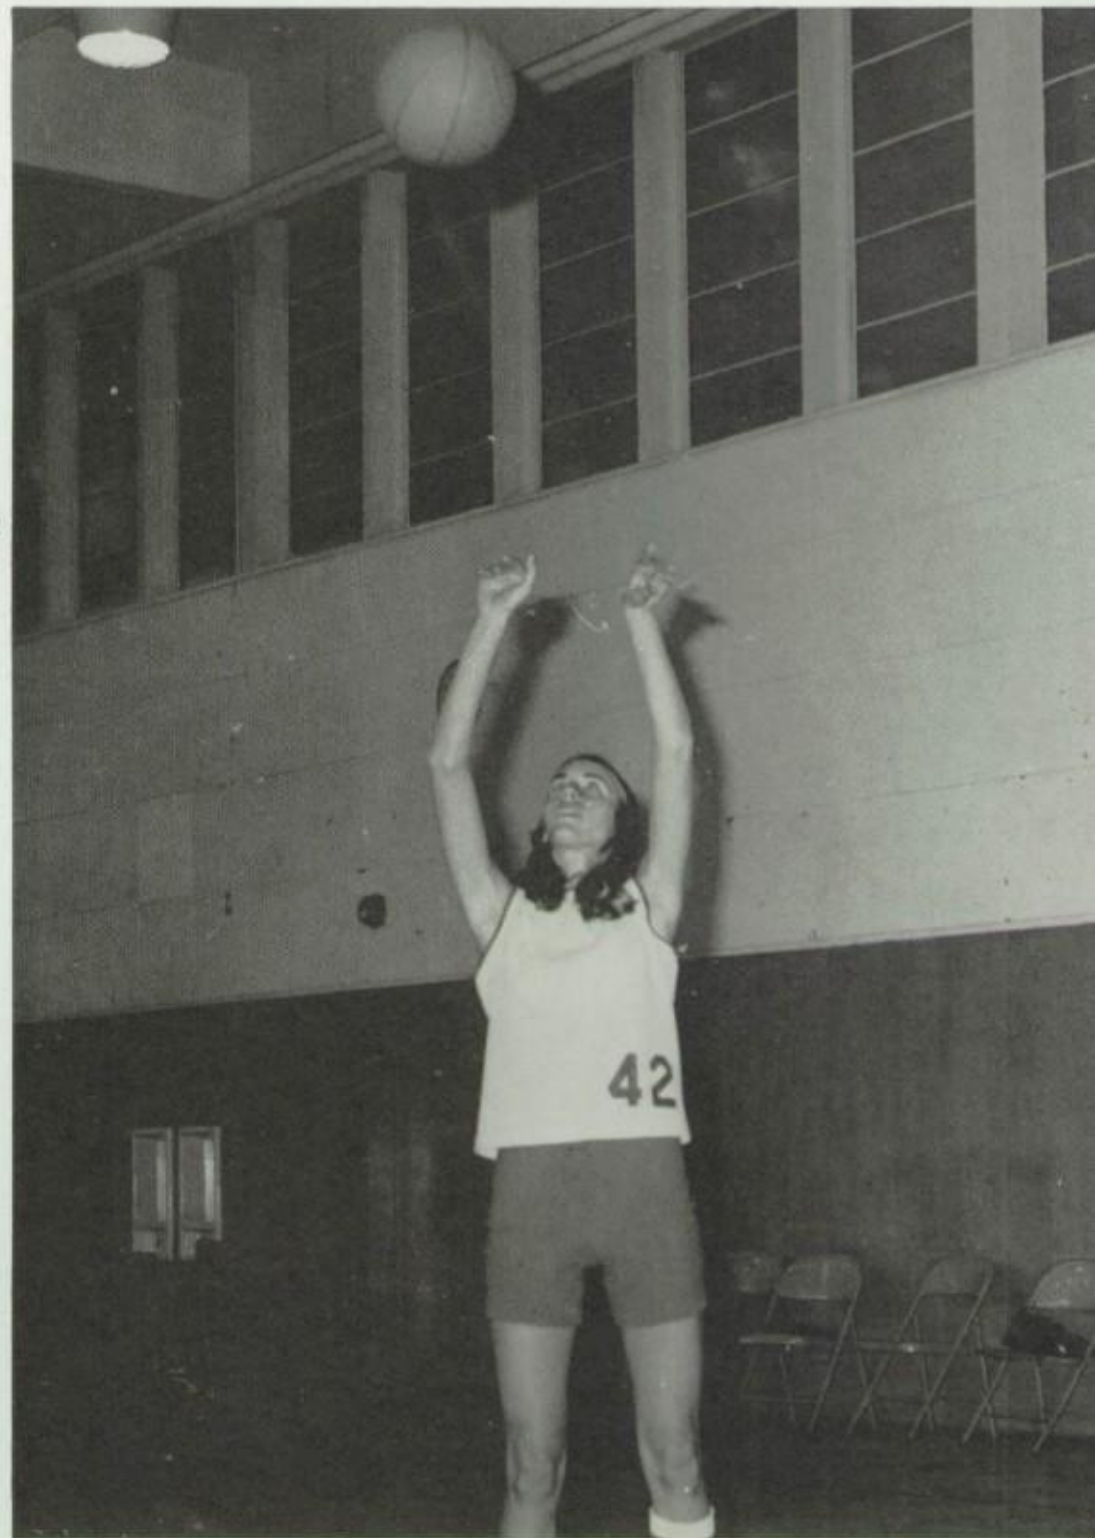

Both the varsity and J.V. teams had a winning season. The outstanding varsity starters were: Lisa Haderlein, Ann Cleg-horn, Sue Gregory, Nancy Coleman, Linda Mohr, and Jodi Roginson. The teams were fortunate to have Mrs. Anne Smith as assistant coach; Mrs. Smith was all-state center in college. The toughest competi-tion for both squads came from Alhambra and Pasadena. The varsity managed to defeat Pasadena, and went on to CIF com-petition. The J.V. team was graced by a number of talented players, among whom were Wendy Killeen, Dorothy Olender, Janet Petty, and Linda Nolton. Both teams were very spirited

and this proved to be the key to their suc-cess. Scorers and statistians for the teams were: Diane Krinke, Carolyn Grime, and Wendy Hagg.

Girls' volleyball / badminton

Girls' Volleyball and Badminton team members put forth an excellent

effort. Volleyball coach, Lynn Shultz, was extremely proud of the second place standings of both the Varsity and J.V. teams. Sue Gregory and Kim Wells won the MVP players award and Captains, Cathy Coyle and Anne Cleghorn, spirited the teams on. In the girls' gym, the Badminton team was energetically chasing birds across the courts. Coaches, Carol Slater and June Mies, attended classes to keep up-to-date on new techniques. The team had high hopes for a good season with such players as Mary Hammonds, Judy Frydendal and Sharon Karch. Both Volleyball and Badminton had good seasons and finished with fine records for the year.

Girls' Swimming

The Girls' Swim Team had a few setbacks in that they only got to use the pools occasionally. These problems didn't seem to discourage the girls' good for the season. According to Miss Rice, coach for the team, the league was extremely tough and the qualifying times were hard to meet. She did have several excellent swimmers in Chris Andrede, Karin Gay, Adrea Gibbs and many others. The season was their busiest yet, with 10 dual meets in addition to CIF preliminaries and finals. Even with odds against them, the outcome of the season was excellent.

chances

Board of Education / Booster Clubs

After opposing the new state proficiency tests for sixteen and seventeen year olds, the average student considered the Board of Education outspoken.

The Board again renewed open lunch for seniors and authorized bids for the purchase of new buses.

To assist in the parent-teacher communication, the P.T.A. sponsored coffees for sophomore parents. They sent home monthly newsletters to all parents to inform them of the coming events.

Promoting the athletic and musical events, the booster club members spent much time away from their jobs.

1. Board of Education: Gloria Horstman, James Harvey, Don Fickas, Lewis May, Kay Clifford.

2. John Nelson, Elbert Souders, Edward Ryan and Owen Van Buskirk were the district superintendents, responsible for the day-to-day management of the schools.

3. Superintendent Dr. Edward V. Ryan oversaw the entire district.

4. PTA President Elaine Larkin (left) was assisted by Gloria Koeppel at one of the numerous meetings held in a private home.

5. The Athletic Boosters' officers, along with the other members of the group, attended sports events throughout the year.

6. The Music Club supported our marching musicians throughout the competition season.

The class of '76 is one of great destiny. You will always be remembered as our Bicentennial class. You, like our forefathers, have been great builders for our school. Also, like the great men and women of history, you have contributed to our school in many ways. We will honor the class of '76 with a special logo on their diploma in honor of this special occasion. The years you have been at Arcadia High School have been wonderful ones for the staff and I, and we appreciate the friendship you have given us. As you go forward, carry with you not only the Spirit of '76, but the Apache spirit as well. Best of luck.

Dr. Richard Cordano
Principal

Principal / Assistant Principals

In addition to his many other duties, Dr. Richard Cordano coordinated the Career Day Breakfast Program and a tremendous number of Bicentennial events. Mr. Keavney involved concerned students in decision making when he organized a committee to discuss the smoking

problem. Mr. Askew's achievements included the creation of new courses and chairing a committee which rewrote graduation requirements. Planning Fifth Quarters and other events, such as Club Day, kept Mr. Anderson occupied. Mr. Harris tried to solve attendance problems through counseling and 'interviews' with students. The combined efforts of these men helped to make the year a profitable one for students and staff alike.

1. Dr. Cordano often took time out to assist students.

2. Mr. Anderson organized many successful extra-curricular events in his capacity as Assistant Principal in charge of activities.

3. Matt Mew, ASB President, consulted Dr. Cordano before making important decisions.

4. Part of Mr. Keavney's daily routine as Asst. Principal responsible for student discipline was talking with concerned parents.

5. Mr. Harris, Supervisor of Child Welfare, tried to reduce attendance problems.

6. Planning a curriculum which met the needs of the student body was the responsibility of Mr. Askew, Asst. Principal in charge of curriculum.

Counselors Secretaries / IBM Services

Counselors guided students in decisions ranging from an English class for next week to a life-time career. A new program of specialty assignments in which each counselor concentrated on different systems of colleges helped students in choosing between them. In addition to handling program changes, the counseling staff advised students on the high school equivalency tests.

Whether students and faculty needed help or just an occasional kind word, they knew the secretaries were the ones to see. Throughout the year, the secretarial staff aided incoming sophomores, veteran teachers, and everyone in between in coping with a sometimes confusing year. Despite problems with runs in her stockings, Nurse Merz managed at least to make any

feel welcome - if not always healthier. Mrs. Balaban worked hard to change classes for fickle students.

1. Counselors Mavis Dumbacher, John Thompson, Margret Gale, Max Cramer, Lois Iredale and Charles Gessford provided sound guidance and advice to the student body.

2. Mrs. Nickloff was 'the power behind the throne,' as she juggled appointments with student schedules.

3. Secretaries Linda Preston, Betty Mahr, Seddaris, Helen Roe, Patricia Kay, Vera Durr and Karol Fabbri were very much in touch with what was happening on campus.

4. Mrs. Roe and Mrs. Preston heard many ingenious tales as they prepared absence slips for students.

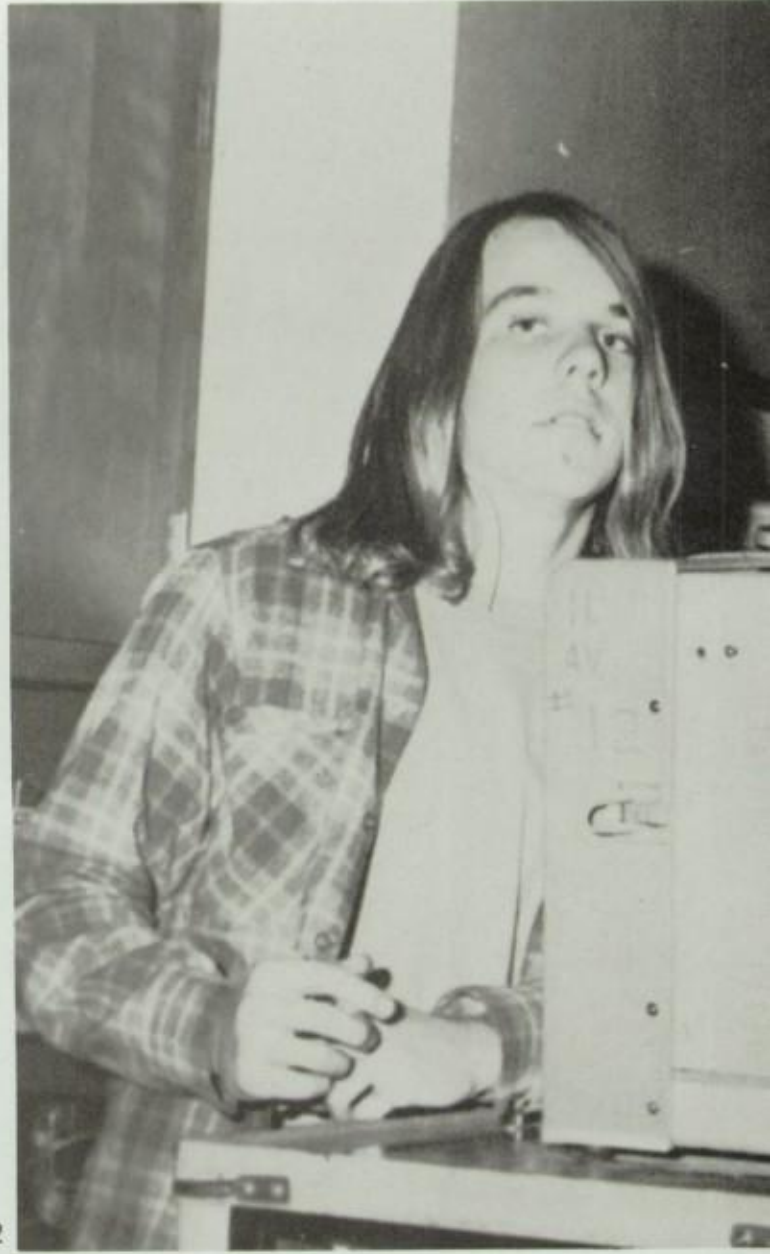

5. Mrs. Tisdale, along with Mrs. Kay (not shown) helped to lighten Dr. Cordano's workload.

6. Registration and quarterly class changes imprisoned Mrs. Balaban in her IBM office.

7. Nurse Merz saw to the health of students and staff.

Clerks/Librarians

Every day proved to be a busy one for the clerks, who were kept occupied by the demands of an often unorganized student body and faculty. The task of checking out books was simplified for the library clerks by a new, efficient detection machine which prevented books from being 'accidentally' taken from the library. Despite a rip-off

and a surplus of Bicentennial frisbees, the Student Store successful due to the efforts of Mrs. Joiner and her reliable student staff.

1. Making information available as it was needed was the responsibility of Mrs. Smith, records clerk.

2. Mrs. Mills, audio-visual clerk, supervised the use of films, records, and projectors.

3. The hardworking library clerks, Mrs. Lamen, Mrs. Kelly, and Mrs. Adams, took a well-earned break.

4. Mrs. Richardson, textbook clerk, took time out to visit her 'neighbor,' Mrs. Joiner, who was at work next door in the Student Store.

Custodians / Food Service / music

The Arcadia custodial crew found that their job was made easier by the addition of a new electric cart, which made it much easier for them to carry their tools and supplies. The addition of several new delicacies, such as the Apache Double Burger, to the menu was a cause of enthusiasm

for the Food Service Staff, as they attempted to provide the student body with nutritious food. Furnishing Arcadia with fine music, as usual, Messrs Reinecke, Work, and Aldstadt brought out the music department in many parades, bicentennial celebrations, and concerts.

1. Mr. Nylander, head custodian, directed his staff in what seemed an unending drive to clean up the campus.

2. The custodians took occasional joy rides in their new cart.

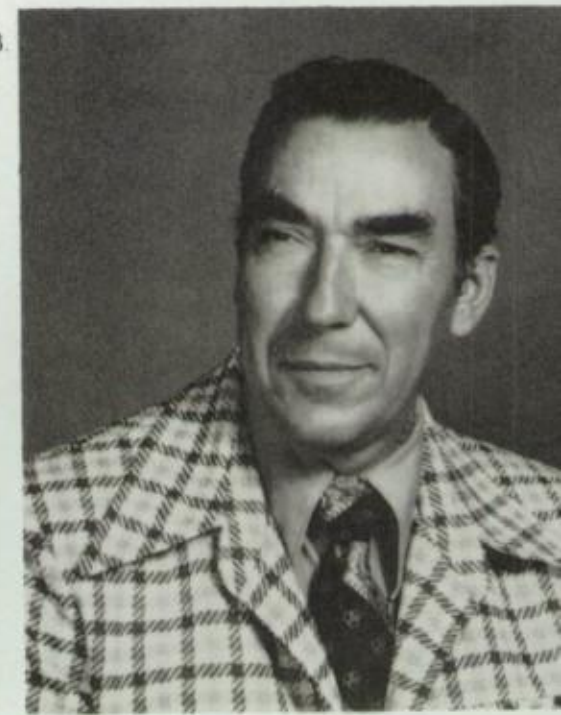

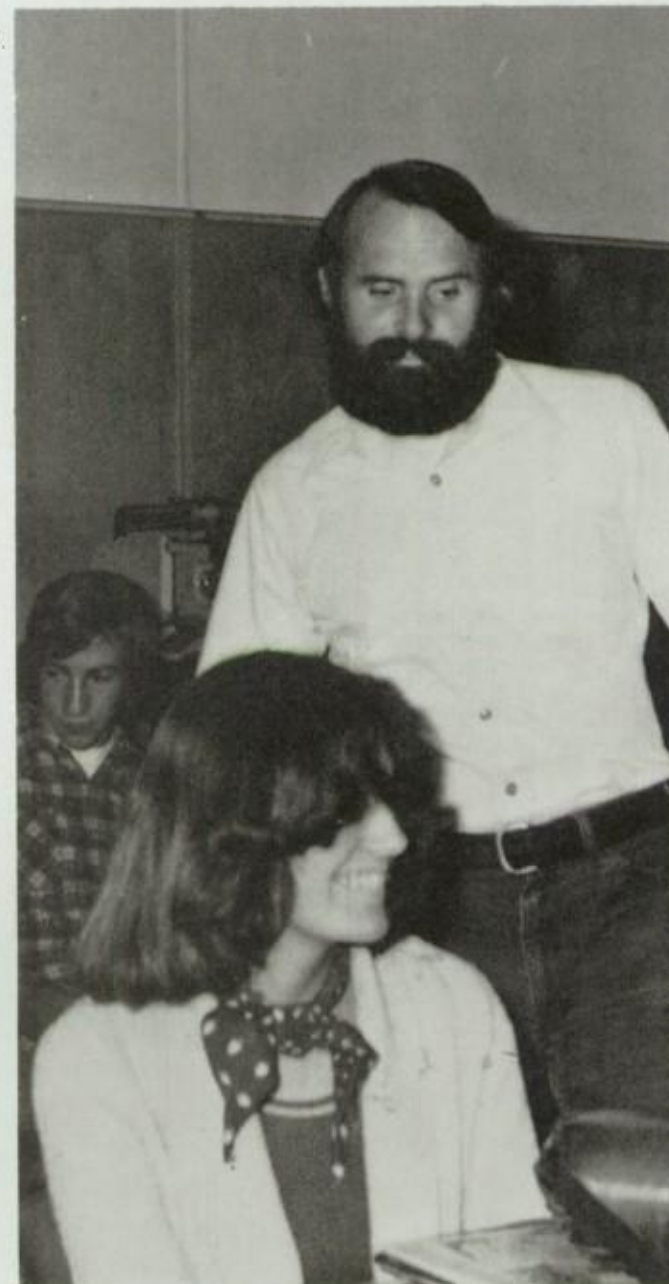

3. Mr. Work, the new band director, conducted the talented musicians to No. 1 in competition at their parades.

4. The Food Service attempted to provide meals which the students would enjoy.

5. Mr. Aldstadt found his new assignment as Chanteur director a welcome change from the grueling routine of band director.

6. The orchestra was directed through a series of fine performances by Mr. Reinecke.

9

English

As new head of the English Department, Mrs. Driver tried to initiate a variety of new classes in order to decrease the size of overloaded

classes.

A composition class designed especially for Lab Biology students was a welcome addition to the schedule. The most popular classes included Oral Communication and Science Fiction and Fantasy. M.G.M. students opened their play-going season by seeing the "Odd Couple" at the Shubert in Century City. Mr. Silverstein's Parody and Satire classes visited Forest Lawn twice during the year. A new addition to the teaching staff was Mrs. Thompson, a former teacher of the Educationally Handicapped class, who taught Literature Survey, Reading and American Drama.

For. Lang. / Bus. Ed.

The Business Ed. Department's main goal was to be responsive to students' goals and opinions. Towards this end, a Basic Business Skills class was established. In this class students were instructed in business-related activities such as filling out job applications. Typing was once again the department's most popular course, with four classes of varying difficulty offered to aspiring typists.

The major event in the Foreign Language Department was the addition of Les Brown to the staff. He played the dual roles of Spanish teacher and hall monitor.

1. Les Brown — Spanish.
2. Beryl Druker — French.
3. Lotte Flaks — German.
4. Sal Trillo — Spanish.
5. Sheryl Parker — Spanish.
6. Bernadette Stoner — French.
7. Clara Primozich — Spanish.
8. Margarita Sanchez — Spanish.
9. Anne Gaydos — Shorthand.
10. Orman Sartwell — Advertising.
11. Fred Sundstrom — Bookkeeping.
12. Jeanne Ulmer — Typewriting.
13. Marlin Zabel — Typewriting.

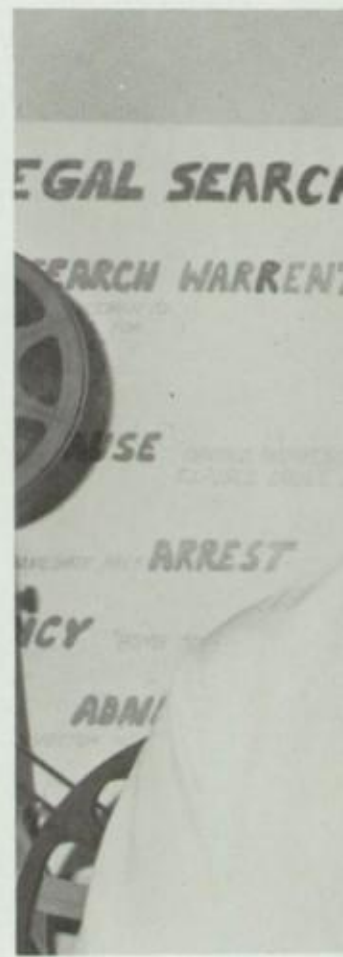

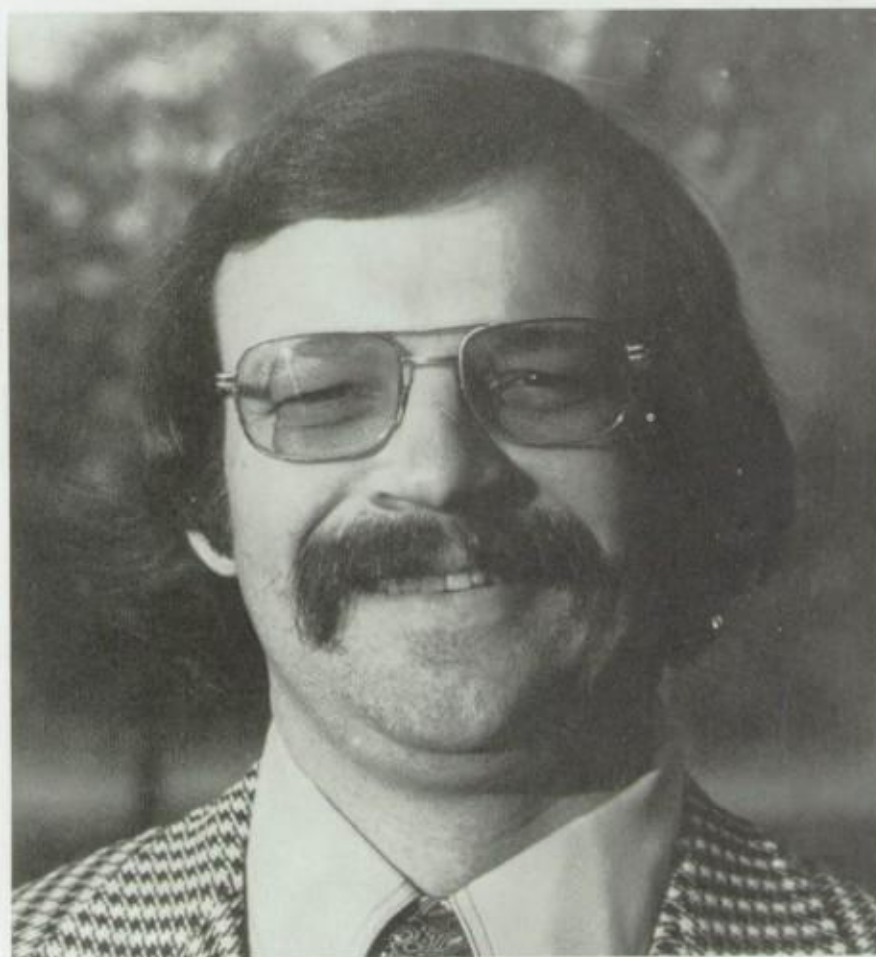

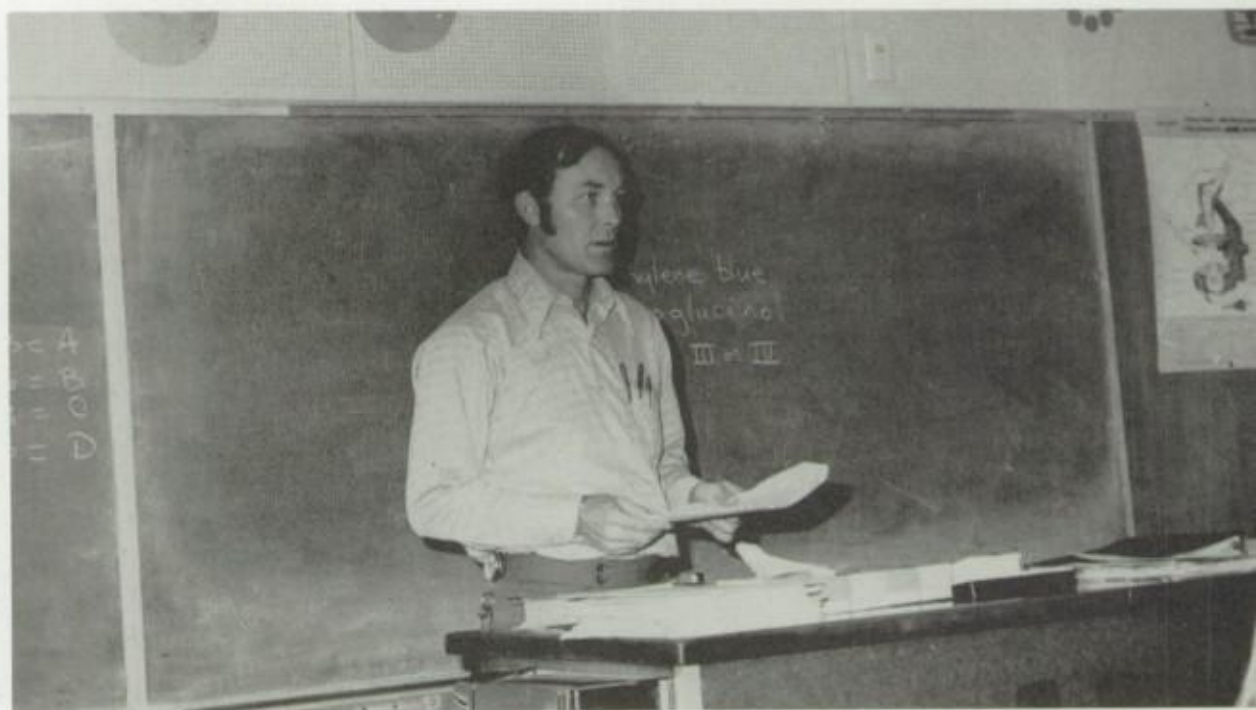

Science

Fame came to the Science Department in the person of George Sapleton. In 1975, he received the prestigious

"Teacher of the Year" award from the American Society of Chemists. In more mundane areas, the biology and physics classes were rearranged. Under the new system, students were able to take a semester each of Human Physiology and General Biology, or Ecology.

Physics teacher, Mr. Wayne Fountain was pleased to have two Physics "A" classes. This was a first, as was the presence of Mr. David Boulware, who taught Chemistry and Mathematics.

1. Kenneth Aberle — Botany.
2. Mike Allee — Lab. Biology.
3. Lennis Bartlett — Health Education.
4. David Boulware — Human Physiology.
5. Russ Bovie — Chemistry.
6. Wayne Fountain — Physics.
7. Fred Schwab — Lab. Biology.
8. George Stapleton — Chemistry.
9. Doug Wilks — Human Physiology.
10. Barry White — Biology.

Math / Spec. Ed.

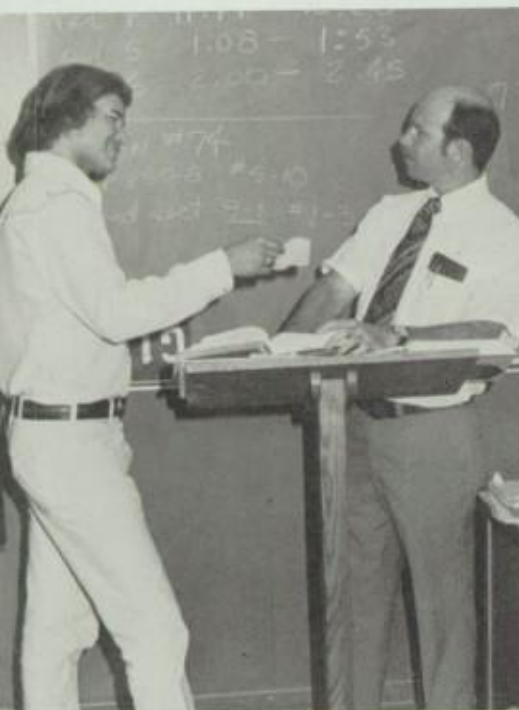

The Special Education department worked closely with Mrs. McIllyar of the Career Guidance Center and succeeded in placing Spec. Ed. students in jobs before their graduation. In addition, the department took frequent field trips to local points of interest such as Exposition Park and the Pomona Fair.

Students considering a career in Spec. Ed. served as helpers. The contributions made by Ben Dennison, in his role as vice-president of the California State Federal Council for Exceptional Children, served to improve the lives of the kids not only in Arcadia, but throughout the state as well.

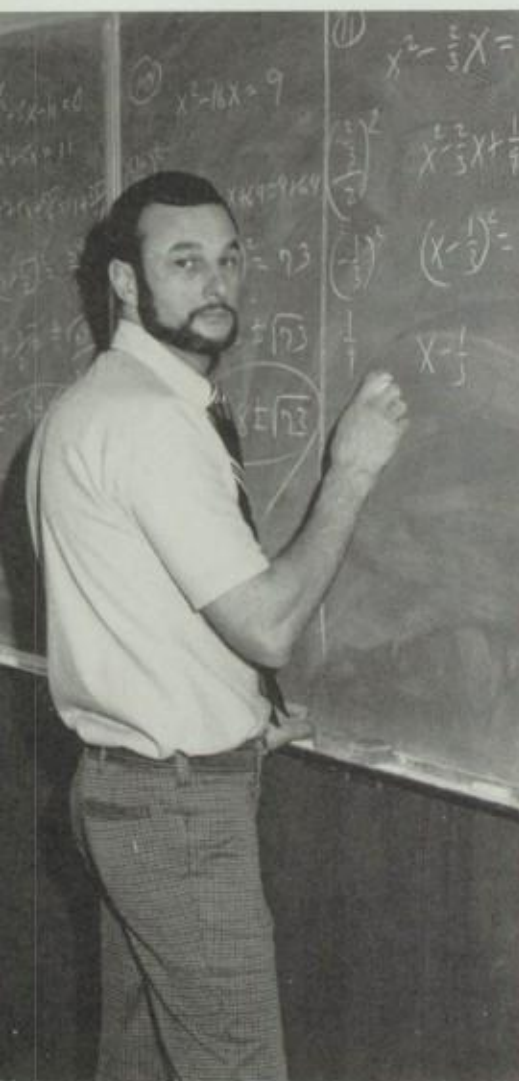

The pride of the Math Department, the Math Team, did very well in their competition. André Burke, Chris Noble, Stacey Brogden, Roger Conover, and Scott Mittman, who participated in the event, placed in the top four in the contest at Occidental College. They also participated in the Pomona College Bowl and the Mathematical Assn. of Amer. test. The department also saw the addition of math / science teacher, Mr. David Boulware to their roster.

leapfrog

9. Scott Chisam — E. H.
10. Ben Dennison — Special Ed.
11. John Kinikin — Geometry.
12. Gail Stephens — E. H.
13. Stephen Rowe — Algebra.
14. Rex Welty — Algebra.

Ind. Art / Home Ec. / Art

The Industrial Arts department offered two very new classes. Consumer Auto Mechanics was a quarter co-ed class which enabled students to become familiar with the function and maintenance of their cars. Students who did not look forward to a life of aimless

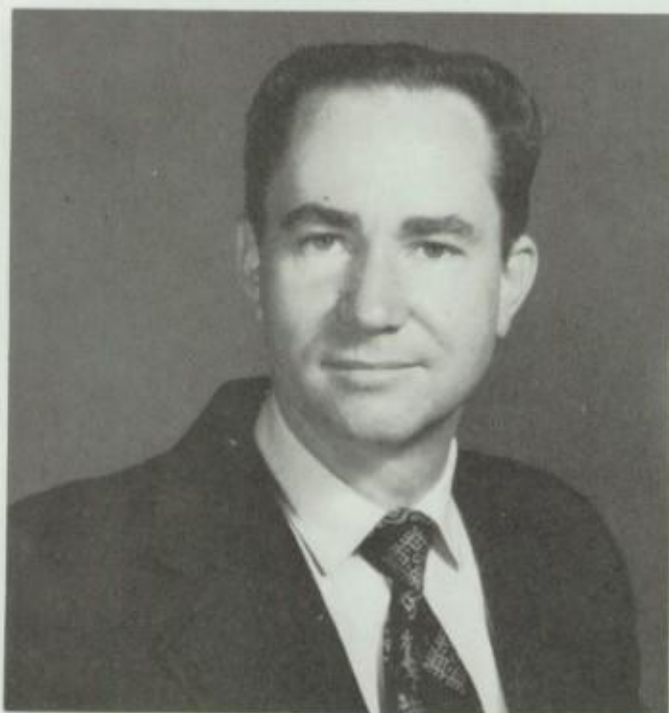

groping

in the tool box when something went wrong could take Consumer Maintenance. In this class, the curriculum consisted of three weeks each in three areas of electrical wiring, plumbing, and woodworking.

The goal of the Home Economics department was to help prepare students to perform domestic duties and pursue a career at the same time. The beginning and Advanced sewing classes frequent purchasing trips to the L.A. Garment District proved to be interesting and inexpensive. A new class, Costume production designed and constructed all costumes for the musical "George M."

The highlight of the year for the art department was the arts Festival run for students. The department offered a widely varied choice of classes with courses in Ceramics, Photography, Fabric Design, Jewelry making and graphic arts to name a few. Mr. Buttler was accepted to study the master of fine arts degree at U.C.L.A.

1. Bill Jokkel — Technical Drawing.
2. Dan Lucero — T.V. Tech.
3. Tom Morgon — Auto.
4. John Ward — Industrial Metal.
5. Frank Petraccoro — Electricity.
6. Charles Peters — Woodcraft.

Social studies

The Social Studies department went crazy, as Psychology classes visited the Fairview State

mental hospital

in Costa Mesa. Other visits included the Stocks and Bonds classes' trip to a stock brokers' office.

Marriage and the family and Psychology were very popular offerings. However, the department won few friends among underclassmen when all classes which fulfilled the U.S. Government requirement were closed to Juniors and Sophomores. The move was widely viewed as an attempt to erect yet another hurdle in the path of students who wished to graduate early.

1. Fred Auburn — Foreign Policy.
2. Tom Broadhead — Psychology.
3. Ed Burke — 20th Cent. Am. Hist.
4. Louis Dodd — Cont. Am. Govt.
5. Harvey Goddard — 20th Cent. Am. Hist.
6. Ted Fisher — Colonial History.
7. Boyce Harris — 1929 to Present.
8. Ron Morris — History of Dissent.
9. Richard Onderdonk — Outstanding Americans.
10. Gerald Penny — Dev. of Civ.
11. Fred Peritore — American Pres.
12. Ray Petterson — Dev. of Civ.
13. Glenna Rasmussen — Psychology.
14. Jim Spain — State and Loc. Govt.
15. Paul Weinberger — Dev. of Civ.
16. Robert Wick — 20th Cent. Am. Hist.
17. Verne Willman Driver Ed. / Health Ed.
18. William Woods — Marriage and the Family.

Physical Education

The P.E. department tried to offer classes which would give students a basis to enjoy physical education for the rest of their lives, rather than just in high school. Thus, the curriculum was designed with the goal of evoking a real interest on the part of the students, whether in individual competition, such as wrestling, or recreational pursuits such as golf and bowling. Classes in self-defense, water safety, tap dancing, tennis and bicycling were examples of the type of classes offered to the students.

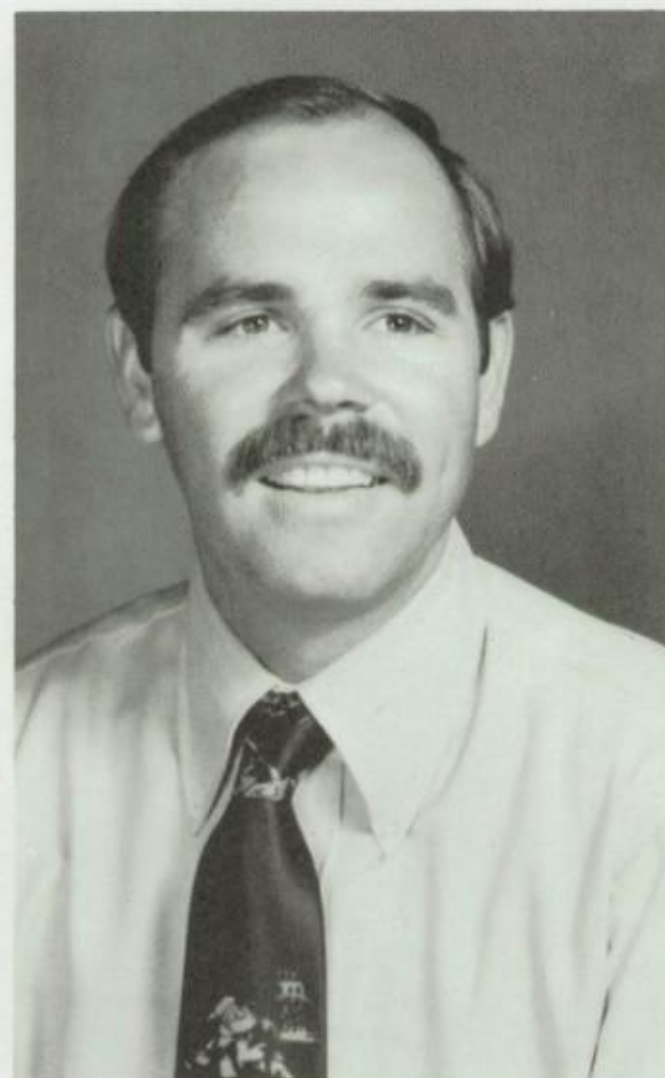

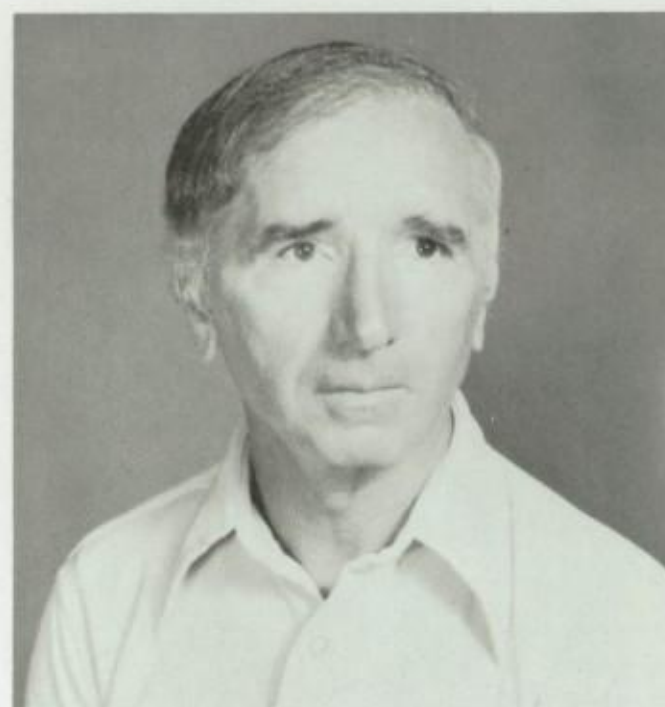

In the way of new programs, Adaptive P.E. was offered so as to meet the needs of students who required specialized attention for health reasons. Another new class, Figure Control, was the scene of many a valiant struggle to shift

to their proper places.

The program of competitive sports saw many changes. One was to bring athletic teams together earlier in the day in order to give them more time to practice. Coach Doug Smith, assisted by Scott Chisam, Mike Gordon, and Ellin Terrazone, assumed responsibility for the track team. The return of the girls softball competition brought many girls into competitive sports.

1. Dave Ackerman — Basketball.
2. Gerald Dohling — Basketball.
3. Paul Duhart — Karate / Judo.
4. Maryann Latham — Drill Team.
5. John Meiers — Basketball.
6. Jayne Rice — Swimming.
7. Lynn Schultz — Volleyball.
8. Carol Slater — Elem. P.E. Teach.
9. Diane Soddwedel — Tennis.
10. Vallie Robinson — Basketball.
11. Virginia Stone — Comp. Basketball.
12. Dick Salter — Varsity Football.
13. Doug Smith — Track.
14. Jean Voznick — Orchesis.

THOMAS E. MILLS
VICE PRESIDENT

Although the past is of great importance to us, it is the future where our opportunities lie, and to which we should direct our attention. This was the message I tried to get across. If we succeeded, it was only with the help of my friends, Mr. Lou Dodd and Bill Milne, and I am deeply grateful to them.

"As time goes on,
we forget the past.
In all our hurry
to remember the future."
As this year passed,
we remember the work
we put forth
to make this the best yearbook.
I want to say thank you to everyone who worked hard to give you the best of their talent.

I wish to express my sincere gratitude to the staff of the Arcadian. These people put in many difficult, tiring hours working to give the school the best book it has ever had. I think they succeeded — and I know that they deserve all the credit for this success.

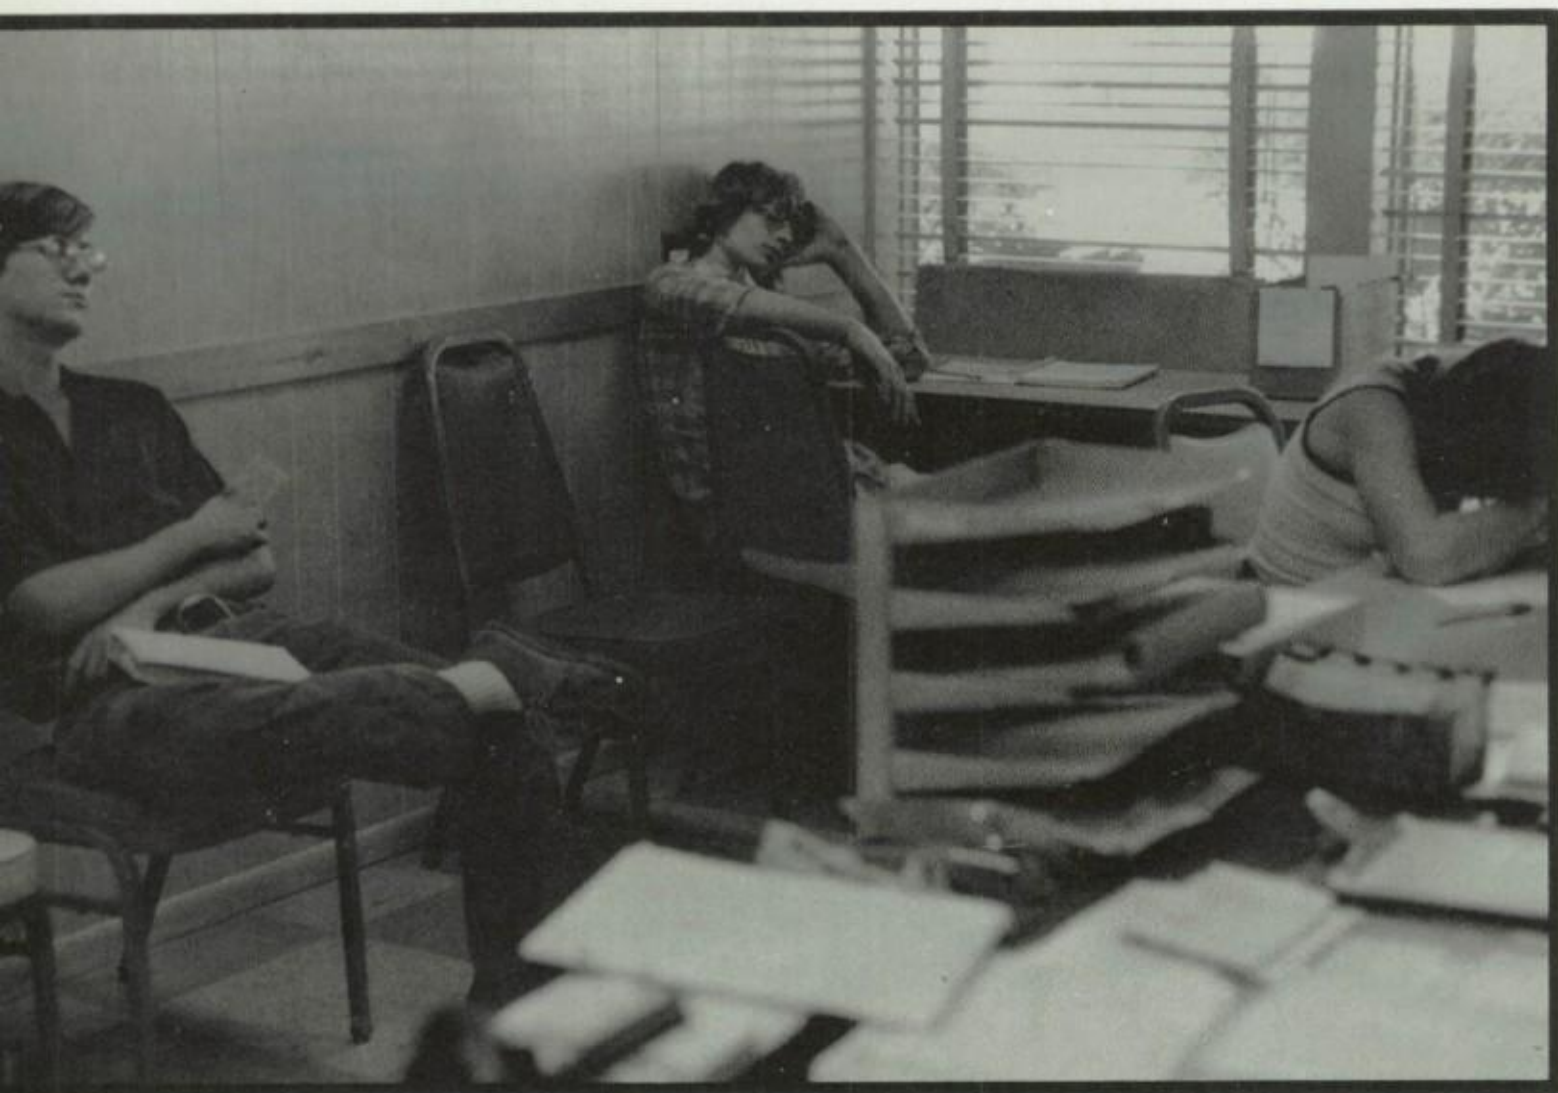

Kirk Murphy

we have time enough to compete with others,
to quietly contemplate the world around us,
and to remember those who helped build it . . .

yet, from all of our pursuits,
we need to rest at times,
and reflect on the fact that our choices,
bound together and hardened by time,
will one day be someone else's heritage
as we . . .
